HITLER ADOPTS NEW POLICY TO EXPAND EMPIRE

Peaceful Thrusts in Europe Planned.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 10.—A new policy of expansion by means of peaceful penetration instead of spectacular raids like the one on Austria will be used by Germany hereafter.

This information was disclosed today by a source which had been in close touch with Reichsfuehrer Hitler's party during his state visit to Italy. The new orientation of German efforts already has been given an unofficial name among Hitler's close followers. It is called the "English policy." It is said to be the fruit of Hitler's personal study of the British success in using peaceful penetration. Hitler was most forcibly struck by the two examples of Egypt and Iraq.

No Drastic Changes in Map.

Application of the policy will not lessen German efforts to secure autonomy for the 3,250,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia, who take their name from the Sudetic mountains, nor will it lessen attempts to help crumble Czechoslovakia from inside pressure.

The idea substantially is that Germany will leave the Danubian and Baltic states practically as they are and not attempt any drastic changes in the map of Europe.

Those states, however, will more and more become satellites of Berlin through close economic bonds and military agreements until Germany will be at the head of a formidable European coalition.

Fails to Win Alliance.

The decision to follow this new line was taken in Rome after Hitler perceived that his visit was not going to result in any hard and fast alliance with Italy and unquestioning Italian support for all of his projects. The new policy was the alternative which he had been considering for some time and was ready to carry out if the Rome visit failed to yield results satisfactory to him.

Neither Hitler nor Premier Mussolini is ready to abandon the Rome-Berlin axis. Hitler found it of immense service in the annexation of Austria. He probably would find it useful again, for instance in a plan to annex the Sudeten German fringe of Czechoslovakia, a proceeding which he does not believe contradicts the idea of peaceful penetration.

Regarding Czechoslovakia Hitler, reliable sources said, received the assurance that Mussolini would give him "diplomatic support." It is reported he did not receive the promise he desired — that Italy would stand squarely behind him in any action he might choose to take including the forcible invasion of Czechoslovakia and the overthrow of the Prague government.

Hitler Gets Italian Hints.

The most tangible result of the conversations between the Nazi and Fascist dictators seems to have been the delimitation of their respective spheres of action. Hitler received some plain hints that Italy regards the Adriatic and all the southern Balkans as the region she intends to dominate.

The plainest of those hints was the conspicuous place given the Jugo-Slavian naval mission at the naval review in the Bay of Naples. In other ways, Mussolini made it clear that he plans to have closer and more friendly coöperation with his nearest Balkan neighbor.

German efforts, therefore, will have to be concentrated on the Danube basin, meaning, for the near future, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Call Duce Master Statesman.

The general opinion among foreign diplomats in Rome is that Mussolini showed himself a master statesman in dealing with Hitler, taking full advantage of the situation that Hitler was asking for something which it was in his power to give or refuse.

Actually he sacrificed nothing. He retains the British-Italian agreement and the possibility of coming to some similar agreement with France. At the same time he evidently dazed Hitler with an exhibition of military power far greater than anything Hitler had ever suspected.

The Fuehrer hid his emotions fairly well, but members of the German party barely concealed their irritation that Italy should be so reluctant to follow Germany blindly and at the same time reveal herself as a

China Demands Arms from Powers

CHARGES BAN ON SUPPLIES AIDS JAP AGGRESSION

Says League Nations Violate Pledges.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 10.—Cleverly choosing the very moment when France and Great Britain are soliciting preferential treatment from the American government in obtaining war supplies, Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate, today denounced the European powers before the league of nations council for trying to hamstring China's defense.

Not only have the big powers failed to contribute any effective aid against Japanese aggression, Koo declared, but certain of them also have violated the pledge taken in Geneva last October to refrain from any action which might weaken China's power of resistance.

Blames Britain and France.

"China in the last few months has had to cope with unexpected difficulties in obtaining supplies of arms and war materials as well as facilities for transit," Koo said.

Though Koo did not name Great Britain and France, a Chinese spokesman later said these were the powers which were causing the difficulty. France particularly, he said, is hampering the transit of arms across the Indo-Chinese frontier because of fear of Japanese reprisals.

Great Britain, he said, while still allowing arms purchased abroad to enter China through Hongkong, refuses to sell the Chinese war supplies on the grounds that it has none to spare. Britain also failed to fulfill an agreement to complete a new highway to the Chinese frontier through Burma so that arms can be received by this route, he said.

Nazis Do a Rushing Business.

At the same time, the Chinese remarked with bitterness, Great Britain has negotiated a private accord with Japan over Chinese customs.

Ironically, it was learned that while Britain and France are trying to keep arms from reaching China in the interests of diplomatic "realism," Japan's spiritual ally, Nazi Germany, is doing an increasingly profitable business selling arms to the Chinese.

Koo, in his speech, took pains to mention that one league power is helping China. That power, of course, is soviet Russia. This allusion made an unpleasant impression on the British and French, who are beginning to fear that China will win the war, after all, and that Russia will reap the rewards of a faithful ally while their own influence in the orient will fall to zero.

Hits Wave of Realism.

Heartened by the recent Chinese successes, which he said had shattered the myth of Japanese invincibility, Koo spoke with a vigor and self-assurance that few victims of aggression ever have dared manifest in Geneva.

Speaking just after an attempt by Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, to defend the recently concluded Italian-British accord, Koo said:

"Just now a wave of so-called realism is sweeping over the west and the emphasis is placed on facts instead of principles."

League observers believe China has some chance of obtaining credit and better facilities for arms out of this session of the council. Halifax, in his determination to sacrifice Spain and Ethiopia so as to cement the new friendship with Italy, is encountering so much criticism that it may be necessary to water the new "realism" a little as far as China is concerned. In his speech today Halifax said the British-Italian accord was a contribution to peace.

Selassie on Way to Geneva.

To add to the British troubles, former Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia is on his way to Geneva to give more unwelcome publicity to the Ethiopian affair. Selassie left London tonight to plead in person his forlorn cause against the British and French determination to wipe his ancient empire off the map of Africa.

The council today postponed action on the question of recognizing Italy's conquest of Ethiopia at least until tomorrow.

Start Arrests Today in Auto Safety Tests

BY HAL FOUST.

Police today will arrest the drivers of about 100 automobiles whose windshields lack Chicago safety inspection stickers. Approximately 210,000 passenger cars and trucks out of the estimated 560,000 in the city, lack an o. k. from the city's testing stations, according to Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle commissioner.

"We will make just enough arrests daily to keep the testing appartus working to capacity," Gorman said yesterday in announcing an enforcement drive. "The police squads assigned to my office will issue tickets in the vicinity of any testing lane where patronage is slack.

$2 Fine in Cafeteria Court.

"Summonses are to be made returnable to the Cafeteria court. The fine is $2. Rather than pay the fine, a defendant may have a court hearing. Last year, judges discharged defendants who showed that their cars had been tested and approved after they received their tickets."

The windshield sticker now required for all vehicles registered in Chicago is a blue and yellow label reading "2d period 1937." The council recently changed the dates for the semi-annual inspections, validating this label until July 1, 1938.

Stations Are Listed.

Inspection stations at the following four locations will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.: 3638 Harrison street, 1802 North Humboldt boulevard, 20 North Carpenter street, and 6934 Cottage Grove avenue.

At the following two locations the inspections are conducted between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.: 1805 North Mohawk street and 2840 Calumet avenue. Trucks as well as passenger cars are tested at all except the Mohawk address.

Bikes Go to Eskimos Who Found Body of Will Rogers

Seattle, Wash., May 10.—(AP)—Strange cargo—two bicycles—arrived here today for bleak Point Barrow on Alaska's arctic rim. They were sent by Mrs. Mae Post of Rawls, Tex., as the reward requested by two Eskimos who found the bodies of Will Rogers and her husband, Wiley Post, after an airplane accident.

A NOISE IN THE MORN DISTURBS MR. HALL; POLICE SILENCE IT

Louis W. Hall, a hydraulic engineer, was napping early yesterday when suddenly there came a tapping just outside his chamber door at 1628 Ridge avenue, Evanston. The tapping was annoyingly persistent. Hall uttered an exclamation and phoned the police. Patrolmen Robert Allen and Lowell Peterson investigated and found nothing.

An hour later Mr. Hall called again, much angrier than before. Allen and Peterson approached more cautiously this time and they, too, heard the noise. It sounded like a miniature riveter. In the beam of Allen's flashlight they discovered a red headed woodpecker.

"Shoo!" said the policemen.

"Thanks," said Hall.

SALESMAN SHOT TO DEATH AS HE NEARS HIS HOME

Victim of a mysterious shooting, Abraham S. Siplester, 65 years old, was found dead early today a few doors from his home at 3318 Monroe street.

Mrs. James McKenna, who lives at 3314 Monroe street, was awakened by the shattering of glass. Looking out, she saw a man prone on the sidewalk and called police. They found Siplester lying beside the broken pieces of a green cake platter and took him to the Garfield Park Community hospital, where it was found he was dead, supposedly from a hemorrhage.

The body was removed to an undertaking establishment at 3606 Roosevelt road. There is was discovered Siplester had been shot in the chest. He had not been robbed, however, as he had $5.20 in his pocket. He was a salesman for the Commonwealth Edison company.

Siplester had attended an aid society meeting at the Workmen's Circle lyceum, 3202 Ogden avenue, where it was believed he had obtained the plate as a prize. Police expressed the opinion that he was shot when he attempted to resist a holdup, and that the crashing of the plate frightened the robbers away without taking his money. Siplester's son, Samuel Siplester, is an attorney.

22 Back Seat Drivers Yell, but the Bus Crashes

Oakland, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—Twenty-two back seat drivers shouted a warning to Bus Driver Wendell Faubion today just as he won a battle with a wasp. But it was too late. The bus struck a light pole.

12,000 Checks Catch Up with Former G-Man

Walter H. Wood, plumbing equipment executive, thought he had devised a pretty good scheme a year ago to keep ahead of his creditors.

His method as he outlined it to Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin yesterday was simply to keep cashing checks on his depleted account so he could get funds to cover previous checks he had cashed. The success of the plan hinged on the fact it takes about forty-eight hours for a check to be cleared and he had this time to cash new checks and place the funds in his account.

Cashes 1,000 Checks a Month.

So well did his plan work, he explained, that after cashing only a few checks each day he enlarged his efforts until for several months he cashed more than 1,000 checks a month for as much as $5,000 a day. He estimated he had cashed at least 12,000 checks in the last year.

Wood, 55 years old, a tall, dignified man with horn spectacles, is president of the Modern Equipment company at 2033 Charleston street. From 1921 to 1928 he headed the bankruptcy division of the federal department of justice in Chicago.

His financial troubles, Wood said, began about three years ago after he had suffered a $12,000 fire loss. At that time, he admitted, he often overdrew his checking account, but always had managed to secure funds before the checks were cleared.

Paper Manipulations Collapse.

As his difficulties increased, he told Prosecutor Austin, he then conceived the idea of writing the steady stream of checks, cashing them himself or making them payable to his friends and having them cashed for him.

His paper manipulations collapsed last April 27, however, when operators of a northwest side currency exchange, instead of clearing one of his checks in the usual manner, sent it to a bank to be certified. The shortage in Wood's account was disclosed.

Wood's chain check account was stopped. Checks he had cashed for two days came bouncing back with a loss of $8,200 to the various currency exchanges and stores that had cashed them and yesterday Austin ordered Wood arrested on charges of confidence game. He will be arraigned today in the Felony court.

Wood, who is married, lives at 5108 Berteau avenue.

No. 137 Is Put on Probation in Dunne's Court

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, who was criticized on Monday by State's Attorney Courtney for granting probation to Charles J. Schmidt Jr., a convicted slayer, yesterday placed on probation the 137th defendant appearing before him in the last eighteen months.

The beneficiary of this sentence was a former public official who pleaded guilty of embezzling public funds. He is Joseph J. Kozak, village clerk of Niles for five years ending May 1, 1937.

Audits Show $1,300 Shortage.

Audits of Kozak's accounts showed he had dipped into the village till for a total of $1,300. At his trial the state proved theft of $700. Judge Dunne, however, fixed the amount of the embezzlement at $199. Embezzlement of $200 or more does not permit probation for a defendant.

Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds protested to Judge Dunne in court against the probation sentence for Kozak, and later First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley declared:

"The state's attorney never will agree to probation for any public official who is convicted of embezzlement or stealing public funds. Responsibility for any criticism arising from this case must rest on the judge."

Judge Makes No Comment.

Judge Dunne made no comment on the Kozak sentence. A probation case is not closed until the expiration of the probationary period. At any time during that period a judge, at his own discretion, may revoke the probation and sentence the defendant according to the statutes.

Two audits of Kozak's accounts were made after he left office. They disclosed that he issued receipts for payments of water bills and vehicle licenses, but failed to record the payments in the village books.

At Kozak's trial Prosecutor Leeds called thirty-five witnesses. They told of making payments on water bills ranging from $1.75 to $335 and showed their receipts from Kozak. Village records then were produced to show that no entries were made for these payments, nor for the $3 fees which Kozak collected on each of sixty-six vehicle licenses.

Fixes Embezzlement at $199.

After the state had proved an embezzlement of $700, Kozak pleaded guilty. His attorney entered a motion for probation. Judge Dunne, over the protest of Prosecutor Leeds, then fixed the amount of the embezzlement at $199.

Prosecutor Leeds objected to that action and to the motion for probation. Judge Dunne thereupon placed Kozak on probation for two years and ordered him to pay back the stolen funds.

Judge Dunne keeps his own records on his probation cases. The records show where each defendant lives,

REP. HOFFMAN SAYS INSIDER TIPS OFF C. I. O.

Points to Cases of Leaks on Rulings.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—Evidence was offered on the floor of the house today in support of a charge that the C. I. O. of John L. Lewis has an undercover man on the National Labor Relations board who supplies the C. I. O. with advance information on the board's decisions.

Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] made the charge and introduced a photostatic copy of the United Automobile Worker, official publication of the Committee for Industrial Organization, to prove it.

The copy of the paper was dated April 9, 1938. A headline read: "Labor Board Orders Douglas to Reinstate 45 Sitdown Strikers." The story beneath said that Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., had been found guilty of unfair labor practices prior to, during, and after the sitdown strike of February, 1937, and that the labor board had ordered the company to reinstate 45 men and pay them for time lost because of unemployment since the strike.

Ruling Filed 11 Days Later.

"The decision was not actually filed until April 20," Hoffman told the house. "That was eleven days later. It went to the public printer on April 29, and as late as this morning was not available to the public.

"This evidence, which cannot be refuted, shows that C. I. O. representatives are on the inside, have knowledge of, and are permitted to obtain information which discloses in advance of their rendition decisions to be made by the board itself."

Hoffman pointed out the benefits obtained by the C. I. O. from this advance information. He quoted from the publication, which said that news of the decision had an immediate effect.

"Members who had fallen behind in their dues trooped in and others who had been out of the local entirely inquired as to how they could regain membership," the United Automobile Worker gloated.

Another Instance Offered.

Another instance of advance information being supplied to the C. I. O. was cited by the Michigan representative. The People's Press of Detroit, in its Dec. 11, 1937, edition, carried a story of the decision in the Bradford Mills, R. I., case, he said. The decision was not announced officially in Washington until eleven days later, on Dec. 22.

"These two incidents show that, from some source within the NLRB itself, the C. I. O. is enabled to obtain advance information of decisions made later by the board," Hoffman declared.

He noted that the board has been asked in judicial proceedings whether C. I. O. representatives have taken part in the preparation of opinions.

"So far the board, in these judicial proceedings, has failed to make answer to this very pertinent and far-reaching question," Hoffman remarked.

Demands Congress Inquiry.

Citing thirty other charges which have been made concerning the "biased and unfair" enforcement of the labor act, Hoffman introduced a resolution calling for a congressional inquiry into the board's actions.

"These C. I. O. publications," he remarked, "would not have been able to print an accurate analysis of the decision, giving many of its terms, unless there was in the NLRB organization some educated person who assisted in the drafting of the opinion and disclosed in advance of its rendition the contents of that opinion.

"By what legerdemain is a C. I. O. publication enabled to print, eleven days before it is made, the salient points of the decision in a controversy between one of its affiliates and Douglas Aircraft company?

Charges Defense Interference.

"Douglas Aircraft company, at the time of the sitdown strike in February, 1937, was engaged in the manufacture of planes for the armed forces of the United States. There was a sitdown strike which threatened the destruction of these planes and the materials gathered for their construction.

"Those who caused and took part in the strike were directly interfering with the preparations of the army for national defense. They were impairing the country's efficiency to meet and defeat its enemies in time of war.

"They made a complaint against Douglas Aircraft company to the NLRB, a governmental agency. It was the duty of the NLRB to conduct a full and fair hearing, to render a decision that would do justice between the parties, and to protect the government which created it.

Finds Strikers Strengthened.

"What happened? Eleven days before the board rendered its decision in this important case, where the defendant company was engaged in making planes for the protection of the government, some one on the inside, who had access to the files, who had the confidence of those charged with making this decision, furnished confidential information as to the NLRB's decision to an organization affiliated with those who, by the sitdown strike, were hamstringing the government's defense plans.

"This advance information strengthened the sitdown strikers and enabled them to add new men to their membership, to increase their war chest, and to more successfully fight the government which created the NLRB."

Tells Reinstatement of Alien.

Representative C. Arthur Anderson [D., Mo.], called the attention of the house to the fact that one of the Douglas company strikers who was ordered reinstated with back pay by the labor board was Jack [Red] Ortman, an alien.

"This man was one of the ringleaders in the unlawful seizure of the Douglas plant," Anderson said. "The official transcript of this case is full of references to him as one of those who broke down the barricade protecting the hangar and the experimental army bomber.

"He was also identified as the man who was leader of the group which placed pans of highly inflammable lacquer thinner around the army bomber and made ready with a welding outfit to set it and the entire Douglas factory afire.

"The law specifically provides that no alien can be employed in the construction of military aircraft. Yet, after Ortman had been disclosed as an alien, the board ordered him reinstated. The board defied the law, disregarded the evidence in this order."

Lists Additional Charges.

Some of the charges mentioned by Hoffman in his resolution for an investigation were the following:

1. The NLRB has lent assistance to the membership drives of the C. I. O. by failing to call elections to determine the bargaining agents of the workers when requested by an A. F. of L. organization or by independent unions.

2. It has, according to union representatives of 200,000 steel workers, acted as an enlistment and dues collecting agency, forcing workers to join the board's favored union.

3. It has endeavored to avoid a judicial public exposure of its actions by petitioning the Circuit Court of Appeals for leave to withdraw its petition for an order to enforce the findings which it made against the Ford Motor company, Republic Steel corporation, Inland Steel company, H. J. Heinz company, and others.

4. It has also, by this action, sought to avoid questions put by the Ford Motor company as to whether the NLRB, before rendering its decision, had consulted with John L. Lewis, chairman of the C. I. O.; Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W. A.; or Thomas Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, legal advisers to the President.

The investigating committee proposed by Hoffman would determine whether these charges are true and whether the Wagner act should be amended and report back to congress.

U. S. COURT VOIDS NLRB'S ORDER IN CLEVELAND CASE

Covington, Ky., May 10.—(AP)—The sixth United States Circuit Court of Appeals denied the national labor relations board today an enforcement order against the Thompson Products company of Cleveland, O., and declared the board's finding in the case tended to promote discord between employer and employé.

Judge Elwood Hamilton of Louisville wrote that the finding was not sustained by substantial evidence and that the motor accessory firm would have been justified in discharging three men had there been no effort to organize employés in a union. The board last August directed the company to reinstate three employés and cease purported opposition to the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate.

C. I. O. STRIKERS LOSE APPEAL IN FANSTEEL CASE

Court Holds Law Doesn't License Violence.

The Illinois Appellate court at Ottawa, in a sweeping decision yesterday, held that an employer's objection to bargaining under the Wagner labor law with his workers does not justify a sitdown strike and accompanying violence. The court affirmed jail sentences and fines imposed on thirty-nine men who refused to evacuate the plant of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago in February, 1937, in defiance of an order of the Lake County Circuit court.

The defendants, including two organizers for the Committee for Industrial Organization and 53 other workers, held the plant for nine days until Feb. 26, 1937, when they were driven out by a tear gas attack launched by Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle and a force of deputies. The jail terms and fines were imposed on June 8, 1937, by City Judge Theodore Forby of Zion, sitting in the Circuit court at Waukegan.

Three Judges Concur.

The opinion yesterday was written by Judge Franklin R. Dove of Shelbyville and concurred in by Judge Blaine Huffman of Lawrenceville and Judge Fred G. Wolfe of Quincy, members of the Second district of the Appellate court. The defendants have ten days in which to ask for a rehearing and, if they fail in that, may ask leave to appeal to the state Supreme court.

A petition for a rehearing automatically will stay the mandate of the court for the jailing of the defendants. Twenty-four of them, who were sentenced to ten days in jail, already have served these terms but appealed from $100 fines. They and the fifteen others who received heavier punishments are at liberty on bond.

The Appellate court opinion dealt particularly with two of the defendants, Meyer Adelman, one time chief district commissar for John L. Lewis' C. I. O. affiliate, the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, and Oakley Mills, Adelman's assistant. They were blamed for fomenting the strike and encouraging the Fansteel employés to resist law enforcement officers.

Cites Writ to Oust Men.

The opinion relates that on Feb. 18, 1937, the Fansteel company filed suit in the Lake county Circuit court against Lodge 66 of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers of America, the S. W. O. C., and some of the employés holding the factory. A preliminary injunction that included an order to evacuate the buildings was entered after a finding that the seizure of the property was illegal.

Sherif Doolittle went to the plant to serve the writ but was denied admission. He read the writ, however, and passed eighty copies into the buildings. The workers refused to leave and the court ordered their arrest. Missiles and acid were thrown at the sherif and his deputies before the plant was finally cleared by the tear gas barrage.

"It is first insisted by counsel for appellates," the decision read, "that the evidence discloses this sitdown strike arose because of the refusal of appellee [the Fansteel corporation] to bargain collectively with the representatives of its employés, that by so doing appellee violated the express provisions of the National Labor Relations act. . . .

Cites Jurisdiction Claim.

"Appellants argue that the labor relations act, designated as the Wagner act, is a complete code covering all the relations of employer and employé, that in enacting it congress considered all phases of the relations between employer and employé, that no state court can have any jurisdiction of any subject matter arising thereunder and the Lake county Circuit court was wholly without jurisdiction. . . .

"The law was enacted in the hope that it would reduce industrial conflicts, but no power to preserve order or prevent violence incident to labor disputes is conferred upon the board nor is there anything in the act which could be construed to mean that congress intended to interfere with the states in providing police protection to their citizens or their property. To give the act the construction contended for by appellants would very likely render the act itself invalid.

Doesn't Justify Violence.

"Because an employer refuses to bargain with his employés collectively cannot justify those employés in their conduct of a strike in seizing the factory of their employer and without authority of any kind evict their foreman, barricade the doors, deny the rightful owner admission to his own property, and defy those whom they know to be officers charged by law to carry out the orders and decrees of a court.

"There is nothing in the Wagner act which deals with the subject of violence or any illegal acts committed by employés in the course of an industrial dispute, and in our opinion congress did not, by this enactment, deprive or attempt to deprive the states of their police power to protect property rights or punish illegal acts committed in the course of labor disputes."

Organizers Knew of Order.

The opinion then points out that Adelman and Mills, the organizers, were familiar with the terms of the injunction, yet supplied the sit-down strikers with food and encouraged them to hold out.

"No one can read the record," the opinion continues, "without coming to the conclusion that Adelman and Mills affirmatively and effectively and materially aided and abetted in the continued violation of the preliminary injunction which they knew had been issued."

The heaviest punishments were inflicted on Adelman and Mills. Adelman got a $1,000 fine and 240 days in jail. Mills was fined $500 and sentenced to 180 days.

Informed of the decision in Milwaukee yesterday, Adelman said: "It's a surprise to me. But I'm too busy organizing to go to jail. We'll appeal."

Leaders Get Six Months.

Two strike captains in the Fansteel plants, Charles Warner and Carl Swanson, are under sentence of 180 days in jail each and $300 fines.

Eleven strikers were fined $150 and sentenced to 120 days each.

Last September Tilford E. Dudley, trial examiner for the national labor Relations board, handed down a ruling blaming the corporation for the seizure of its plant and ordering company officials to reinstate 83 dismissed employés, 59 of whom took part in the strike, and pay $70,000 in back wages to 67 of them. This ruling is being appealed by the company and a hearing will be held next Monday before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

PRINTER FREED OF LIBEL CHARGE IN UNUSUAL CASE

Pamphlets Hit Jews and Their Religion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Robert Edward Edmondson, publisher of vitriolic anti-Jewish literature, was free to return to his printing presses tonight after Judge James G. Wallace, in General Sessions court, dismissed three indictments charging him with libel. Thus ended a strange case, which has bobbed back and forth in the New York courts for many months.

Edmondson was charged specifically with criminally libeling Dean Virginia Gildersleeve of Barnard college and Frances Perkins, secretary of labor. A third count accused him of libeling the Jewish religion. It was this count which created widespread legal interest in the case and which indirectly was responsible for the many delays encountered before Judge Wallace's decision today.

La Guardia Opens Fight.

There had been eight continuances or postponements for various reasons.

The indictments were returned nearly two years ago against Edmondson, who calls himself "an unsubsidized investment-economist-publicist." Grand jury action was instigated by Mayor F. H. La Guardia as chief magistrate. Mayor La Guardia issued a summons charging criminal libel against Edmondson, who had published 117 anti-Semitic leaflets [1 cent to 5 cents each]. In these, Edmondson charged, among other things, that Jewish leaders were "plotting to overthrow the governments of the world and set up a universal Jewish government."

Mayor La Guardia held that the language of the leaflets was strong enough to incite public disorder. As preparations were being made to press the mayor's charges, Edmonson lashed back at him as being "a radical Jew." After the indictments were returned the mayor stepped out of the case.

Law Never Tested.

The indictments were returned under section 1340 of article 126 of the penal code. This section appeared to permit indictment on the unusual charge of criminal and malicious libel of a religion.

It was doubt on this part of the indictment—never tested in the state's courts—together with the urging of Jewish and other groups that moved Judge Wallace to free Edmonson today.

Three weeks ago five groups presented memoranda to Judge Wallace asking the dismissal as friends of the court. They condemned the Edmonson circulars as "utterly without foundation in fact," and declared their "abhorrence of the instigator [Edmonson] as an enemy of the basic American traditions of religious liberty and tolerance." They pointed out, however, that "it is doubtful if a conviction would be in the public interest because efforts would be made to have it appear the defendant was a 'martyr' to the great cause of civil rights."

Issue of Free Speech.

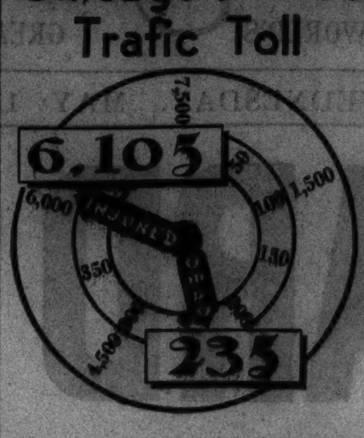
"The issue of freedom of speech and of the press would be raised and public sympathy might be aroused in the defendant's favor," they held.

In his decision today Judge Wallace, concurring in this reasoning, said: "It is wiser to bear with this sort of scandal mongering rather than to extend criminal law so that in the future it might become an instrument of oppression. We must suffer the demagog and the charlatan in order to make certain that we do not limit or restrain the honest commentator on public affairs."

In another part of his decision Judge Wallace said:

"It is of the utmost importance that there be freedom of discussion and of criticism in religious and public affairs. The most effective restraint upon the abuse of that freedom is in the good taste of the participants, or if that fails, as it often does, in the knowledge that defamatory and abusive attacks are self-defeating."

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

BOY, 13, KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE IN ARCHER AVE.

Walter Ciesla, 13 years old, of 4501 South Whipple street, died in St. Anthony's hospital last night after being struck in front of 4182 Archer avenue by a car driven by Edward Walski, of 4545 South Christiana avenue.

After eight months in an iron lung respirator as an infantile paralysis patient, Arline McFarland, 10 years old, recently left the hospital and began learning again how to walk. Yesterday she was back in a hospital at Princeton, Ill., with a broken hip and shoulder. Arline and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McFarland of Chicago, were inpured Monday when their automobile ran off state route 89 near Ohio, Bureau county, and overturned.

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Peter Willis, 38 years old, of 2954 North Ashland avenue, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. Three witnesses testified that Willis was speeding April 24 when his car fatally injured Herman Rosenbach of 1314 Devon avenue at Clark street and Granville avenue.

Morris Zuckerman, 65 years old, of 4930 North Monticello avenue, was reported in an Associated Press dispatch to have been killed yesterday in a motor collision on a mountain road near Pittsburgh.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 301 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 235 were killed in Chicago, where 6,105 were injured in the same peroid.

Park Engineers at Work on 1-Way Boulevard Plans

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, yesterday said his engineers still had two or three more days' work to do in preparing plans for a pair of one way trafic boulevards between Grant park and the western city limits. The plans are to be presented to the city council.

NO. 137 PLACED ON PROBATION IN DUNNE'S COURT

where he is employed, and information on his conduct. Once a month he is required to report to Judge Dunne in person. Then the judge discusses any problems the probationer may have and offers him advice.

Probation of Three Revoked.

Of the 137 defendants granted leniency by Judge Dunne, he has revoked the probation of three and sentenced them to the usual penalties for their crimes. He has ordered the arrest of three others who have failed to report regularly.

On Monday State's Attorney Courtney vigorously criticized Judge Dunne for granting probation to C. J. Schmidt Jr., 19 years old, who was convicted of manslaughter by a jury. Young Schmidt, with two boy companions, ambushed his father's business partner, Edward C. Richard, and struck him, causing injuries which resulted in his death.

ASLEEP IN AUTO; GETS PROBATION AS DRUNK DRIVER

On April 12 police found Joseph Connelly, 830 Wolfram street, sound asleep and intoxicated in his automobile which was double parked at Fullerton parkway and Clark street. Because the car was not moving, Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Safety court yesterday placed Connelly on six months' probation for driving while intoxicated.

Edwin S. Young, 3918 Arthington street, was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell for reckless driving. Four motorists were fined on the same charge. They are Ervin Levand, 2437 Moffat street; James Burke of Rockford, and Joseph Marjewski, 4952 South Loomis street, $100 each, and John Miller, 3303 South Halsted street, $10.

20 AMBULANCES TO BE OPERATED BY SAFETY UNITS

A plan to place twenty emergency ambulances in operation in Chicago in August was announced yesterday by a joint committee representing the public safety committee of the Chicago Medical society, the Greater Chicago Safety council and the police committee of the Chicago Crime commission. According to J. B. Burlingame, spokesman for the group, the plan is to place completely equipped ambulances, manned by physicians, in fire stations for accident calls.

DONALD HORST, CHILD IN KIDNAP WRANGLE, DIES

Operation Fails to Save Boy of Three.

Funeral services were being arranged last night for Donald Horst, 3 years old, who was the central figure last summer in a quickly solved kidnaping mystery. The boy died late Monday night in the Lutheran Memorial hospital following an operation for appendicitis.

Donald was playing in the yard of the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst of 6189 McClellan avenue, when he was seized and carried away on Aug. 2. Soon afterward the Horsts received a demand for $5,000 ransom.

Abducted by Real Mother.

Suspicion was directed at the boy's real mother, Mrs. Lydia Nelson Lavin, whose last address was 4539 Congress street, and his father, John Regan. The couple, who had never been married, admitted that they had taken Donald, but denied demanding ransom. Mrs. Nelson explained that she only wanted to get possession of the boy, whom she had not seen since his birth.

During the investigation it was learned that the birth certificate for Donald showed that Mrs. Horst was the real mother. This discrepancy was removed by Dr. John A. Rose, 900 South Western avenue. He said that the Horsts were very anxious to have a child and that Mrs. Lavin wanted the boy to have a good home. The physician admitted he had falsified the birth certificate, but defended his action on the ground that it was for the best interest of the child. He was fined $25 for the falsification.

Foster Parents Get Him Back.

Mrs. Lavin and Regan joined the Horsts in a petition to have Donald adopted by the foster parents and Judge Jarecki on Sept. 1 signed the decree of adoption. The natural parents, after thinking it over, agreed that the lad's future would be safer in the hands of Horst, a prosperous hotel owner.

The Horsts have been living recently at 6717 Loleta avenue, and there had been no further attempts at molesting Donald. He was taken to the hospital, it was reported, on May 5.

FRAUD WARANTS WILL BE SOUGHT AGAINST LAWYER

Prosecutors will go to the Felony court today to request that warants charging embezzlement and operation of a confidence game be issued against Attorney Julian Shapiro, 29 years old, 5822 Winthrop avenue, who is alleged to have swindled clients out of $50,000 after they engaged him to fight for the lowering of their taxes.

Shapiro has been in the custody of the state's attorney's office since Monday. Assistant State's Attorney John Phillips said that one of the attorney's victims was his own father, Jacob Shapiro, of 3800 Lake Shore drive. Another, it was said, is Attorney Michael F. Cure. Each is said to have lost more than $20,000. Phillips said that Shapiro took the money and gave them fraudulent tax receipts.

Rcently Attorney Shapiro was fined $100 and costs in the Racine avenue court for blackening the eye of Miss Katherine Canalle, 3822 Sheridan road, a nurse who was employed in his home.

AUTO UNION ACTS TO PUT DOWN C.I.O. WILDCAT STRIKES

Detroit, Mich., May 10.—[Special.]—Officials of the United Automobile Workers of America took action today to curb the numerous wildcat strikes which have heaped criticism on the C. I. O.

The international executive board of the U. A. W. A., in session here, took over the power previously exercised by local unions to punish those responsible for unauthorized strikes.

Homer Martin, international president of the union, said the board would investigate three recent strikes and that suspension or expulsion of U. A. W. A. leaders involved in them might result. The strikes were at the Chevrolet small parts plant at Bay City, Mich., the Packard Motor Car company here, and the eight Detroit plants of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation.

INLAND STEEL'S FIGHT TO FORCE APPEAL OPENS

The Inland Steel company launched its fight yesterday to block the National Labor Relation board's attempt to vacate its order of April 5, which directed the company to sign contracts with the Committee for Industrial Organization as sole bargaining agent for employés. The NLRB sought to set aside its order, which the steel company had appealed, after the United States Supreme court reversed the finding in a similar case.

Attorneys for the steel company yesterday filed an answer with the NLRB asking that the board show by what legal right it attempts to vacate its order. The answer charges that if the board has the right to set aside the order it has no right to hold any further proceedings in the case, as it announced it would.

BYRD ASSAILS MINTON'S BILL TO CURB PRESS

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] told a newspaper men's conference today that no one but Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.] would vote for the Indianan's bill to penalize the press for misstatements of fact.

Byrd criticized the Minton proposal in addressing Maryland and Virginia managing editors and publishers of newspapers holding membership in the Associated Press.

Indications are that the bill will not be brought to a vote.

BABY IS HOLDING HER OWN AFTER REMOVAL OF EYE

Case Is Studied in Effort to Save Sight.

More than thirty-six hours after surgeons had removed her left eye in the hope of saving her life, tiny Helaine Judith Colan slept peacefully last night in her crib in the Garfield Park Community hospital, apparently holding her own. The crisis, which will determine whether the operation succeeded or failed, will last several days.

Meanwhile, Representative Robert M. Woodward [29th] drafted a bill to require examination of the eyes of all newborn babies for glioma of the retina, the cancerous growth from which Helaine is suffering. He said the bill, to be introduced before the legislature, embodies the recommendation of the medical council of ten which decided upon the operation for Helaine.

The baby's eye was removed to stay the advance of the glioma, which threatened to take her life by penetrating the brain cavity by way of the optic nerve. The eye and a segment of the nerve are being examined by Dr. E. V. L. Brown of the Albert Merritt Billings hospital.

Jury Will Get Report.

His findings, upon which will be based the treatment specialists hope will save the sight of the remaining eye, will be reported to the jury of physicians and surgeons whose decision was responsible for the operation.

Helaine's grief stricken parents, Dr. and Mrs. Herman Colan, 529 Brompton place, unable to decide whether to allow the cancerous growth to kill the child, thus saving her from a possible life of blindness, or to order an operation, had placed the baby's fate in the hands of ten eminent Chicago medical men. Their decision was swift—for surgery

Awakens in Good Condition.

Helaine awakened yesterday morning in good condition and seemed happy and normal.

Her mother, Mrs. Estelle Colan, 23 years old, who visited the hospital Monday afternoon a few hours after the operation, did not appear yesterday. She was in seclusion at the home of friends.

Helaine's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hershman, visited her in the hospital last night with their sons, Seymour and Victor. They found the baby resting comfortably.

Meanwhile at the Billings hospital Dr. Brown revealed that four other glioma cases have developed in Chicago in recent days. In some of these cases, at least, eyes have been removed and are being studied.

GETS YEAR FOR THEFT.

Edward Carlyle of Miami, Fla., charged with the theft of $900 in jewelry from the flat of Frederick Olsen at 6209 Dorchester avenue, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge John J. Rooney.

Pilot Who'll Land on Postoffice Flies Giro to Chicago in Day

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

John M. Miller, chief test pilot for the Kellett Autogiro corporation, who is to open National Air Mail week in Chicago next Sunday by landing his wingless rotorplane on the roof of the postoffice, arrived at Chicago airport last evening from the first one day flight in an autogiro between Philadelphia and Chicago. The trip was completed in 8 hours and 19 minutes, flying time, against headwinds which reached thirty miles an hour at times.

John M. Miller.

Today Miller and Ora Young, acting bureau of air commerce supervisor for this district, are to inspect the postoffice roof and plan for the laying of steel plates over the portion of the roof where the airplane is to land and take off. The flight between Chicago airport and the postoffice is to be a demonstration of the feasibility of autogiros in speedy transmission of mail from the loop to the flying field.

"Target" Calls for Skill.

Pilot Miller already has made a preliminary inspection—he visited the postoffice building during the International Air Show last February—but today he will prepare the target which he must not miss in the test on Sunday. His landing then will be fourteen stories above the street and on a roof which is surrounded by a nine foot parapet, conditions which will call for the utmost in skill from the pilot.

The journey yesterday was begun at 5:10 a. m., Chicago daylight time, when he rolled his ship out of the Kellett company hangars on Philadelphia airport. Unable to fill his gas tanks at that field, he started for Kylertown, Pa., but made such slow progress because of the adverse winds that ultimately he picked out a field close by an automobile gasoline station near Centre Hall, Pa.

He replenished his fuel supply with twenty gallons of high test automobile gasoline and flew on to Kylertown. Other stops were made at Cleveland and Toledo.

"The weather was very bad all the way west to Mercer, Pa.," said Miller. "There were rain squalls and low ceilings, and because I had no radio transmitter, although there was a receiver aboard, I had to stay underneath the clouds."

First Private Giro Owner.

Miller is a veteran autogiro pilot. He became the first private owner of an autogiro in the world when he purchased a Pitcairn machine May 14, 1931. After two practice landings with it he took off on the first transcontinental autogiro flight and made demonstrations at a dozen cities on the way.

He has had more than 3,000 hours of flying time on conventional airplanes as well as on giros. He learned to fly in 1923 while in high school. He became a mechanical engineer, was commissioned in the marine corps reserve in 1930, and flew for fourteen months with United Air Lines. He is married and has two children and lives at Alden, Pa.

OVER 5 BILLIONS DEFICIT HINTED BY MORGENTHAU

Reveals Added Drains on Treasury.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. was cross-examined by members of the senate finance committee today on such matters as the contingent obligations of the government, the prospect that the deficit for the next fiscal year may reach five billion dollars, and the spending of social security pay roll taxes to keep from increasing the 37½ billion dollar national debt.

On a motion by Senator Harry Flood Byrd [D., Va.], Mr. Morgenthau was directed to produce a statement of all government corporations having authority to incur contingent obligations on the part of the government, their obligations outstanding and their total authorizations under present low.

It is believed that 19 such government corporations have outstanding obligations of more than 5 billion dollars, which is in addition to the direct national debt of 37½ billion, and that their authorizations under existing law for government guaranteed obligations are close to 10 billion dollars.

Deficit Estimate Too Low.

Secretary Morgenthau admitted under questioning by Senator Byrd and others that the estimate of 3 billion 700 million dollars for the deficit in the next fiscal year, made before the house appropriations committee by acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell, was too low. Mr. Bell made his estimate in connection with the 3 billion dollar spending and lending pump priming bill, reported to the house yesterday.

The budget director's estimate, Mr. Morgenthau said, was based on 1937 business conditions and must be revised under existing conditions. New estimates are being prepared. Furthermore, the treasury secretary declared, the estimate of 3 billion 700 million dollars does not include the lending authorization of 1½ billion dollars recently voted to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Mr. Morgenthau said it had not been decided whether to finance the RFC loans out of the treasury, thus increasing the deficit and the direct national debt, or to finance them by the sale of RFC obligations, which would increase only the contingent liabilities.

After hearing Secretary Morgenthau, Senator Byrd said he believed his prediction of a 5 billion dollar deficit for the fiscal year 1939 was too conservative.

Wants to Boost Bond Limits.

Morgenthau appeared before the finance committee in support of a bill increasing the limitation on the bonded indebtedness the treasury may have outstanding at any one time. The act of Feb. 4, 1935, amending the second Liberty bond act, limited the amount of bonds that may be outstanding at any one time to 25 billion dollars and limited the aggregate of short term obligations—such as treasury bills and certificates of indebtedness—to 20 billion dollars.

The treasury bill, which the committee reported favorably, does not increase the combined limitation of 45 billion dollars, but consolidates the two limitations "so as to give the treasury greater flexibility in its financing," as Morgenthau put it.

At present the treasury has outstanding a total of $23,301,966,056 in bonds of all kinds, so that it is within $1,698,033,944 of the 25 billion limit as to bonds. It has outstanding an aggregate of $13,830,009,050 in bills and notes, so that it is within $6,169,990,950 of the limit in that category. The treasury is within $7,868,024,894 of the combined 45 billion limit.

Mr. Morgenthau said he did not know whether it would be necessary to increase the combined limitation above 45 billions as a result of the new pump priming program.

May Want Greater Total.

"In the months of June, September, and December, 1938, the treasury has maturities of treasury notes aggregating more than 1 billion 600 million dollars face amount, and it will probably be necessary during this period to raise additional cash between 500 millions and 1 billion, making the total financing during the next eight month period, exclusive of treasury bill operations, more than 2 billion 600 million dollars," Morgenthau said.

"It may be highly desirable, from the standpoint of the public debt program and the government security market, for the treasury to meet the maturing notes and to raise whatever additional cash is necessary, or a major portion thereof, through the issuance of additional treasury bonds, rather than through the issuance of trasury notes.

After reserving 248 million dollars to meet the estimated additional issues of United States saving bonds during this period, only 1 billion 450 million dollars would be available for further bond issues under the present limitation. This might not be sufficient to meet the treasury requirements in connection with the maturing notes aggregating more than 1 billion 600 million dollars."

RULES 'SWEETIE PIE' NO SWINDLER WOOING DUCHESS

"Whatever she gave him, she gave him voluntarily; there was no fraud proven," Judge John J. Rooney of the Felony court declared yesterday in dismissing Sweetie Pie on a charge of operating a confidence game.

Sweetie Pie is tall, blond, and handsome Richard J. Bower, 27 years old, 1211 North La Salle street. Mrs. Vashti De Berry, 41, a widow, said she gave Bower, who called her Little Flower and The Duchess, $6,000 during a two year courtship but that he reneged on his promise to marry her.

The Duchess heard Sweetie Pie's attorney, Thomas F. Dolan, term their affair an unsuccessful May and December romance.

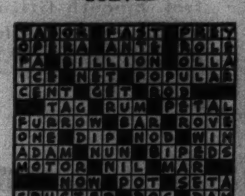
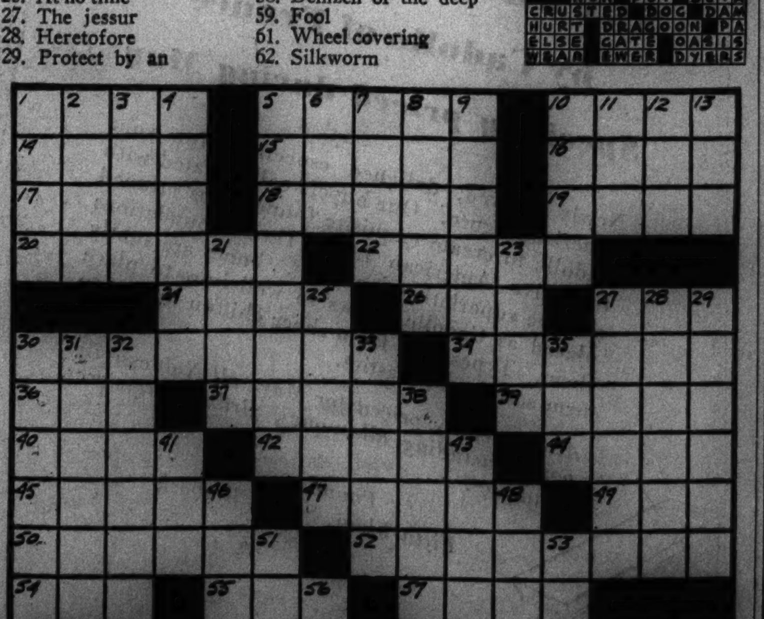
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





LEYDEN SCHOOL PUPILS STRIKE TO KEEP TEACHERS

Five hundred and twenty-five students at the Leyden Township Community High school in Franklin Park went on strike yesterday and picketed the building in protest against refusal of the school board to renew the contracts of Athletic Coach Lynn Watson, Leland A. Meyer, commercial teacher; Albert Hall, janitor, and Richard Locke, board attorney.

The twenty-five other students at the school passed the picket line to attend morning classes, but only a few returned in the afternoon. The strikers paraded, blew trumpets, and displayed signs charging politics in the school board administration. They broke up during the afternoon but announced they would resume the demonstration this morning.

George V. Deal, principal of the school, said if a majority of the pupils did not return today the school would close until the strike was over. The school board, by a vote of three to two, decided a week ago not to renew the contracts. Mrs. Ada Dodge, president, refused to explain the action.

U. S. FINANCING HELD ROAD BACK TO MIDDLE AGES

Has Marks of Europe, Says Professor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dr. Herbert D. Simpson, professor of public finance of Northwestern university, said yesterday that examination of the present national financial policies must lead to the conclusion that the program emanated from Paris or Berlin or some other European capital.

"It has all the familiar earmarks of Europe and none of the earmarks of America," he declared at a joint luncheon of Northwestern university trustees and Northwestern university associates in the Palmer house.

He also told his audience that the policy of spending to create purchasing power is a trend back toward medievalism, a theory first formulated by the German Socialists in the 18th century. He poured gentle ridicule on assertions that the country now is in a better "statistical position" than it has been recently.

Still Better If Dead.

"When a man is out of a job," he said, "it doesn't help him much to tell him that he is in a better statistical position. When he is dead and gone, he will be in a still better statistical position."

After an extended survey of the way the Roosevelt policies have operated, Dr. Simpson presented this summary:

"Currency debasement; deficit financing for eight years in the wealthiest country on earth; accumulation of a national debt far beyond the world war debt itself; subjection of the banking and credit systems to the borrowing exigencies of the national government; an enormous nonproductive expenditure comparable to the heavy burden of the military armament expenditures of European nations; the subordination of state and local government bodies to the policies of administrative departments of the national government, and policies of detailed regimentation on the one hand, combined with policies of extravagant subsidies on the other."

It Appears European.

He said a student examining such a list would be convinced that it represented European conditions. He continued:

"In Europe there is some excuse growing out of wars, threat of future wars, pressure of population, poverty, distress, and economic and political demoralization. In this country we have a sparsity of population in comparison with any European country, millions of acres of undeveloped regions, unexhausted natural resources, and profound peace in our international relations.

"Our conditions are so totally different that one cannot but feel that our government has drawn its counsel from advisers who have been too much of European complexion, men steeped in European economic literature and economic philosophy, men unduly impressed with recent European experiments.

Leaves from Others' Books.

"We sent a commission to England to learn about the income tax. There are a lot of things to be learned from England—and some things that are better not learned. We sent a commission to China to learn about the silver policy. We've learned a lot about silver since and some of it came from China. So far as I know we haven't yet sent a commission to Mexico to learn how to operate our oil industry.

"Now, in all seriousness, I don't mean to discount what can be learned from Europe. We owe most of our intellectual heritage to Europe; and if European civilization should fail, this planet will hardly be worth keeping a foothold on.

"But after all, this is America. In the matters I have been discussing we are dealing with American problems under American conditions.

Might Try Own Brains.

"It would seem that we ought to be able to develop enough brains to work out solutions that will be adapted to our own conditions rather than merely importing a heterogeneous conglomeration of economic philosophies and economic policies from the ruins of European nations."

Other excerpts from Dr. Simpson's speech were:

"Why the American people have allowed themselves to get into their present situation I am utterly unable to explain."

Sink Deeper Into Poverty.

"The greatest excess inventory we have at the present time is our inventory of idle labor, and the next greatest is our excess of idle brains and business capacity that are deprived of their opportunity for productive exercise."

"Continuation of this type of public expenditure [pump priming] at the rate of billions every year can only sink us deeper into poverty."

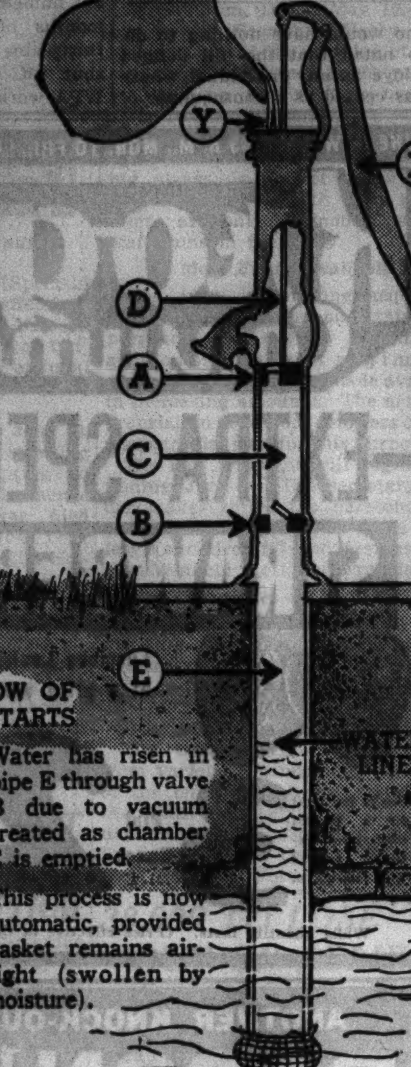
"Indiscriminate expenditure for relief has materially aggravated the problem of unemployment. When relief policy, directly or indirectly, provides financing for sitdowns and strikes, we are virtually subsidizing the forcible disruption of industry and employment."

"The so-called low cost housing is only another form of outright relief or charity."

What Pump Priming Is

(Story in adjoining column.)

Pump priming as a means of curing a depression has become a new phrase in the American language. In reality it has an old and homely meaning. How many know the real meaning? In order to provide this definition there is presented here a diagram of what happens when a pump is primed. The only difference is that in the method shown below there is water in the well.



WHY PUMP NEEDS PRIMING

Pistonhead A leaks air, due to shrinkage of its leather gasket when dry.

This leakage of air makes the pressure in chamber C equal to the atmospheric pressure; hence water will not rise in pipe E.

HOW PUMP IS PRIMED

Enough water is poured into pump at Y to fill chamber C and to moisten gasket of piston A and swell it to full width of pipe.

HOW FLOW OF WATER STARTS

Handle X is now raised, lowering piston A to position of valve B. Weight of water has meanwhile closed valve B. As piston A is lowered its valve opens and through it water of chamber C enters chamber D where it leaves pump as it is pulled up to level of spout.

Water has risen in pipe E through valve B due to vacuum created as chamber C is emptied.

This process is now automatic, provided gasket remains airtight (swollen by moisture).

FARMERS IN INDIANA JOIN REVOLT AGAINST AAA CROP MEDDLING

Plymouth, Ind., May 10.—[Special.]—About 600 northern Indiana farmers assembled here tonight at a rally to protest against government control of farm crops. Most of them signed petitions that will be sent to President Roosevelt and congress asking for repeal of the new AAA control scheme.

Walter Peer of Argos, who presided at the meeting, said 50 farmers will be selected to canvass the countryside for more signers.

"We're sick and tired of the government interfering with our affairs," Peer said. "We don't want to be government charges. All we want is the privilege of operating our farms. The government in Russia and Germany can get away with that kind of interference, but are we going to let it be done here?"

Loud cries of "No," "Not on your life," and similar negative answers came from the audience.

CONGRESSIONAL TVA QUIZ WILL BE OPENED TODAY

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—The joint congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley authority was called to meet tomorrow by its chairman, Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.]. It was said the meeting is for the purpose of affording members an opportunity to give their views on procedure to be followed. It was considered possible the committee might give a full outline of its immediate plans, which as yet have not been discussed except by individual members. The meeting is to be open to the public.

HOUSE DEBATES PRIMING BILL TO SPEND BILLIONS

Discussion Limited to Ten Hours.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—With an admission that measures must be taken to "avert disaster," administration leaders placed before the house today for ten hours' debate the President's program priming the nation's economic pump with billions of dollars.

The bill is expected to be passed Thursday or Friday. It then must run the senate gantlet before going to the White House.

Supporters of the measure, led by Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.], who ordinarily heads the Democratic economy bloc, argued that huge spending was necessary because of the drastic unemployment situation. Estimates of the jobless vary from 11 to 14 millions, they pointed out.

Matter of National Concern.

"It is definite," said Woodrum, "that at the minimum the total of unemployed is so large as to be a matter of great national concern. It is enough to know that since last September between 3 and 4 million persons have lost their jobs in private employment. This is a program primarily to furnish jobs."

The opposition from the Republican side of the chamber was weak in numbers but spirited. Representative Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.] was selected to sound the Republican keynote against renewed spending.

Both Republican and Democratic platforms of 1932, Engel pointed out, advocated emergency relief loans, but indorsed drastic curtailment of federal and state and local expenditures. The Socialist platform of that year proposed an appropriation of 5 billions for relief and 5 billions for public works.

"When President Roosevelt took office, the economy act was passed," Engel told the house. "But for some unknown reason, the President late in the spring of 1933 fundamentally shifted his policies. He substituted a policy of spending ourselves into prosperity for the policy of tax reduction and economy which he had advocated. We commenced hearing a new phrase—pump priming. The President substituted the Socialist platform for the Democratic platform.

"I am firmly convinced that to continue the spending program will mean national disaster. We may improve conditions for a time, perhaps for a few months, but the final result will be financial and economic disaster."

During the Roosevelt administration, congress has appropriated and authorized to be appropriated 43.8 per cent of the cost of government from George Washington's inauguration to President Roosevelt's inauguration, Engel said.

G. O. P. Denounces Program.

House Republicans denounced the spending-lending program at a conference tonight as "another New Deal raid upon the treasury," destined to increase unemployment and produce a "cataclysmic inflation."

"The entire program is based upon the exploded theory that a nation may spend its way to prosperity," the Republicans said in a statement. "That delusion never has had a more extravagant trial than in the United States during the last five years.

"This trial has cost the taxpayers roundly $40,000,000,000 and has led only to the sharpest and most sudden business depression in modern economic history—a depression which is experienced in no other principal nation of the world.

"The Roosevelt proposal simply is to start that whole disastrous cycle over again."

HOUSE STUDIES DIFFERENCES IN WAGE-HOUR BILL

Conference Needed After Vote Next Week.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—Congress today was studying the differences between the senate and house wage-hour bills which will have to be adjusted before a measure can be sent to the White House.

Passage of the house bill within the next week is taken for granted. The senate already has approved a measure which varies considerably from the house version. A conference between the two houses probably will be necessary to align these variations.

The main difference between the two bills is that the house has set up a rigid standard of minimum wages and maximum hours, while the senate provided that a board should establish the standard in accordance with local conditions.

Fixes Minimum Wage.

The house bill provides that all industry declared to be in interstate commerce shall pay at least 25 cents an hour to employés the first year and work them not more than 44 hours a week. The hour wage ascends to 40 cents in three years and the work week descends to 40 hours in the same period.

The senate bill, on the other hand, would have the board inquire into local conditions and then determine what the wages and hours should be. The board may not declare minimum wages in excess of 40 cents an hour nor a work week less than 40 hours. But it might determine that conditions required a 20 cent hour and a 48 hour week.

Thus, the senate bill is favored by southern Democrats who protest that the rigid 40-40 standard provided in the house bill would ruin southern industries which pay low wages and have long work weeks.

Provides for Standards Board.

The senate bill creates a Labor Standard Board composed of five members to be appointed by the President with the consent of the senate. They would receive $10,000 a year salary and be empowered to set up such an organization as is deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of the law.

The bill asserts that wide variations in wages create unfair conditions, but adds that an abrupt change might do serious injury to American industry and American workers.

Therefore, the bill states, the board shall fix minimum wages not to exceed 40 cents an hour for various occupations, considering the following:

1. The cost of living.
2. Where transportation costs or freight rates are discriminatory against any locality or area.
3. Local economic conditions.
4. The wages established for work of like or comparable character by collective labor agreements negotiated between employers and employés or voluntarily set up by employers.

Fixes Length of Week.

Similarly the board shall set up a maximum work week for different industries, but may not make the week shorter than 40 hours.

A number of exceptions are made in the case of the maximum work week for persons engaged in seasonal cotton ginning, fish and vegetable canning, and coöperative dairying.

Like the house bill, the senate measure provides that any employer may work his employés in excess of the maximum work week if he pays them time and a half for overtime.

Labor standard orders shall be made, under the senate bill, only after a notice and hearing.

The senate bill also provides that evidence concerning violations shall be made available to the attorney general for criminal proceedings. A fine of $500 and maximum jail sentence of six months for each violation is fixed in the bill. The same penalty is in the house bill.

Bars Some Child Labor.

There is in both bills a child labor section that provides that no person under 16 years of age may be employed except that children from 14 to 16 years may be employed at occupations, other than manufacturing or mining, which do not interfere with their schooling. Persons from 16 to 18 years of age may not be employed at hazardous occupations.

After stipulating that the 40 cents an hour—40 hours a week standard—shall apply to all interstate commerce industries at the end of three years, the house bill provides the secretary of labor shall determine what industries are in interstate commerce. The secretary also would have the power of enforcing the act.

Both bills provide for an appeal to the federal court of appeals from judicial orders obtained in enforcement of the act.

Sues for $100,000

ANITA LOUISE.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 10.—[Special.]—Anita Louise, blonde film actress, has filed a $100,000 damage suit against Ernest N. White, finance company official, charging defamation of character. She charged that White defamed her in a damage suit he filed recently against Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jaccard. White complained the Jaccards had damaged property they rented from him ten years ago.

Miss Louise charged that White identified Mrs. Jaccard in his suit as "Anita Louise, film actress." She set forth that she has never been married and was only 11 years old at the time of the alleged property damage.

UNION BUSINESS AGENT SENT TO VANDALIA FARM

Sycamore, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—Charles [Casey] Getz, former business agent for a De Kalb teamsters' union, was sentenced to four months at Vandalia and fined $50 on a vagrancy charge this afternoon after his motion for a new trial had been denied by County Judge Harry W. McEwen. Getz was convicted by a De Kalb County court jury March 29, after numerous witnesses told of his frequent threats to force them to join his union. While in jail he was forced by the union to resign as business agent.

35 Property Owners Sue for Sewer Blast Damage

Thirty-five property owners, charging that dynamite blasting during the construction of a new sewer system near Keeley street and Archer avenue in 1937 had caused extensive damage to their homes, yesterday sued the sanitary district and the contracting firm of S. A. Healy & Co. for $54,000. The blasts caused quicksand beds to shift, weakening foundations, smashing windows and dislodging plaster, the suit charges.

JUNK SHOP ROBBER HELD.

Louis De Legge, 19 years old, 1327 Taylor street, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Boys' court for robbing Ben Evans of $40 in his junk shop at 840 Monroe street.

SENATE ADOPTS LABOR SECTION OF MARINE BILL

Provisions Denounced as Worse than Nothing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—The labor relations section of the pending merchant marine bill, which several senators had denounced as being worse than nothing at all, was adopted without a record vote by the senate today.

The labor section would create a three-man maritime labor board without power to promote mediation and arbitration of disputes except by unanimous consent.

The labor section was drafted by the education and labor committee, headed by Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], a partisan of the C. I. O., and accepted by the commerce committee, which reported the merchant marine bill, in the belief that nothing better could be obtained. Its adoption by the senate represented a victory for Labor Secretary Frances Perkins and a defeat for Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the federal maritime commission and now ambassador to Great Britain.

Reject Kennedy's Proposal.

Mr. Kennedy had proposed extension of the railway labor act and the powers of the national mediation board to the turbulent maritime industry, on the ground that it is futile to spend hundreds of millions of dollars on a merchant marine program without some responsibility on the part of the maritime unions.

Secretary Perkins assailed the Kennedy proposal, contending that the maritime unions should be left to the collective bargaining procedure of the Wagner labor relations act and that the shipping industry was not ripe for mediation.

Kennedy replied that if the shipping industry is not ripe for mediation and arbitration it is overripe for ruin.

Nice Work if You Get It.

Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] said the bill would create a new board with three $10,000 a year members who would have nothing to do. He also noted that the bill defined an employé as any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of or in connection with any current labor dispute.

"If seamen engaged in a sitdown strike and resorted to destruction of property they still would remain employés, would they not?" asked Senator Burke. Thomas admitted that they would.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In accordance with the definition of trillion commonly used in the United States, Alpha Centauri, formerly considered the nearest star to the earth, is about 25 trillion miles away, and not 25 billion as stated yesterday in an item about a star known as Wolf 424, now considered the nearest star. Also the velocity of light is 186 thousand miles a second, and not 186 million miles as stated in the story.

Louis H. Vinquist, who died Friday, was 66 years old and not 87, as stated erroneously in an item on Sunday.

Threaten Strike in WPA Pay Roll Office in Chicago

A strike by employés in the pay roll department in Chicago headquarters of the Works Progress administration was threatened yesterday. Spokesmen, who said they represented a majority of the 184 department employés, said after a meeting that strike action is certain unless there is an immediate end to about three months of working more than a thirty-nine hour week. A strike would shut off checks for about 160,000 WPA workers in the state.

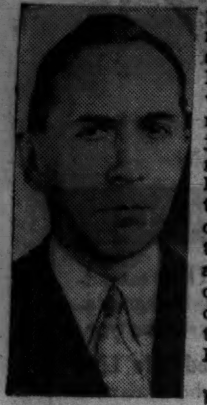
ROOSEVELT PICKS CAPT. INGERSOLL AS REAR ADMIRAL

Jumps Him Over Heads of Dozen Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—Capt. Royal E. Ingersoll, director of naval war plans, was nominated today to be a rear admiral by President Roosevelt. The nomination, which jumped Capt. Ingersoll over the heads of more than a dozen officers, came after the captain made a recent mysterious visit to London at the direction of the White House.



Capt. Ingersoll.

Several members of congress were convinced that the purpose of the visit was to arrange for coöperation of the American fleet with British forces under a secret alliance with Great Britain. The visit was so interpreted in England.

No White House Denial.

Although the state department denied any such alliance exists there has been no denial from the White House and the navy department has been silent. Navy officials have avoided all comment on the issue by stating that treaty making is not in the province of the navy.

Semi-officially it has been said that Capt. Ingersoll went to London to exchange technical information with officials of the British admiralty on battleship design and construction. Ordinarily such information is exchanged through naval attachés and is the concern of the bureau of construction and repair rather than Ingersoll's war plans division.

Son of Rear Admiral.

Capt. Ingersoll was born in Washington June 20, 1883, the son of the late Rear Admiral Royal Rodney Ingersoll. He was appointed to the Naval academy in 1901 from Indiana, where he still maintains a home at Laporte.

During the world war he was awarded the navy cross for services in connection with the organization, development, and administration of communications. Since the war he has been executive officer and commander of battleships and cruisers and has served in the navy department.

His most recent command was the heavy cruiser San Francisco almost three years ago. In 1935 he went to the London naval conference with Admiral William H. Standley. In his new rank he will command cruiser division No. 6.

Alienation Defendant

Mrs. Charlotte Chesebrough.

Madison, Conn., May 10.—[Special.]—A $25,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Charlotte Milburn Pickering Chesebrough, niece of Devereux Milburn and once prominent in New York society, was revealed here today.

It was instituted by Mrs. John B. Wright, whose husband is awaiting trial on charges of attempting to shoot her, and was disclosed when a certificate of attachment was filed against the estate of the New York woman's grandmother, Mrs. Ella Hollingsworth.

Wright, 41 years old, was arrested last Friday after he and Mrs. Chesebrough had been pursued by state police while they cruised on Long Island sound. Mrs. Chesebrough won an uncontested divorce from Thomas Patten Chesebrough Jr. in Reno in 1937.

HOPE TO COLLECT FROM SURETY FOR BROKERAGE FIRM

Creditors of the defunct brokerage firm, Hoagland, Allum & Co., may be able to collect $120,000 from bonds protecting the firm against embezzlement. Attorney Martin J. McNally, who represents the receiver, Peter B. Carey, said yesterday that efforts are under way to force the bonding companies to pay.

Three officials of the firm, George F. Allum, president; Henry A. Engel, secretary, and Olaf A. Larsen, vice president, are in the county jail awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy. They have admitted taking clients' money and securities to the amount of about $725,000, but have pleaded not guilty to the indictments. Assets of the firm, discovered so far, are less than $2,200.

Assistant District Attorney Warren Canaday has announced that charges of using the mails to defraud and of violating the federal securities act probably will be placed against the three company officials.

NEW REGIMENT IS CREATED TO FIGHT PLANES

More Anti-Aircraft Guns Needed by U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—War Secretary Harry Woodring announced the creation of a new anti-aircraft regiment in the program to build up the nation's neglected ground aircraft defenses.

At present the nation's defense against air attack, except for fighting planes, is weaker than that of even third and fourth class powers. There are only 14 modern anti-aircraft guns in the army.

More Funds Available.

The army is speeding acquisition of additional weapons and training of personnel and expects to announce additional anti-aircraft regiments soon. Funds are being made available in increasing amounts. The army appropriation act before congress carries a substantial sum for this purpose.

The new regiment will begin functioning June 1. The secretary's order makes active the heretofore inactive 65th regiment of coast artillery [anti-aircraft] and assigns it to Fort Winfield Scott, San Francisco.

Personnel to be 489.

It will consist of regimental headquarters and headquarters battery, one searchlight battery, one gun battery and one machine gun battery. The authorized strength will be seventeen officers and 472 enlisted men.

The officers will be transferred from various organizations and most of the enlisted men will come from the Sixth coast artillery, Fort Winfield Scott. The 63d coast artillery, Fort MacArthur, Cal., and the 69th coast artillery, Fort Crockett, Tex.

38,000 TO LOSE OUT ON RELIEF CASH FOR MAY

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, said yesterday that unless funds are replenished 38,000 of the 93,000 families on relief in the city will receive no checks for May. The CRA has only its May allotment from the state—$1,912,132—to distribute. That sum will be gone next Tuesday, when the check writers will have completed only part of the alphabetical list of recipients. Only 55,000 families will have received checks.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis told Mayor Kelly that he would return immediately to Washington to seek federal funds of at least $10,000,000 for Illinois. The money will be used to finance projects of the Works Progress and the Public Works administrations and possibly direct cash relief in the present crisis, he explained.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—For the first time, President Roosevelt revealed today, the government is making a study of the adequacy of power and power facilities for national defense and during periods of domestic emergency such as floods, storms, and industrial disputes.

He discussed the study at a conference with Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson and Basil Manly, federal power commissioner. The study is being approached from two angles—sufficiency of power in time of war and the need of additional equipment, and second, the coördination of existing power lines not now connected.

Started by Insull.

The coördination of existing power lines under what might become a national grid system would enable the shipment of power to cities whose plants have been shut down by disasters or other means.

A grid system linking industrial Indiana and Illinois was developed by Samuel Insull when his utility empire was at its height. Under an elaborate system of checks and counterbalances power was shifted about the area as it was needed. It has since been adopted in other areas.

To illustrate the need for the study, the President pointed out that the city of Washington has no connecting link with nearby Baltimore over which power could be sent from one city to the other if facilities failed.

Hudson Divides New York.

He also pointed out that in his home state of New York there is no connection between one side of the Hudson river and the other. If power was shut down on either bank, the darkened area could not get current for lighting and industrial purposes from just across the way.

The war department is interested bcause of experiences in the Spanish conflict. In several instances the rebel army has been forced to abandon cities because power was cut off and there were no means of bringing it from nearby areas.

CLEVELAND FINDS $70,000 TO PAY 7 DAYS OF RELIEF

Cleveland, O., May 10.—[Special.]—Sixty-six thousand needy Cleveland residents caught in a quarrel over relief appropriations between Republican Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland and Democratic Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio, were assured today that they would eat regularly—at least for the next seven days.

The assurance for the city's relief clients, three times faced with stoppage of relief since the first of the year, came last night when the city council passed the second stop-gap emergency relief measure in less than a week. While relief clients, picketed city hall, the council hurriedly transfered $70,000 from WPA funds.

FIND A PROBABLE BUYER FOR EDITH M'CORMICK RUGS

A probable buyer has been found for two of the three famous rugs in the Edith Rockefeller McCormick collection, Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court was informed yesterday by the Chicago Title and Trust company, executors of her estate. An offer of $90,000 has been made for the Emperor's carpet for which Mrs. McCormick paid $125,000, and $30,000 for the Vase rug, valued at $35,000.

The buyer, who asked that his name be withheld, requires only that the estate have both rugs cleaned and renovated, according to Dr. Arthur Upham Pope who is acting as agent in the transaction. Judge O'Connell ordered that the two pieces be shipped to a New York cleaner.

The Emperor's carpet was made in Persia 600 year ago and was once the property of Peter the Great of Russia. Acting for Mrs. McCormick, Dr. Pope traced the carpet to London and bought it. It is said to be one of the ten most famous in the world.

PAIR SUE EACH OTHER; REST UP TO THE DEPUTIES

At 11:58 a. m. yesterday Mrs. Martha J. Denning, 27 years old, of 59 Forest avenue, Riverside, filed suit in the Circuit court against her husband, Willars, asking separate maintenance on charges of cruelty. At 3:35 p. m. Willars, who is 28 and the son of Clarence Denning, secretary of the Chicago Bar association, filed suit for divorce on charges of cruelty.

Two deputy sherifs immediately set out to serve the papers. If Mrs. Denning's deputy finds her husband before his finds her, she will have jurisdiction on him and he will have to file an answer. And vice versa. Both actions give the date of the marriage as Oct. 6, 1935, but aside from that they agree on practically nothing.

HITLER ADOPTS NEW POLICY FOR PIERCING EUROPE

Aims to Expand Germany by Peaceful Means.

power which cannot be disregarded either as an ally or an enemy.

BERLIN WILD WITH JOY

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 10.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler returned to Berlin from Italy tonight and was accorded a welcome which outrivaled the brilliance and enthusiasm of all that Premier Mussolini had prepared for him. The scenes which marked Germany's annexation of Austria trailed into comparative insignificance compared with those witnessed in the capital.

This morning at the Brenner pass frontier station—where Hitler telegraphed a warm expression of thanks to King Victor Emmanuel III. of Italy, Mussolini and Crown Prince Humbert—he was bidden farewell by the duke of Pistoia and Achille Starace, general secretary of the Fascist party.

Then followed the first welcome on German soil by Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, governor of Austria.

Cities Welcome Hitler.

At all the stations across Germany the population turned out to hail the Fuehrer. His coach on the special train was filled with flowers.

During the last ten miles of his trip he saw from his car window an unbroken line of torchlights. As the train pulled into Berlin's Lehrter station guns boomed a salute and bombs were exploded.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Nazi No. 2, delivered a speech of welcome.

"We thank God that you returned safe and sound," he said. "The German people followed every incident of your journey with glowing hearts. It is not a mere incident but a dispensation of the Almighty God that two such mighty statesmen should have met in a friendship destined to be everlasting."

Cheered by a Million.

A million Germans madly cheered Hitler as he was driven to the chancellery. Military bands at various points along the route played "Deutschland Ueber Alles." Flames shot up from pylons. Colored lights played on the historic Brandenburg gate.

The "column of victory" on the square facing the reichstag was outlined by military searchlights. After Hitler had passed, the public witnessed the most brilliant display of fireworks in Berlin's history.

COMMONS PUTS FINAL APPROVAL ON IRISH TREATY

LONDON, May 10.—(AP)—The house of commons tonight approved Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's "peace with Ireland" agreement at the third and final reading without a vote. The Anglo-Irish pact had got preliminary approval May 5.

Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald in summarizing the arguments for the bill said Britain would have kept control of three Irish ports where Britain had erected fortifications if the good will of Ireland toward England had not been involved. Control of the ports reverted to Ireland under the accord.

MacDonald said one had "only to read the American press" to realize how the treaty "has contributed toward improving friendly relations" with the United States. The measure now will go to the house of lords, where it was expected to pass easily.

WAITS 16 YEARS TO COLLECT PAY; FINDS IT WAITING

Christopher T. Hynes of the Brighton Park police had $53.09 pay coming when he resigned as a South Park policeman sixteen years ago to become a city bluecoat. "Tomorrow," he said, "I'll write a letter asking for the money." But he put it off.

He finally got around to writing the letter Monday. The South Park system had become part of the Chicago park district; so he wrote to Philip S. Graver, vice president, who used to be a South Park commissioner. And the park board voted yesterday to send him a check.

PISTOL IS FIRED NEAR KING CAROL AT ARMY REVIEW

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 10.—(AP)—A pistol was fired today near where King Carol was reviewing an Independence day military parade, but police said it was fired accidentally by a policeman. Officials said the policeman was wounded slightly in the foot when he dropped his gun while entering an auto. The king apparently did not hear the shot.

William Kellermann's application yesterday for a license to marry Mrs. Elizabeth Greenway, 64 years old, 4147 Byron street, revealed that, at 80, he is Cook county's oldest employé. He is a filing clerk in the office of Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court.

"Eighty years old?" Robin asked reporters who called. "O, no. He's kidding you. He's not a day over 55. See how active he is?"

Kellermann was busily filing papers—standing on tiptoes to reach high cabinets, kneeling with agility to low ones. Robin asked him his age.

"I'm 80—born in 1858. Why?"

"Is your wife to be as young looking as you are?"

"Younger, much younger. In fact she's still a working girl."

San Diego, Cal., May 10.—[Special.]—San Diego last week participated in its Mexican colony's celebration of "Cinco de Mayo" [Fifth of May] which is celebrated annually to commemorate the victory of Mexican forces over French troops in 1862. The victory ended the attempt of the French to conquer Mexico.

ROOSEVELT WILL DECIDE GERMAN HELIUM REQUEST

Sale Depends Upon Use of Dirigible Gas.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt this afternoon said the fate of Germany's request for ten million cubic feet of helium gas hangs on the interpretation of two words—military importance—in the helium sales act.

The President discussed the helium shipment with Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson in the light of the visit of Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin commander, who is here seeking to lift the embargo on the proposed sale by Interior Secretary Harold Ickes.

May Decide Today.

Tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt is expected to make a decision at another conference. Those present will be Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staf of the army; Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, and Ickes.

The President said the question was one of purpose and not of any pledge that the gas would not be used for military purposes. He declined to say what guarantees would be asked that the gas would not go for military purposes, if any.

Under the act, export of the noninflammable gas, which is wanted for lighter than air ships, is forbidden for military purposes. The question the President will determine tomorrow at a conference with interested officials is whether the requested shipment is large enough to be of military importance.

Irked by Questions.

At his first conference in his office since he left on his nine day fishing cruise April 29 the President was subjected to a barrage of questions. Twice these drew flashes of annoyance, first when he was asked to comment on the row over free speech and assembly in Frank Hague dominated Jersey City, and again when he was asked to amplify his statement of the recently signed Anglo-Italian pact.

Asked if he had anything to add to his recent statement on Anglo-Italian accord, in view of its reception abroad as American approval of the pact, he said the statement was adequate and should be reread. A reporter then asked if he would recommend rereading of his Chicago speech on foreign policy of last October. He said the Jersey City problem was police business.

RULES COMMITTEE VOTES FOR QUIZ ON PRESSURE GROUPS

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—A proposed congressional inquiry that may include the German-American bund and any Nazi, Fascist, or communist activities in the United States won the backing of the house rules committee today.

That committee endorsed an investigation resolution after hearing Chairman Dickstein [D., N. Y.] of the immigration committee assert there would be riots and bloodshed unless congress acted.

The resolution, by Representative Dies [D., Tex.], would create a seven member house committee to determine the extent, character, and objectives of un-American propaganda activities in the United States, whether of foreign, or domestic origin.

It makes no mention of Nazi, Fascist, or communist organizations, but committeemen made it plain the inquiry plan was aimed in their direction.

SUNKEN GERMAN WARSHIP RAISED TO SECURE METAL

LONDON, May 10.—[Special.]—The old German battleship Grosser Kurfurst, which has laid at the bottom of Scapa Flow in the Orkney Islands since 1919, has been raised by the British government. The metal from the vessel will be used in making British armaments. The Grosser Kurfurst, with twenty other German warships, was interned at Scapa Flow under terms of the armistice. All were scuttled by the crews.

Sailor Admits Setting Fire to French Liner at Dock

LE HAVRE, France, May 10.—(AP)—Police tonight held a seaman who, they said, confessed setting fire to the French liner Champlain at her dock. The sailor, Joseph Salou, was said to have admitted accidentally causing one blaze today when he fell asleep with a lighted cigaret in his mouth and then deliberately setting a second so he could give the alarm and divert suspicious from himself. Both fires were extinguished with little damage.

Why He Prefers the STREET CAR

John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor for thirty years, is no motor car addict. Takes a street car from his home in the stockyards district to the federation's headquarters at 666 Lake Shore drive.

"DRIVING an automobile to work is no fun. The street car is handy. You don't have to park it and it costs only 7 cents to use it. It's essential to industry and the workingman and woman."

John Fitzpatrick, the grand old man of the Labor movement in Chicago, gives these potent reasons for his use of the Surface Lines.

Industries depend upon Surface Lines cars and buses to provide transportation for their employes. When a factory location is being sought, the first thing the manufacturer wants to know about is local transportation. Consequently, every large industry within the city limits is located where Surface Lines service is available.

For one fare every worker in these industries can ride from his home—no matter where it is—to the factory where he works. Only the Chicago Surface Lines can provide this service, for it alone serves every industrial district and 98 per cent of all homes in the city.

SIX U. S. WOMEN BOW TONIGHT TO BRITISH ROYALTY

First Court of the Season in Buckingham Palace.

BY ANN WHITTINGHAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 10.—Tomorrow night in Buckingham palace, their majesties, King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, will hold the first, or diplomatic, court of the London season.

Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the American ambassador, accompanied by four American debutantes and two matrons, will bow before the golden thrones.

With one exception these presentees are members of the American ambassador's official family. The exception is Miss Rosamond Seidel, English born American daughter of Harry Seidel, vice president of an American oil company.

It's Debutante Night.

Mrs. Kennedy will present her own two daughters, Miss Rosemary and Miss Kathleen Kennedy, and Miss Virginia Howard, daughter of Charles Howard, assistant treasury attache in the embassy.

Mrs. Warren Lockwood, wife of the assistant trade commissioner in the embassy, and Mrs. Leslie Davis, wife of the American consul general in Glasgow, Scotland, are the matrons who will accompany Mrs. Kennedy.

Tomorrow night is to be debutante night in Buckingham palace. Never before have so many debutantes gathered together for a single occasion. This year the lord chamberlain decided to give the first court over to debutantes and diplomats.

Social Climbing Gets a Jolt.

If for no other reason, Ambassador Kennedy will go down in history as a man who puts his foot down. For the first time in twenty-five years the American ambassador has looked at the English court presentation as a diplomatic gesture of international friendliness to be performed by officials and their wives, and not to be considered as the peak of the American social ladder.

As much as Ambassador Kennedy's ruling has been resented by some in social circles, it has met with considerable approval in the English press and in diplomatic circles. Ambassador Kennedy, they say, has "laid a racket" and American girls are left to enhance their prestige in their own land rather than by means of the English court.

Shot by Bandits

JOHN W. COGHILL.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

County highway police yesterday sought five wild shooting bandits who earlier in the day shot and wounded John W. Coghill, 55 years old, as they were attempting to break into the Cog-Hill Golf and Country club at 119th street and Archer avenue, near Lemont.

Coghill, who is one of the owners of the club, was awakened when he heard the robbers smash a glass panel in the clubhouse door. He seized his revolver and ran out the door, firing at the men. In the exchange of shots he was wounded in the right leg.

The burglars fled to their car when Edward Walford, the watchman, joined Coghill in the gun battle. In their hasty flight the gunmen dropped a flashlight. The gun battle was witnessed by more than twenty men and women employés of the club who were awakened by the shots.

ROMANCE FADES FOR EVANSTON'S MARRYING J. P., 85

Harrison Files a Sedate Bill for Divorce.

Samuel Harrison, Evanston's marrying justice of the peace who in his 85 years has done everything in his power to boom romance, filed suit in the Circuit court yesterday to withdraw himself from the blessed state.

But he is not driving romance from his life. Quite the contrary. Romance, in the person of redheaded Emmy Christensen Harrison, 46 years old, packed up and moved out with no urging from the justice. This was in 1934, two years after Harrison married her as the climax of a campaign of advertising and ballyhoo.

In comparison to the hysteria attendant upon his wooing, Harrison's bill for divorce was sedate indeed. It was neatly typed in plain black letters upon unadorned sheets of white legal paper. It charged desertion.

Reached at his office, 1559 Sherman avenue, Evanston, Harrison said: "I was forced to this by her hair. It isn't red any more. It's turning black."

It will be remembered that when Harrison launched his campaign for a wife in 1932 he announced he was partial to redheads. Applications poured in from many parts of the country.

Finally Harrison cut the list of eligibles to six. Emmy Christensen was chosen the lucky girl because of her red tresses.

When he found that these tresses were really black, he said, he was displeased in the extreme. Just what displeased Mrs. Harrison, causing her to move out, was not disclosed.

The justice was insistent that though romance may not be for him, he will continue to promote it for the happiness of others. In his days as a marrying justice, Harrison has offered dollar day bargains, has agreed to marry gratis the children of couples he married years ago, has offered to serve tea to each couple and has dangled many other enticements before prospects.

LOSES HIS WIFE AS WELL AS HER KNEDLICKY, ZELY

It seemed yesterday that the great knedlicky and zely romance was dead once and for all. Judge John J. Lupe granted a divorce to Mrs. Polly Janecka, 3537 South Cuyler avenue, on her cross bill against Frank Janecka, a coffin maker. Frank wooed Polly on account of her wonderful knedlicky and zely. But after they were married she fed him on nothing else, then hit him when he protested, his original bill stated.

He left her in February and in a few weeks lost ten pounds. He then sought a reconciliation, but Polly said she had gained nine pounds. When Judge Lupe granted the divorce and $6 a week alimony yesterday he told Frank to look elsewhere for his knedlicky and zely—dumplings and cabbage, in other words.

10,000 New York Chinese Observe Humiliation Day

New York, May 10.—(AP)—More than 10,000 Chinese paraded through downtown New York yesterday ignoring heavy showers, in observance of national Humiliation day, the anniversary of the serving of Japan's 21 demands on China 23 years ago. It was a holiday in Chinatown and some 1,500 laundries in Manhattan alone were closed. The paraders marched to the mingled strains of weird oriental orchestras and brassy American bands.

PRESIDENT ASKS $108,000 TO SAVE JOBS FOR G-MEN

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked congress for an additional appropriation of $108,000 for the federal bureau of investigation to make up a deficit caused by "unforeseen expenditures" in connection with recent major kidnaping cases.

Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, said unless the additional sum was provided "the service will be seriously crippled and personnel will have to be drastically curtailed." He said the deficit had "arisen wholly through unforeseen expenditures in connection with the Ross, Levine, and Fried kidnaping cases and other important investigations in addition to the regular work of the bureau." The bureau was compelled recently to lay off a number of agents because of shortage of funds.

The election was called to fill the vacancy created by the death of City Judge Craig Hood.

"MERCHANDISE IS PEOPLE"

By CALEB

NOT LONG ago reports began to circulate about a certain store with yearly sales well up in six figures. The reports would have caused no comment, except that the community served by the store was hardly more than a wide place in the road.

The figures on sales meant that people had to come from a good many distant communities to buy in that particular store—and they had to buy a lot there. Investigation proved that was exactly what happened. But why did they do it? The store was a good one, but on the surface, not different enough to account for its steadily swelling volume. A reporter paid a visit to the proprietor to ask the secret of his astonishing sales.

The proprietor was at a loss to express in words the reason for the volume—although he was not in the least surprised by it.

"We just sell merchandise," he said.

"What do you mean by that?" the reporter inquired, "What is 'merchandise'?"

"Why, merchandise is people," he said. "Merchandise ain't boxes and barrels, it's people. So many clothes they got to wear, so much food they got to eat, so many tools they got to farm with. It ain't stuff—it's people. We find out what they want; they know we got it, see?"

The reporter did see. He saw a man who was instinctively a merchant, a psychologist, a market analyst—without having been inside a high school.

Here at Field's we may not express it in just the way that good merchant did, but we, too, feel that "merchandise is people." The articles on our shelves and in our showcases are already you, and your neighbor, and his neighbor. They were bought not because they fit our showcase, but because they fit your needs.

But these things don't just happen. It has taken years of experience and investment to build the vast system that functions smoothly today to place on those shelves precisely the things you want to find there.

Hundreds of men and women study and analyze your needs. Then hundreds of others scour the known world to produce the requisite merchandise at reasonable cost. All of the skill, experience and resources we have been able to develop in almost a century of effort are endlessly devoted to that purpose.

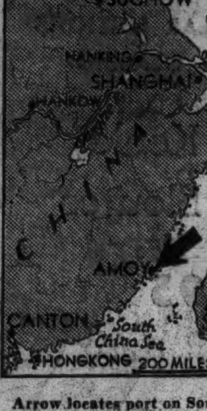
JAPS CARRY WAR TO SOUTH CHINA; BOMBARD AMOY

Naval Landing Unit Fights for Possession of City.



Arrow locates port on South China coast which Japanese attacked.

SHANGHAI, May 11 [Wednesday]. —(AP)—Japanese naval forces have invaded South China for the first time in the ten month old war in an attack on Amoy.

The new attack started early yesterday with airplane and warship bombardments and then a Japanese naval force landed and fought to occupy the rich port.

Japanese asserted their forces now hold the eastern half of Amoy Island and said much of the western half—where the native city is situated—was burning.

The attack was believed designed to draw some Chinese reënforcements from the deadlocked central China front or prevent sending southern reënforcements northward. Chinese, however, declared their forces had countered the southern invasion by repulsing the Japanese on all other fronts.

One of Best Pacific Harbors.

Amoy is about 300 miles northeast of Canton and about 600 miles southwest of Shanghai. It is 150 miles west across a strait from the Japanese owned island of Formosa.

The city of 235,000 population is situated on an island at the mouth of two united rivers which provide one of the finest harbors on the Pacific.

It is the chief gateway for Fukien province, which has a population of 12,000,000 and is a treaty port which imports cotton and piece goods, metals, grains, and manufactured products, and exports tea, camphor, gold leaf, earthenware, paper, and Chinese manufactures.

The nearby small island of Kulangsu has a settlement of about 250 foreigners. Twenty-six Americans, including Vice Consul Leland C. Altaffer of Ohio and missionaries of the Reformed and Seventh Day Adventist churches, were known to be there. The United States gunboat Ashville was standing by off Amoy to give aid if necessary.

Open Attack Before Dawn.

Before dawn yesterday 12 Japanese warships opened an intensive bombardment on the city. Then twenty bombing planes began attacking in relays. They dropped more than 100 bombs on fortified areas of the city while Chinese anti-aircraft guns tried to fight them off.

The planes dropped leaflets on Kulangsu Island saying the Japanese intended to occupy Amoy. The leaflets said foreign property would be respected, but requested foreigners to evacuate the city and asked that foreign ships keep clear.

The warships put ashore a landing party of 1,000. The bluejackets at once attacked the Amoy garrison.

[Chinese dispatches to Hongkong said that Chinese soldiers at first withdrew, then struck back, killing 75 and capturing more than 100 of the invaders. The famous university of Amoy, one of the most modern institutions in China, was reported damaged. Terrified residents crowded the shores and sought to flee to the international settlement on Kulangsu.]

Sidestep Brush with British.

In carrying the offensive to South China the Japanese sidestepped possible complications with the British by avoiding an attack against Canton, which is near the British crown colony of Hongkong.

Chinese reports of central front successes told of Chinese forces beating back Japanese attempting to drive north from Nanking against the Lunghai railroad. In northern Anhwei province, Chinese said, Japanese were repulsed with heavy losses after hand to hand clashes near Mengcheng, which is 80 miles southwest of Suchow, the junction point of the Lunghai [east-west] and the Tientsin-Pugow [north-south] railways.

Another Japanese column was said to have been stopped near Chaohsien, in central Anhwei, by guerrilla raiders who recaptured five villages and wiped out Japanese garrisons which totaled 600 men.

Five new divisions of Japanese troops were reported en route from Japan to reënforce the deadlocked drive in southern Shantung province.

Locks Sheared Off

ANNABELLA.

Hollywood, Cal., May 10.—[Special.]—The $100,000 golden locks of Annabella, which have been a storm center for months, have been sheared off. Shortly after the snipping ceremony the French star posed for a photograph which was sent to Paris by wire and radio to her husband, Jean Murat, noted French actor.

She insisted that he approve of the new haircut before she would go before the cameras.

The cutting of her hair ended a series of friendly arguments, spread over the last six months, between the Parisienne and her studio, Twentieth Century-Fox.

Rival Armies Deadlocked in Eastern Spain.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], May 10.—(AP)—Spanish rebel and government armies battled to a deadlock today on the vital central fronts.

Along the coast road to Alcala de Chisvert, where the rebels have been attempting to widen their wedge toward Valencia and Castellon de la Plana, government troops blocked their advance from hilltop entrenchments.

Stalled Against Strong Positions.

Inland, around Cuevas de Vinroma, which is 30 miles north of Castellon, government counter attacks were stalled against strong rebel positions after government forces had captured heights just north of Cuevas.

The fighting was concentrated on that approach to the sea where the rebels attempted to widen their seaboard strip by folding the government right flank back to the west.

Trenches Check Rebel Advance.

Government trench works checked the rebel advance above La Iglesuela del Cid, northeast of Teruel on the road between Mora and Morella.

The campaigns were confined to local actions. Although the rebels made effective use of their superior artillery, their command apparently was waiting for sodden ground to dry before launching a new general offensive.

MIKADO'S BROTHER REPORTED ON SECRET TOUR OF WAR ZONES

SHANGHAI, May 10.—(AP)—Prince Chichibu, brother of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, is reported to have arrived in Shanghai several days ago for a tour of the war zones.

Japanese officials would neither confirm nor deny the presence of the prince, who is 35 years old and the eldest of the emperor's three brothers, but informed persons understood he had reached Shanghai last week and planned to visit the battle areas by plane.

[Both in Shanghai and Tokio Japanese officials tried to keep Prince Chichibu's movements secret by censorship. Prince Chichibu holds the army rank of major and recently was commanding a battalion of the 8th division at Hirosaki in northern Japan. He is popular with the army and was credited with a major share in arranging the surrender of the Tokio army mutineers of February, 1936.]

14 FLYERS DIE IN 4 BRITISH AND 2 FRENCH CRASHES

LONDON, May 10. — (AP) — Eight royal air force flyers were killed in four crashes today after King George VI. of Great Britain yesterday praised the efficiency of the service.

Five men were killed in wrecks of two planes belonging to the Wyton station, Huntingdonshire. Two others died when a plane from Helmsewell station, near Lincoln, fell and another when a plane crashed at Kenley, Surrey.

Six French Flyers Killed.

LYONS, France, May 10.—(AP)—Six French army flyers were killed today in two accidents. Five died in a military airplane that crashed after taking off from an airdrome near here. A sixth aviator was killed and another gravely wounded when two planes collided in midair during maneuvers near Chartres.

Does Your Breath Broadcast— "I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

PICKABACK PLANE TAKES TO THE AIR WITH A FULL LOAD

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 10.—The Mayo composite aircraft [pickaback plane], designed for trans-Atlantic service, today completed its air ministry tests at Felixstowe. The fully loaded seaplane Mercury was launched from the back of the flying boat Maia at a height of 3,000 feet. This was the first time the Mercury has been launched loaded with sufficient fuel to fly the Atlantic.

A new fuel jettisoning device to lighten the seaplane quickly if an emergency landing is necessary soon after the takeoff also was tested. The Mercury dumped 900 gallons of gasoline within fifteen minutes.

When the separation was made the Mercury was carrying 1,180 gallons of gasoline. Its loaded weight was 20,800 pounds, and wing loading about thirty-four pounds per square foot. The Maia carried a normal load and had a wing loading of sixteen pounds per square foot. The mean loading of the composite structure was 29.9 pounds per square foot.

Lift Embargo on Arms to Spain, Professors Ask

The embargo against shipping war materials to loyalist Spain was condemned in a telegram sent yesterday by sixty-three members of the Northwestern university faculty to Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Senator Key Pittman, head of the senate foreign relations committee. Pointing out that the rebel forces in Spain were able to purchase war supplies elsewhere, the telegram urged that the embargo against the loyalist government be lifted.

STILL ANOTHER HAPSBURG PRINCE WEDS COMMONER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, May 10.—Archduke Carlos of Hapsburg and Fräulein Christa Satzger von Balvanyos, a Hungarian, were married in the Kurhaus chapel in Vienna this noon. Only their parents were present as witnesses. Carlos is a brother of Archduke Anton, husband of Princess Ileana of Rumania. His was the second Hapsburg marriage in two days. Archduke Albrecht was married yesterday in Budapest to Katherine Bucskay, a country school teacher. Albrecht forfeited membership in the Hapsburg family by his marriage to a commoner, and it was assumed the same rule would apply to Carlos.

CONFESSION.

The effort of the National Labor Relations board to escape disclosure of its high-handed methods seems to have failed. The board, on Dec. 23, had issued a sweeping condemnation of the Ford Motor company as a violator of the Wagner act. The complaint against the company had come from the C. I. O. and the finding was what the C. I. O. wanted.

The motor company appealed to the United States Circuit court at Covington, Ky. The labor board made all preparations for a strenuous defense of its finding, but when the Supreme court, in deciding the Kansas City stockyards case, held that the government's quasi-judicial agencies have to observe at least the elementary forms of justice, the board ran for cover. It sought to withdraw the record which it had filed and announced that it would try the case again and this time, presumably, appear to conduct the hearings in a less partisan spirit.

Meanwhile the Ford lawyers had not been inactive. They had filed a list of fifty-seven questions with the court, questions which all but accused the members of the labor board and some of their subordinates of gross prejudice and unfairness. The board's retreat in the face of this searching interrogatory is an unspoken confession of guilt. Innocent men in the circumstances would not dodge an opportunity to reply; they would welcome it. The board dodged.

That gives an added importance to the questions which went unanswered. These questions asked, among other things, if members of the board had consulted in private with Corcoran and Cohen of the brain trust and John L. Lewis and Homer Martin of the C. I. O., or any other officials of the government or the union. The company asked for copies of any memoranda which may have passed from these gentlemen to the members of the board and for copies of memoranda which may have passed between members of the board and the men who were directly concerned in the case.

The board's evasion leaves the assumption in the public mind that men close to the President and men high in the C. I. O. had the private ear of the board as it sat in judgment. Otherwise, why did the board evade the opportunity for a public denial?

Further questions asked by the Ford lawyers were no less embarrassing. Did the members of the board read the record? Did they read a summary of the testimony prepared by some one else? Were the exhibits inspected? Were the rulings of the trial examiner studied in the light of the objections raised against them? Was the company's petition for a rehearing read? And so on.

The labor board's action has given the public the answer to each and all of these questions. Until convincing evidence to the contrary is provided, the assumption must be that the board decided the case outside the record, and that its decision and methods met with the full approval, not only of Lewis and Martin but also of the administration to which the members of the board are indebted for their jobs.

The effort of the board to dodge and evade seems to have fallen short of success. The Circuit Court of Appeals has retained jurisdiction in the case and has refused to permit the labor board to withdraw the record and start over again. Accordingly, the day may come when the questions put by the Ford lawyers must be answered in words. Meanwhile, to the extent that actions can have meaning, the board has said more than enough to shock the country to its foundations.

AIRPLANES OVER ALASKA.

A TRIBUNE press service cable from Tokio reports that the Japanese government will propose to ours the inauguration of a Japanese commercial air service which will pass over Alaska, Canada, and the United States to South America. We do not think the situation in Japan and recent experience with the ruling régime in Japan encourage a complaisant reception of this project in the United States. No Japanese planes should be permitted to pass over Alaska, which, as we are now beginning to realize, is an important sector of American defense. The Japanese project is, of course, ostensibly commercial, but we are not now so naive as to put any reliance upon that distinction. Commercial aviation is not separable from its military potentialities, which are hardly less and indeed may be more important in the long run than those of the professional military establishment.

If the Japanese government should feel offense at our failure to coöperate with its ambition to greatly increase its air communications with the American continents, it need not be puzzled at its cause or seek for explanation elsewhere than its own recent treatment of our efforts to stabilize our relations on a basis of peace and mutual accommodation. The military régime which has brushed aside the civil statesmen with whom the United States has been able to coöperate on lines beneficial, as we believe, to both countries for cultivation of peaceful and profitable relations, has denounced treaties of coöperation and exhibited an attitude which the American nation cannot and does not ignore.

We have thought, as THE TRIBUNE has often said, that there are or should be no substantial reasons for hostility between the two peoples. There have been substantial reasons for friendly relations. But the course of Japanese policy in recent years has compelled a change in American opinion which is no longer confident of our ability to maintain the friendly relations which prevailed so long and cannot be while the forces now influencing Japanese sentiment and directing Japanese policies dominate both.

What government the Japanese prefer is not our affair, but we cannot afford to ignore implications which may seriously concern our peace and welfare. We intend to be strong enough to protect our country and its vital interests and to discourage affront. Alaska is on the first line of our defense and in present conditions should be regarded as a fortress. Neither Japan nor any other country consents to the flight of foreign airplanes over their fortresses.

FREE SPEECH IN NEW JERSEY.

Representatives Jerry O'Connell of Montana and John Bernard of Minnesota did not try to speak in Jersey City Saturday night. Their sponsor, Vito Marcantonio of the International Labor Defense, advised them not to make the effort, fearing, he said, a riot. A great crowd had assembled to see what would come of another attempt at free speech in Jersey.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist, was thrown out of the state recently when he attempted to speak and stopped when he attempted to return. He is seeking redress in the courts and because he was forcibly ejected may have a case whether it gets anywhere or not.

Mayor Hague likes being called a despot and enjoys himself when he suppresses opposition. The persons seeking to re-create the right of free speech technically are at a disadvantage. They raise a clouded issue. They want to talk in a public square. When they are refused a permit they try to talk without one. The right of assemblage and speech in such public places as parks, squares, and thoroughfares is not and should not be unrestricted. Even if it is the custom to grant permits for assemblage and speaking, the authorities can contend that the right is subject to their own discretion. They are responsible for public order and even if their solicitude only is a pretense by which to deny free speech they can defend their conduct.

To make a test of the right of free speech its proponents will have to cut behind these defenses. One way is to hire a hall, avoiding the demand for the use of a public place. If the two congressmen, O'Connell and Bernard, have some one put up the rent money they will put the question of free speech up to Hague. An attempt to go over the head of the director of public safety and speak without a permit in a public thoroughfare lays all the cards in the mayor's hands.

OUR SADDENED AMBASSADORS.

Ambassador Joseph Davies and Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton Davies, his wife, who went to Moscow early in 1937, have succeeded in getting a transfer to Belgium. Mr. Davies has been seeking a brighter spot almost from the beginning of his chosen career. Both have talents suiting them for the gayer diplomatic life and it is difficult these days to find a post which permits any sort of enjoyment.

Life in the soviet union is desolation itself. Mr. and Mrs. Davies did their best. They carried with them great supplies of cream, wine, mineral water, and frozen foods, but the mortuary proceedings of the communist commonwealth would discourage the brightest entertainers. One could never tell whether the guests would be alive to accept an invitation, and condolences and the sending of flowers, if permitted, would cut into a diplomat's time excessively.

Even France is nothing like it was in the older days, and although the dissolution of governments is not in the last degree mortal, the burden of fear is too grave to permit real enjoyment of diplomatic position. Germany is even more trying upon the spirit, as Dr. Dodd acknowledged in getting out. An archæologist might have a good time in Italy, but none of our diplomats is inclined that way.

Spain has become a graveyard and Mr. Claude Bowers, ambassador to Madrid, has been nowhere near the place since the war started and is himself almost dead to the memory. He is probably somewhere in France but so far as the news has any trace of him he is officially missing. It is his tragic era.

China was once a garden spot for a statesman with appreciation for oriental luxuries, but official life there now is mostly apologies from representatives of Japan and one can easily tire of that. The court of St. James's still offers opportunity for a career, but even the British are worried to death and if Mr. Kennedy is truly doing his country's business it must keep him busy explaining that he doesn't believe the United States is going to do that. Or is it?

NO DISORDER!

[Detroit News.]

Bay City, Mich., May 3.—One hundred members of the U. A. W. in the Chevrolet Motor company parts plant here seized the plant this morning, pulled the switches, and forced 1,100 nonunion men out of the factory.

The union men chained the front doors of the factory and office buildings and announced the plant would not be permitted to operate until union grievances have been adjusted. These grievances include charges that the plant has shifted men, reducing salaries. The union also demands discharge of Edward S. Wellock, plant manager, and his assistant, Arthur Bammel.

The plant manufactures parts for all Chevrolet factories.

The unionists remained in the plant after forcing nonunion men to leave. There was no disorder.

No disorder?

One hundred unionists seize a plant, pull switches, and force 1,100 nonunion men out of the factory, and that is not disorder!

The union men chained the front doors of the factory and office buildings and announced the plant would not be permitted to operate until union grievances have been adjusted.

But there was no disorder, mind you!

The unionists remained in the plant after forcing nonunion men to leave. But there was no disorder!

Our Bay City correspondent is not to be criticized for his concluding sentence. There was no disorder in the sense that nonunion men who wanted to work resisted the union when it drove them out.

What the "no disorder" means is that during the last year in Michigan seizure of factory property by the U. A. W. has become so common that the disorderly and illegal act of seizure itself is overlooked.

A man wearing an old straw hat and overalls wandered along La Salle and Van Buren yesterday morning humming to himself. He was humming "An Old Straw Hat," and the words, you may remember, are: "If I had one wish to make this is the wish I would choose, I'd want an old straw hat, a suit of overalls, and a worn out pair of shoes. . . ."

If I'm to have an epitaph
Let it be one to make men laugh,

For when I've gone (below, I fear)
I shall not care what happens here,

While those who still endure the strife
And endless care that we call life

Have need of all the cheer and jest
That I can leave, en route to rest;

And so I wish my epitaph
To be the kind at which men laugh.

Music After Midnight.

An after-midnight session at Gibby's in North Clark street. Only Gibby and his guests there—among them Eddie Duchin, Toby Wing in a gray tailored suit and a mad hat that whoopsed to a point like a twisted ice bag, and Clifton Webb, who was expected elsewhere, but lingered on for the jam session that developed. Sammy Williams, Gibby's piano player, famed for his playing at a hundred private parties, was at the Hammond organ. Eddie Duchin wandered over and at first played one-hand accompaniments to Williams. Soon they were doing a dozen variations of "Thanks for the Memory," "Ti-pi-tin," and all the new Cole Porter songs. Off the record music.

TRUCKIN'.

A Carole Lombard in green corduroy breeches, puttees, and green knitted blouse walked hatless, her blonde hair flowing in a long bob, across Wabash avenue at 18th street. She was Edie, transport trucker, one of the few women engaged in the precarious business of transport trucking. Properly speaking, it's Edie's husband who gets the hauling jobs, but the ownership of the big ten ton truck is half hers, she has a chauffeur's license, and she's made six cross country trips with him since Christmas, taking turns at the wheel.

THE SOUTH SIDE AREA in the vicinity of 22d street, spreading west, offers an important contribution to the American scene. Here are the transport truckers' parking stations, where weary men pull in at all hours of the day and night, leave their trucks, and go forth to snatch a few hours' sleep in a bed, or in search of recreation. If they're "wildcatters" who own their own trucks and pick up business where they can, they also go in search of a return load. In this area the streets are lined with parked trucks in from long hauls.

A GREAT SILVER TRUCK loaded with butter pulled in at the parking station at 18th and Wabash. It was refrigerated and could stand all night, so the driver went over to the Wabash café at 18th and Wabash to join his fellow truckers for food and beer before turning in. The Wabash café is one of the transport truckers' hangouts. It was from this café we saw the slim and beautiful Edie emerging to cross 18th street in her dark green breeches and puttees, a pair of dice for luck fastened to her belt with her keys.

THERE ARE OUTSTANDING FIGURES among the long-haul brotherhood who come into Chicago. An Arkansas trucker, hailed humorously when he turns up, calls himself the Wildcat Express. Two brothers named Penz from Minneapolis are popular. A Kansas City trucker has a Diesel engine truck that set him back $11,000—and he's had three wrecks with it. He's still got $500 more in payments before it's his. He pulled in the other night, too, and started out for the Wabash café, leaving his truck to be gassed and oiled. The station gives free parking, and acts as postoffice and message repository for the truckers. There is material for a swell movie in the transport truck business. Edie could play the feminine lead.

WHEN THE MASTER GLAND MISBEHAVES.

WE have had a good deal to say about the importance of what the small boy called the PIT-u-ary gland, and what happens to the system when this tiny bit of tissue, particularly the front part, becomes excessively busy. Two conditions ensue—one known as acromegaly, meaning great or large extremities, and the other, giantism. There also is a state midway between the two which combines elements of both.

Many of us have seen persons who are afflicted with acromegaly. The abnormal overgrowth starts in the hands, next the feet, then comes thickening of the skull with an obvious increase in the size of the head or, more properly, of the bones of the face. The lower jaw protrudes and the lips become gross and bulging in consequence. Usually the hands show no deformities; they are simply two or three times their normal size. General symptoms include intense thirst, headaches, and some disturbances of vision.

Should the pituitary become overactive the manifestations of acromegaly, as a rule, come on slowly and gradually. The patient may observe first that the hands and feet are getting bigger, as extra large shoes and gloves are required. The jaw stretches forward and the features of the face become rugged, coarse, and misshapen. The bony ridges above the eye sockets enlarge so that the victim presents a "beetle browed" appearance. The skin does not escape and may hang in loose folds as though getting ready to accommodate a much larger frame. With many the appetite is greatly increased, as is thirst, and hence the volume of urine. The cause, of course, is too much hormone from the pituitary and, for the most part, this is occasioned by a tumorlike enlargement called an adenoma.

Sometimes the gland regrets its behavior and, because of lack of circulation, after a time may show signs of abating its wild spree. If the hands and feet have become huge in the meantime, however, they will so remain. In other words, there is no recession. General symptoms nevertheless will vanish.

Fortunately this unwanted industry on the part of the gland, if it can be recognized early, may be quieted down by the use of X-ray therapy or by what is known as crossfire radiation. Operative procedures are sometimes resorted to with favorable results, but surgical experience with those patients has not been altogether satisfactory. Acromegalics, as a rule, are poor risks. Complete removal of the gland, of course, is neither advisable nor possible, and the surgeon would have difficulty in determining how much tissue to take away, as one deprived of a substantial portion of the structure would face an unhappy life.

While an overplus of this endocrine can produce giants, so too little may bring about stunted development—the short, fat child with infantile sex organs. Another variety of the malady is that in which the youngster acquires grownup features and seems to be a diminutive model of a mature person. In this group overweight is absent. Then there is the Cushing type which occurs in adult life and is characterized by obesity as well as atrophy of the sex organs. Here something happens to cut the circulation below normal or, for some unknown reason, the chemical laboratory within the cells refuses to operate.

The first incident that may call the attention of parents to pituitary trouble in childhood is the appearance of frequent and persistent headaches with vomiting. It may then be noted that the victim is much shorter than other youngsters of the same age. If the failure of the output is caused by some tumorlike mass which has destroyed a portion of the gland, operation offers the only chance for improvement. Occasionally cysts can be tapped and relief will then follow for two or three years. But the watery sack may re-form and may again require draining.

With mild grades of too little secretion the gland extract may be helpful and many cases of loss of hair, delayed sexual development, etc., have been aided by hypodermic injections of antuitrin—one of the hormones.

ELASTIC STOCKINGS HELP.

R. G. writes: I have grown very stout in the last few years, but my legs have not grown in proportion. As a result, my knees buckle under me. Will elastic supports for the knees help?

REPLY.

It is important at the outset to rid your frame of some of the excess fat. An elastic stocking covering the lower part of the thigh and the upper part of the leg, as well as the knee, will be helpful. This can be made to your order and will aid in supporting the joint.

SHE'S ABOVE NORMAL.

Mrs. G. writes: My 16 months' old baby is 32 inches tall, weighs 23 pounds and 6 ounces. She is a bottle baby and has 16 teeth. With the exception of being a little cranky when her teeth are ready to cut through, she is healthy and happy. Is she normal for her age?

REPLY.

I would say that your baby is thriving. Her weight, height, and dentition are normal for a 2 year old girl.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

VALIDITY OF AGREEMENT.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—Legal Friend of the People.]—My father and I made an agreement to the effect that I should support him as long as he lived and in fee take possession and become owner of his property immediately after his death.

1. Does this give me clear title to the property without a warranty deed?

2. I have two brothers and four sisters, but father and I lived alone and they contributed nothing to his support.

MILK: THE DRIVERS' SIDE.

Chicago, May 6.—In yesterday's TRIBUNE you gave prominence to a letter from a "Farm Owner" which laid heavy stress on the low price of milk paid to the farmer and the amount paid to union labor in the milk industry. "Farm Owner" knowingly or unknowingly based his charges on an incomplete picture of the facts.

After the milk leaves the farmers it must be transported to the city in special glass lined tanks, and this costs real money. When the milk reaches the plant it must be filtered, pasteurized, cooled, bottled, and stored, processes which also cost real money and require a heavy outlay. Delivery requires thousands of trucks and wagons, and hundreds of thousands of bottles, and millions of bottle caps; all these cost real money.

The handling, processing, and delivery of milk require expensive plants and equipment, all of which are taxed in a hundred different ways. Doing business brings other taxes such as social security taxes, old age benefit taxes, sales taxes, and what have you. Naturally, this heavy tax burden finds its place in the price of the delivered product.

Thus it is apparent that there is more involved in the price of milk than the amount paid to either the farmer or to labor, and in all fairness to our organization, I believe these other items, plus the staggering tax load, should be called to the attention of your readers.

F. RAY BRYANT,
Trustee, Milk Wagon Drivers' Union.

HAND BOOK AND OLD AGE.

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—My attention has been called to a letter in the Voice of the People headed "Hand Books and Old Age Pensions," in which the writer, John H. Harper, indicates that recipients of old age assistance are frequenting "bookie joints" and losing their entire assistance in the course of a couple of days after they receive the state warant.

We are very much interested in getting more information. Although we have no desire to tell an old age assistance recipient just how to spend his old age assistance granted him from the public treasury, the state department of public welfare should like to know the names of recipients who do gamble away their assistance in this manner. If such facts can be established it would lead to the belief that they were not in need, as required by the old age assistance act, and assistance should consequently be withdrawn.

JOHN C. WEIGEL,
Acting Superintendent, Division of Old Age Assistance.

RAILROADS IN A FIX.

Chicago, May 6.—A brakeman writes in THE TRIBUNE that he has difficulty in managing to live on $180 a month and asks if the railroads' troubles are not overcapitalization or high salaries of officials. The answer is "No" in both cases. The I. C. C. itself has proved that the railroads could not begin to be reproduced at their present capitalization; likewise, the total sum paid all of the executives receiving over $5,000 a year is but an infinitesimal part of the grand total pay roll of the carriers. This is the same bugaboo raised by political demagogs and misinformed agitators. The operating expenses of the railroads have risen because of increases in taxes, materials, and supplies, due primarily to Roosevelt's New Deal policies. The railroads are unable to increase their revenues correspondingly because of the I. C. C.

Unlike the present government, the railroads cannot spend more money than they take in, which inevitably spells bankruptcy.

ERWIN BAUMRUCK.

DEAN.

Chicago, May 7.—Your editorial of May 6 criticized P. K. Wrigley for his recent purchase of Dizzy Dean at the enormous price of $185,000 and three players.

First, I shall endeavor to defend Dizzy Dean. To date he has received credit for winning three games [sore arm and all] for the Cubs. Can the same be said for any of the three players that were sent away in the trade for Dean? Second, it is not known exactly what is wrong with Dizzy Dean's pitching arm, and according to all reports this can be remedied with nothing more than complete rest. Third, it is my humble opinion that if we had more men like P. K. Wrigley who were owners of major league teams and believed as Mr. Wrigley does in giving the fans what he has been trying to do, namely, comfort at the ball game, and if it is humanly possible a pennant winner and world's championship to Chicago [which we have not had since 1917] our game of baseball would be truly the national pastime.

The individual responsible for this article, I believe, owes a public apology [in print] as the least that could be done to offset his entirely unfair criticism of just about the greatest sportsman in our game of baseball today. I do not believe that you would like to have Mr. Wrigley or any outsider try to tell you how to run your newspaper.

EDWARD J. KLEWIN.

ANNAPOLIS AND THE NAVY.

Webster City, Ia., May 8.—Your editorial, "Annapolis and the Navy," points out a state of affairs which has existed in our navy far too long. It is fortunate that the navy building program has given publicity to the system of appointment to the commissioned personnel, and I commend you on publicizing this defective tradition which does not permit officers in the line of service unless they received their commissions from the Naval academy at Annapolis.

Our naval service undoubtedly would be more efficient if it would use all competent material in selecting officers, or if it would again adopt the system of advancing noncommissioned officers to the commissioned rank, or promoting a man to a "mustang," as it is known in the navy. During the world war the navy found it advisable and expedient to call upon enlisted men who had more practical than theoretical knowledge to officer the men. And after the war it was hoped, at least among the enlisted men, that the tradition would be broken forever.

RICHARD L. BARNER.

CORN WALLACE AND CORNWALLIS.

Mendota, Ill., May 7.—July 4 will soon be coming. Is it still appropriate and fitting for us farmers to call that day Independence day?

JOHN G. SCHEIDENHELM.

LOW COST HOUSING.

Mount Prospect, Ill., May 6.—THE TRIBUNE'S efforts to discredit the federal housing projects, in the articles by Joseph Ator, will fail to arouse the indignation of most against the United States housing authority. They may rather serve to remind your readers of the exorbitant rentals Chicago realtors have charged for years for dirty, poorly decorated apartments.

The $30 to $50 income group have been hardest hit by the housing shortage in Chicago, for they have had to pay far more than a fifth of their incomes, the percentage most experts agree should be the amount spent for this item of a family's income.

It may be true, as Mr. Ator points out, that the neediest families cannot afford the federal housing apartments. The neediest families are on relief. And THE TRIBUNE would be the first and the one to howl loudest in protest if houses were provided for those unable to pay even moderate rental rates.

The USHA does offer help to low salaried families, and even though a few of them can live in government projects, any relief whatever from the shortage of low priced, decent apartments is welcome. More "government competition" of this kind is needed!

BEETEE.

MARRIED WOMEN AT WORK.

Chicago, May 5.—If the indignant single girls could see a little farther than the ends of their noses they would realize that the worst menace to their economic future would be legislation against the employment of married women.

In any job a worker's efficiency and value to the employer increases with experience. Since most women marry, why should the employer hire any one who, as soon as she becomes valuable, will leave his service? The better the job, the more this is true. Why should the state spend money to train young women to be teachers when they know that they will work for only a few years? The obvious answer is, the state will not! It will train men to fill the jobs; men who must work all their lives.

If these few words can in any way stop this suicidal attempt of women to force themselves out of the world and its joys, I know your newspaper will print them.

A. E.

BABIES IN THE STREETS.

Chicago, May 5.—The other day two small children were injured by a car driven by a 14 year old boy. Nearly every one, including the mothers of the injured children, has condemned the practice of allowing so young a boy to drive. And 4 and 5 year old children should not be allowed to cross the street alone. Mothers should not expect motorists to assume the entire responsibility. They should take some care of their babies.

STILES ELECTED HEAD OF STATE G.O.P. COMMITTEE

Sycamore Man Serving His First Term.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A. K. Stiles.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—Despite strong, last minute efforts to defeat him A. K. Stiles of Sycamore was elected chairman of the Republican state central committee today when he started his first term on that body which is charged with the conduct of the fall campaign.

Stiles defeated the veteran Chicago committeeman, John F. Tyrrell, who has been acting chairman since the death last year of Perry B. McCullough of Lawrenceville. Committeemen vote the Republican primary strength registered in their district and 403,208 votes were necessary for election. Stiles polled 435,870.

Need Support of All.

"The Republican party in Illinois," Stiles said, "will be revitalized on all fronts. While appreciative of the honor the state committee has given me, I am even more impressed with the obligations and responsibilities involved. I shall do my utmost to meet them. We cannot win without the consolidated help and wholehearted support of all.

"Republican success in 1938 is necessary if American life is to be marked with traditional freedom and prosperity from now on. Democrats cannot longer escape responsibility if they continue to tolerate the present leanings in Washington."

William C. Radliff, Bloomington, was elected first vice chairman; Arthur B. Dehmlow, Chicago, second vice chairman, and Lester J. Norris, Chicago, secretary.

Moore Backs Winner.

A coalition of Chicago and downstate committeemen, reputedly engineered by Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman, elected the new state committee head. Hours of backing and filling in smoke-filled hotel rooms preceded the roll call, but when it was concluded, the Stiles backers had made good on their predictions, down to the last man.

For Stiles were Committeemen Cornelia J. Pickett, Lester J. Norris, Henry H. Harris, Ben Schwartz, Charles L. Sampson, Elliodor M. Libonati, and Arthur B. Dehmlow, all of Chicago; and the following downstaters, Justus L. Johnson, Aurora; Ben L. Berve, Rochelle; Ben T. Reidy, Rock Island; Roy E. Larson, Galesburg; Edward T. O'Connor, Peoria; Richard Yates Rowe, Jacksonville, and H. L. Williamson, Springfield.

Tyrrell's Chicago supporters, besides himself, were Thomas J. Houston and Clement O. Nance. Downstate committeemen for him were William C. Radliff, Bloomington; Robert R. Bookwalter, Danville; John W. Evans, Decatur; R. R. Thomas, East St. Louis; Frank G. Thompson, Mount Vernon; John W. Spence, Fairfield, and John H. Searing, Carbondale.

Stiles Serving First Term.

The election of the first-termer from Sycamore is regarded as another feather in the cap of the Republican County Chairmen's association, which came into being under the leadership of Moore and Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora, state's attorney of Kane county, last January. The organization started work by picking a state slate, headed by Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville for senator, and nominated all except one man on it.

Flushed with this victory, the association reorganized ten days ago, reëlected O'Connor president, and Moore chairman of the executive mittee.

Bruce A. Campbell, retiring chairman of the Democratic state committee, issued a call today for a meeting of that body on May 21. Members of the Horner minority have called a meeting for next Thursday to meet the provision of the primary law requiring a meeting within thirty days of the primary of April 12. It is believed here that the Thursday meeting will be recessed until May 21.

GOV. EARLE HALTS QUIZ, BUT IT IS TO BE RESUMED

Grand Jury to Receive Graft Evidence.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., May 10.—[Special.]—The Dauphin county authorities here at the state capital declared tonight that the investigation into the charges of misrule in the administration of Gov. George E. Earle would go forward despite the postponement of a grand jury inquiry by the State Supreme court.

The Supreme court, sitting at Philadelphia, ordered a stay until May 18, the day following the primary, of the investigation into the widespread reports of graft, corruption, and coercion of government workers. The charges resulted from the bitter Democratic fight for control of the party at the polls.

Earl Admits Getting Loan.

The stay was welcomed by the Earle camp, which has had a difficult time answering the charge. Chief among the accusations was that Gov. Earle had taken sums of money from Matthew H. McCloskey, the state's favored contractor on public works contracts. The governor admitted receiving loans of $26,500 from McCloskey.

Earle, who is running for the Democratic nomination for senator, and his new attorney general, Guy K. Bard, were represented before the Supreme court by William A. Schnader, who had been the attorney general in the cabinet of Gifford Pinchot, former Republican governor.

Though Carl B. Shelley, Dauphin county district attorney, told the court that a delay in the inquiry into the Democratic campaign graft charges would injure and prejudice the public, it was believed that a thorough grand jury investigation might follow through the summer.

Argue for Old Precedent.

The governor's legal battery argued that ancient precedent in the legal lore of the Pennsylvania commonwealth prevented such a grand jury investigation. It was pointed out that in the case of Gov. John Frederick Hartranft, whose term ran from 1876 to 1879, the state Supreme court refused to approve a grand jury investigation on the grounds that it obstructed the functions of government.

However, it was recalled there was a four million dollar capitol scandal in 1906, when a contractor and two others went to the penitentiary for graft, several died or committed suicide and the state recovered $1,500,000.

Earle's running mate for governor is Charles A. Jones, a politically obscure Pittsburgh lawyer. Opposing this ticket in the Democratic primary is the slate of Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for senator and Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, for governor.

HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE.

Charles Rassler, 4325 Hazel avenue, who was arrested Friday as he fled from the home of Mrs. Mary Tauber at 1052 Altgeld street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of burglary yesterday.

Stowaway Again

ROBERT STAP.

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Runaway Bobby Stap is at sea again, just as everybody expected. The missing persons bureau received a report from the captain of the Savannah liner City of Chattanooga announcing that Bobby is aboard. Robert, 13 year old son of a chef on the American Merchant Line, had just returned on the Queen Mary Monday after stowing away on the Cunarder Georgic two weeks before. Six weeks ago Bobby made his first Atlantic crossing by hiding on the Normandie.

STEPHEN DAY WINS BY 6,487 IN FINAL COUNT

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—By the margin of 6,487 votes, Stephen A. Day, Chicago attorney, defeated Frederick A. Virkus, a La Grange publisher, in the Republican primary battle for congressman at large, it was announced today by the state canvassing board.

Final figures showed that Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Democratic nominee for the United States senate, polled 801,761 votes, the highest for any candidate, giving him a plurality of 75,284 votes over Michael L. Igoe, the Kelly-Nash choice.

The total Democratic vote in the primary was 1,744,005, the largest for that party at an Illinois primary. The Republican vote totaled 806,637, making a grand total of $2,550,642.

Inquest Finds Furrier Murdered by Unknowns

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict holding that Rudolph Sabatino, 37 years old, 1140 North Monticello avenue, was murdered April 25 by unidentified persons. The body of Sabatino, a furrier, was found April 26 at Spokane avenue and Hiawatha street.

BRITAIN BEGINS INQUIRY ON MINE BLASTS; 79 DEAD

40 Coal Workers Hurt in Gas Explosions.

Arrow Indicates Site of Explosions.

LONDON, May 10.—British officials tonight launched an investigation into a double mine explosion which occurred early today near Duckmanton, Derbyshire, killing seventy-nine coal miners and injuring more than forty. It was said to have been the worst mining accident in Britain since Sept. 22, 1934.

A member of nearly every household in Duckmanton was a victim when the two gas explosions occurred just after the night shift prepared to ascend in the Markham coal mine.

Women Hurry to Mine.

Rescue work began immediately after the first blast, said to have been in a shale seam 2,550 feet underground, but only twenty-seven of the killed and wounded had reached the surface when the second explosion took place.

Rescue teams then sealed off a part of the workings, and intensified their efforts.

Women hurried to the mine entrance as news of the disaster spread quickly throughout Duckmanton. Sobbing, they waited as the victims were brought to the surface. When they did not find their relatives among the wounded, they hurried to the little village mortuary and sought to identify the bodies there.

Commons Talks of Mine Safety.

Mine officials asserted tonight that all those who had been in the mine had been accounted for.

The house of commons, by coincidence, was discussing mine explosions when Capt. H. F. C. Crookshank, secretary for mines, reported the Duckmanton explosions to the members. Ellis Smith, a Laborite, had recalled an explosion last July near Stoke-on-Trent, where twenty-seven died. He had asked what measures had been taken against similar accidents.

HAGUE'S SUPPRESSION OF LIBERTY DENOUNCED BY EPISCOPAL BISHOPS

Newark, N. J., May 10.—[Special.]—Both the bishop and the suffragan bishop of the Newark diocese of the Episcopal church today assailed Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City for suppression of personal liberty.

"We deplore the arrogance of a public official who asserts his superiority to court and constitution, thus endangering the inalienable rights of free men to their freedom," said Bishop Benjamin Washburn, without using Hague's name.

"Let us not express our disgust at the brutality of Naziism and Fascism and remain silent about Hagueism on our own doorstep," said Suffragan Bishop Charles R. Ludlow. "They are all of a piece and come from the same philosophy."

POLITICAL WAR LIKE SHERMAN'S, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—Political war is hell in Pennsylvania, President Roosevelt implied today.

A reporter asked him to comment on the situation in the Keystone state, where approaching primaries have torn Democratic ranks asunder and set Republicans against Republicans.

The President's only reply was a suggestion that the reporter read Dante's "Inferno." He did not specify whether he had in mind any particular horror among the many viewed by Dante when he journeyed through the infernal regions under the guidance of Vergil.

JUDGE FINES SIX AND DENOUNCES THEM FOR FRAUD

Fixes $3,013 Penalty in Sales Plot.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Jene Bonjennecc, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Steve Warren, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Arzo Barker, Lawrence Hodgins, and Walter Lewis, assault to kill, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

Edward Juritz, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Alex Ross, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lowe.

Jerry Josef, confidence, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Theodore Glowa, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

The Taylor Washing Machine company and six employés were fined a total of $3,013 yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allegretti of the Criminal court on charges of conspiracy to defraud their customers and the public by high pressure sales methods. Judge Allegretti termed their actions the trickery of cold blooded men.

Last March Attorney James M. Burke negotiated a plea of guilty for the defendants on the state's promise to accept fines against the possibility of jail terms imposed after a long trial. Hundreds of wage earners complained that salesmen tricked them into signing contracts, and then garnisheed their wages if a payment was defaulted.

Board Adjusts 170 Contracts.

A board composed of Assistant State's Attorneys Vernon Thompson and Howard Christensen, Attorney Burke, and Walter Delaney, the company's office manager, was set up to adjudicate the disputed contracts. They reported that 170 contracts had been adjusted.

The complaints, according to the prosecutors, fell into three classifications: [1] Customers who accepted machines on a thirty day free trial only to find they had signed a full purchase contract; [2] contracts in which the price had been raised after signature, and [3] customers who accepted installation of machines for display only to find they had contracted to buy them outright.

Ellis R. Taylor, president of the company, and W. J. Kenney and George H. Dye, salesmen, were fined $1,000 each. Delaney was fined $10, and nominal fines of $1 were assessed against the company, C. E. Sears, collection manager, and Thomas J. Moran, an investigator. Unless the fines are paid by May 20 they must be worked out in the Bridewell.

Wolves in Sheep's Clothing.

Judge Allegretti interrupted Attorney Burke as he began a plea for clemency and small fines, contending that the men were not criminals.

"Did you ever hear of wolves in sheep's clothing?" asked Judge Allegretti. "These men have gone beyond even acute business transactions. They have taken the bread and butter from the mouths of needy families. They are a bad lot, worse than robbers and burglars, who at least do not invade a home on the pretense of legitimate business."

Then, turning directly to Kenney and Dye, Judge Allegretti concluded: "You are cold blooded men. The next time you enter a home brush your hand over your conscience. Some day it might be that some one would decide to take the law into his own hands."

Park Board Calls for Bids on Work at 3 Harbors

The Chicago park board yesterday called for bids for the dredging of the entrance of Jackson park harbor and improvement of mooring slips at Diversey and Belmont harbors. The bids are returnable May 20 and work is to be finished by June 15, according to Ralph Burke, park district chief engineer.

New Maid Disappears; Jewelry, Cash Missing

HOWARD GRANTED NEW TRIAL BY APPEALS COURT

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday again reversed and remanded for a new trial the case in which a judgment of $416,833 was entered by Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger of Milwaukee against Sam Howard, federal receiver, and the Continental Casualty company, his surety.

It was the second reversal of the judgment which was entered nearly a year ago after a verdict by a jury holding that Howard was remiss in his duties in depositing funds of bankrupt estates in the Phillip State bank immediately before it closed in 1932.

In its first decision the Circuit court held there was no breach of duty by Howard and directed Judge Geiger to enter a verdict for Howard and the company. Yesterday's reversal followed an opinion of the United States Supreme court holding that the case had properly been submitted to the jury, but directed the appeals court to decide on other errors alleged in the appeal.

BOARD APPOINTS JOHN O. REES AS PARKS ATTORNEY

John O. Rees, formerly director of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, yesterday was named general attorney for the Chicago Park district by the park trustees at their annual meeting. Robert J. Dunham, park board president, said: "The district is fortunate to obtain a man of Mr. Rees' ability."

Rees resigned as head of the citizens' committee in March when it was merged with the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency. He filled the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Attorney Charles Center Case.

Dunham was reëlected president of the board and Philip S. Graver, former South Park commissioner, was reëlected vice president. George T. Donoghue was reëlected general superintendent of the park district for his second four year term.

DEAF MUTE HURT IN BLAST; HOARD OF $2,563 FOUND

Can't Use Signs to Clear Mystery.

A mysterious explosion that tore four fingers and a thumb from the hands of Ladke Leavitt, 71 years old, a deaf mute who can neither read nor write and who, without his fingers, has no means of communication, presented a strange puzzle last night to Supervising Police Captain John Stege.

The explosion occurred last Sunday afternoon in the second floor apartment at 1829 Taylor street, where Leavitt lived alone. When police took him to the County hospital they found $1,813 on his person, $800 of which was sewed in the lining of his vest. Police also found a bank book showing deposits of $750, making Leavitt's total hoard $2,563.

Smell Gunpowder in Flat.

Detectives George Vaska, William McDonough, and John Callopy, who investigated, said they smelled gunpowder when they entered the apartment—perhaps 45 minutes after the explosion. As near as they could determine Leavitt had been seated in a chair near the front window at the time.

The cause of the explosion was a mystery and Leavitt couldn't tell. Two public school teachers of the manual sign language questioned Leavitt, but apparently he couldn't understand them. Neither could he read their lips.

Capt. Stege said he was certain Leavitt was not experimenting with gunpowder, dynamite, or nitroglycerin. It was not likely, he said, that any one had sent an infernal machine to him.

Money Surprises His Brother.

His brother, Bernard Leavitt, 1402 Winnemac avenue, who said he was surprised to hear that Ladke had any money, tried to question the injured man, but received no responses to the questions he propounded with his own fingers. An employé of the Athletic Shoe company, 924 North Marshfield avenue, where Leavitt worked for the past 32 years, also sought to help the police. At work he was able to communicate with Leavitt, but he said he couldn't at the County hospital—Leavitt just did not respond.

DANIELSEN BOY READY TODAY TO START TO PRISON

Theodore Danielsen Jr., 16 years old, will be ready today for Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court to sign the necessary papers so he can start for Joliet penitentiary to serve a fourteen year sentence for the knife murder of his mother.

Attorney Leonard Reid announced yesterday that the elder Danielsen, after wavering in his decision, had decided finally not to appeal from Judge Harrington's decision. The court convicted young Danielsen without a jury. The youth killed his mother last March 3 in their home at 5316 Lieb avenue.

REWARD OFFERED FOR CAPTURE OF ANTIOCH SLAYER

Reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Jerome Welsch of Racine, Wis., wanted for the murder in 1932 of William Hancock, elderly farmer of near Antioch, was offered yesterday by the Lake county board of supervisors. Welsch is charged with being the brains of a gang of four men, now in custody, who beat Hancock to death during a robbery in his isolated farm house.

After a long legal battle Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin honored requisition papers for Welsch sent by Gov. Horner from Illinois, but attorneys for Welsch won his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he was not in Illinois on the day of the murder. The $1,000 reward was offered in the hope that Welsch may enter Illinois at some future time. Of the four others held in the murder, two will go to trial on May 31, one will be tried later, and one already has pleaded guilty.

500 Republicans to Honor Lyons on His 42d Birthday

Five hundred Republicans will observe the 42d birthday of Richard J. Lyons, their candidate for United States senator, tomorrow at a dinner at the Hotel La Salle. The affair was planned by Mrs. Charles Krutckoff, president of the Woman's Republican Club of Illinois. Cook county Republican candidates nominated at the April primary election will be guests, and an historical program, with Mrs. Helen R. Adams and Mr. Lyons as speakers, will be presented.

NONE IN CROWD AT CHURCHYARD SEES MAN SLAIN

Benton, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—Authorities endeavoring to solve the churchyard slaying of Harry Waller said today they were mystified by the lack of information forthcoming from the group of churchgoers on the scene of the fatal shooting.

Waller was slain by a shotgun blast fired at close range Saturday night as he stood among a crowd of worshipers who lingered on the moonlit lawn of the Pleasant Hill Missionary Baptist church after attending services.

Although Waller was shot down almost in their midst, none of those persons near him saw him shot or saw the death weapon, they told police. Sherif S. B. Vaughn was holding as a witness James Waller, a distant relative of the victim.

JEWISH WOMEN BACK ROOSEVELT ATTACK ON ISMS

Warn Against Spread of Nazi Propaganda.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A warning against alien efforts to break down American democratic institutions, made by President Roosevelt, was praised yesterday in a resolution by the Women's league of the United Synagogue of America, in session in the Morrison hotel. President Roosevelt sounded this warning at a national meeting of B'nai Brith, Jewish fraternal order, in Washington.

The resolution, adopted at the close of the Women's league convention, referred to the rise of Nazi propaganda in this country and urged that effective counteractive measures be taken in support of the President's warned. The resolution also appealed to the newspapers of the country to make public the falsity and injustice of Nazi propaganda now seeping in, and called attention to the patriotism of Jewish people in America from the time of the war of the revolution until today.

Hits Nazi Propaganda.

President Roosevelt's message to B'nai Brith followed an address before the Washington convention by Attorney Sigmund Livingston, 160 North La Salle street, president of the order, who accused Nazi Germany of spreading anti-American propaganda in this country. The Roosevelt message in part was:

"For almost a century B'nai Brith has effectively served the well being of American Jewry and the nation. Its philanthropic achievements are permanently enshrined within the walls of hospitals, orphanages, and homes for the aged which bless humanity in every section of our land. Its endeavors in the realm of education exhibit a farsighted understanding of the problems of the younger generation.

"No less important is B'nai Brith's program of Americanism which fortifies the effort to keep America safe for democracy, while its program of good will strives toward harmony among the component elements comprising our American society."

18 "Trained and Returned."

Speaking as the chairman of the fraternal order's anti-defamation league, Livingston stated in Washington that eighteen American youths of German parentage were sent to Germany on March 28 to be trained as propagandists and then returned to this country.

Mayor Kelly addressed the closing meeting of the women's league yesterday. He said coöperation between the Christian and the Jew in the wider fields of the humanities of democracy is the essence of the American constitution.

"This coöperation," said Mayor Kelly, "can best be achieved by vigorous and powerful religious and racial groups that can create a moral fiber within themselves of a strength necessary for the development of mutual respect among all peoples."

CONNIE BENNETT SUES ANEW OVER RADIO COMMENT

Los Angeles, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—Constance Bennett of the films filed a new libel suit today against Jimmy Fidler, radio commentator on movie subjects. She asked for $350,000 damages, alleging he defamed her character.

In her complaint, Miss Bennett referred to specific broadcasts by Fidler in May, October, and December, 1937, and said she was made the object of ridicule and contempt by Fidler concerning her alleged snubbing of Patsy Kelly, a fellow actress.

Miss Bennett has another suit against Fidler pending, in which she asked $250,000 damages. That suit concerned a broadcast in the month of May, 1937.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Holding that old familiar songs are best played the way they were written Harold Stokes on the W-G-N Mutual Melodies from the Sky program at 9:30 tonight will present a traditional version of "Just a Wearyin' for You," with Arthur Wright as soloist supported by a choral unit and the orchestra.

Each week on this program he will offer a familiar song and give it the kind of musical treatment he believes it deserves rather than the handling the swing bands have been giving such numbers as "Loch Lomond," "Annie Laurie," and all the rest.

At the same hour WBBM-CBS will have as a guest on It Can Be Done, the Edgar Guest show, Leo Fitzpatrick, Detroit station executive, who started a one man revolt against jazzing the good old songs. He may have something further to say on this subject when Mr. Guest interviews him.

Del Owen, formerly a W-G-N musical director, and now in radio producing for himself, has pitched up a musical combination which is unique. He calls it a Sweetheart orchestra with eight girls and eight men, six on each side being paired as real sweethearts. Then there are a boy and a girl as comedians, also in love; and two girl singers and two men, also romancing each other. Mr. Owen, of course, does not know whether this blissful state will continue until he gets a sponsor. But with May in full swing and June just around the corner he is hopeful.

Studio associates are extending sympathy to Merrill Fugit Jr., whose father died, and to Pat Barrett who lost his mother. Fugit is featured in Dan Harding's Wife, and Barrett plays Uncle Ezra. Bob Tellison is taking over Fugit's duties temporarily.

Halloween Martin, voice of the Musical Clock on WBBM, is to interview Truman Bradley, WBBM sportcaster and commentator, between 8 and 8:30 this morning. Bradley, recently named one of the ten best dressed men of Chicago, will tell how he does it.

Dr. Patrick H. Weeks, chief physician and psychiatrist of the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, is off the True Crime Tales program on WIND while finishing his volume "The Big House of Mystery," which is due off the press soon.

Lloyd Cutler, who broadcasts on farm matters over WIND, received a letter from a poultryman who revealed a new use for his radio the other day. He keeps a receiver running in his brooder house to scare mice and rats away from the baby chicks. And he picked WIND as his station because it is on the air 22 hours a day. That gives him only a couple of hours just before dawn to worry about his rodent problems.

TREATMENTS FOR VENEREAL ILLS RISE AT CLINIC

A total of 87,219 treatments for venereal disease were given in 1937 by the Illinois Social Hygiene league medical clinic at 9 East Huron street, Dr. Rachelle S. Yarros, secretary, reported at the league's annual meeting yesterday in the Chicago Woman's clubs. This was 13,650 more treatments than in the previous year. In the first three months of 1938 treatments increased 584 over those in the corresponding period of 1937.

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, president, Dr. Yarros, and other officers of the league were reëlected.

"We feel proud of our record during the year, when 70 per cent of our patients stayed under treatment long enough to receive the minimum number of treatments recommended to halt the infectious stage of the disease," said Dr. Yarros. "We had great success with the new drug, sulphanilimide, except in treating gonorrhea among women."

Of the treatments given, 51,709 were for syphilis, 12,751 for gonorrhea, and the remainder for gynecological cases. Medical relief cases numbered 20,279. Free cases, numbering 23,871, increased by 6,352 the number in 1937. More than 32,800 patients paid something, from 10 cents to whatever they could afford.

FAMOUS BRITISH AUTHORITY ON FISHING, 81, DIES

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 10.—William Radcliffe, 81 years old, authority on fishing and its history, died at Deal, Kent, today. His "Fishing from the Earliest Times" was a best seller.

A commercial adventure in Colorado, where in 1885 he established fish hatcheries in the old Ute Indian reservation, ended in disaster and a long wrangle between the foreign offices of Great Britain and the United States.

Radcliffe, who had built a hotel near the hatcheries, employed guards to curb poaching and in one affray a man was killed. Local residents raided the hotel, which was burned to the ground, and destroyed the hatcheries. Radcliffe received £10,000 [$50,000] in compensation.

ALASKA PROJECT FARMERS FACE LOSS OF SUBSIDY

PALMER, Alaska, May 10.—(AP)—Matanuska valley's colonists, on the third anniversary of their government sponsored experiment in beating the drouth, were confronted today by an order shutting off federal subsidies by next fall.

Director Leo B. Jacobs informed the 168 families they would be "on their own" starting next Oct. 1 when their "security development" income of around $75 a month will be discontinued.

RULES SALES TAX CAN'T FOLLOW US TO OUR GRAVES

Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski agreed yesterday that a man shouldn't have to pay sales tax on the coffin he is buried in. The judge therefore issued an injunction restraining Samuel L. Nudelman, state director of finance, from collecting the occupational sales tax from the 700 undertakers who operate in Illinois. The law exempts from the tax all burial equipment, but the state has collected a million dollars in taxes, the undertakers charged. Judge Klarkowski ordered that this amount be set aside, pending a full hearing of the suit, which is in the name of Thomas J. Ahearn, an undertaker at 3246 Jackson boulevard.

Junior League Officers to Go to Conference

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Chicago Junior league will be represented by Mrs. Gordon Lang and Miss Honor Merrell, and the Evanston Junior league by Mrs. Robert Stockton and Mrs. Howard Yegge at the eighteenth annual conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America next week in Pittsburgh. The conference opens on Monday and continues through Friday.

Another Chicagoan will be there, Miss Marjorie Kimball, for she is the nominee for the office of director of region 7, which means that when she is elected she will be the representative of nineteen leagues in nine middle western states and the province of Manitoba. Mrs. Lang is the Chicago league's newly elected president and Miss Merrell is its first vice president. Mrs. Stockton is Evanston's recently elected president and Mrs. Yegge is the new second vice president of that league.

Neither Mrs. Lang nor Mrs. Stockton takes office until June, so Mrs. Charles H. G. Kimball and Mrs. Arthur W. Rogers still head the Chicago and Evanston leagues, but neither is going to the conference. Representatives of 148 leagues in the United States, Canada, and Mexico, as well as the association's officers, regional directors, and professional staf will be in Pittsburgh. Miss Helen Leovy of Pittsburgh is the nominee for president to succeed Mrs. Peter L. Harvie of Troy, N. Y., who has headed the association for the last two years.

Miss Merrell Heads Nursery Benefit.

Miss Merrell, whose interests are wide and varied, has been appointed chairman of the committee that is planning the annual supper-dance the North Avenue Day Nursery board will give next fall. Oct. 1 is the date selected and the Ambassador hotel East is the place. Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr. is president of the nursery board.

The Donnelleys, who were aboard their motor sailer Mako, gave a cocktail party at the Kitten Key and a dinner at Clifford Hall for the Flynns before the latter left aboard their new ketch, Sirocco, for Hollywood.

From England comes the news that Mr. and Mrs. Allan Crawfurd-Price [Helen Jeffries], who were married in Highland Park last winter, have leased one of England's historic literary houses, Kingsley house, at Harrow, the birthplace of Charles Kingsley, the poet.

Mrs. Price's sister, Miss Virginia Jeffries, and their father, Robert M. Jeffries, are traveling in the southwest now. They will return in time for Miss Jeffries to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Jane Hart to John H. Harmon Jr. on May 21.

Mrs. Butland Leaves War Torn China.

Michael F. Gallagher and his little granddaughter, Ina Butland, are looking forward to being joined next month by Ina's mother, Mrs. Charles Butland, and her infant son, Mike, who are sailing on May 27 on the Empress of Japan from Hongkong. A recent air raid on Changsha, where Mr. Butland's business is located, made the former Garrigue Gallagher decide that she and Mike would fly to Hongkong to take ship for this country. Mr. Butland will join them as soon as he is able to wind up his business in China.

Ina, who is not quite three, has crossed the Pacific five times, for she was born in China, and before she and her nurse arrived a month or two ago to join Mr. Gallagher she had come with her mother twice to visit here. Mr. Gallagher's beautiful house in Highland Park is rented, so he is taking a house in Wisconsin, probably on the Door peninsula, for the summer where he will have his daughter and her babies with him. David Gallagher, who is studying law at Yale, also will be there for the summer.

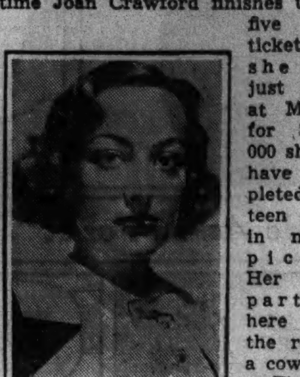
Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Column on Crawford.

Hollywood, Cal., May 10.—By the time Joan Crawford finishes up the five year ticket which she has just signed at M.-G.-M. for $1,500,000 she will have completed nineteen years in moving pictures. Her first part out here was the rôle of a cowgirl in a Tim McCoy western flicker, 1925. That's a passel of years ago.



Joan Crawford fights to top.

When Joan trained in from Kansas City to Hollywood in 1925 the industry was raving over Lon Chaney's performances in "Unholy Three" and "Phantom of the Opera"; Chaplin's brilliance in "Gold Rush"; Emil Jannings' characterization in "Last Laugh"; John Gilbert and Renee Adoree in "Big Parade"; Mae Murray and John Gilbert in "Merry Widow," and Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman."

The Hollywood that Joan Crawford saw was as different from today's town as is the poised Crawford of 1938 from the hot-cha Crawford of 1925. "I was three inches shorter then and I weighed 135 pounds." Today she weighs 115 pounds, so if you reconstruct a Joan Crawford who was three inches shorter and 20 pounds heavier dressed in the bizarre creations of the period, you'll get the general effect of the youngster who had graduated from a Shubert Winter Garden chorus.

"The legend is that I was so beautiful," says Joan, "that the Shuberts moved all the other girls back on the Winter Garden stage so that I could be seen to better advantage. As a matter of cold fact, I was in the second or third row rear, and the night that Al Altman, Harry Rapf, and Bob Rubin came in to see the show it was just by accident that I was in the front line. Some of the girls had taken their Christmas vacations, so they moved some others up front, and I was one of them.

"Had I known that the three Loew officials were in to see the show it wouldn't have made me nervous. I didn't know their names and I didn't think much of moving pictures. If they'd said that Ziegfeld or Dillingham was in the audience I would have been scared to death, because to me they were the real big shots of the business.

"It was through them, Al, Harry, and Bob, that I got my first screen test. It didn't turn out very well, so they called N. T. Granlund and told him to tell me that I'd have to take another test. It seems funny now, but I told 'Granny' that I didn't have the time, because I was going home to spend the Christmas vacation with my mother.

"He looked at me completely startled. 'You haven't the time?' he repeated, and he gave me a crack on the head. 'Get over there right away. Do you want to do a broken down time step the rest of your life in a Broadway chorus?' So I went over to the studio unhappily and made the test and that's how I got a contract."

The M.-G.-M. biographies of Joan list "Pretty Ladies" as her first picture. She says that instead it was "Winners of the Wilderness," with Tim McCoy, in which she was a cowgirl. "The two things I had in abundance were ambition and courage. One day they'd tell me to diet. I'd start dieting at the next meal. They'd say my makeup was too heavy. I'd lighten it up. There was nothing I wouldn't do to become successful, and I did what they told me to do. After working in a Kansas City department store, show business was a lark to me and I wanted to be successful and get some money. My mother and I had gone without it so long that it became an obsession with me to get enough to be secure and well fed and well clothed."

To follow her through the next five years, as she carved out the foundation of a success she wanted so badly, would be well nigh impossible. Undoubtedly, however, there were at least 1,000 other bit players who started when she did in Hollywood. The fact that of all the kids who started from the same scratch line only Joan became a star testifies to the intensity of her ambition.

That ambition never was quenched. The Charleston dancer from Broadway, having pulled herself up to the top by her own bootstraps, didn't let go. She has been pulling and hauling at her own bootstraps ever since, and this almost fierce tenacity of purpose is the most remarkable feature of her career. A magic wand gave Cinderella a coach-and-four to take her to the party. Joan Crawford had no magic wand. She paid for her slippers out of her salary. Unlike Cinderella, too, Joan refused to have a midnight time limit set on her success. In stretching it out to 19 years the former Shubert chorine has achieved something of personal magnificence.

She knew what she wanted, and she got it, the hard way. It took push and perseverance and pluck and hard work, and she had them. They tried to break down her confidence by sneers and ridicule that wounded, but failed to disable her. Today, in her 14th year, and with a five year contract tucked away in the safe, the former Lucille Le Soeur has the last laugh. Five years from now you can bet that her ambition will be flaming just as brightly, because it's written in the books that she'll always be in there pitching.

Fashion Tea Is Run as Nicely as a Reception

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The tea part of the usual fashion show-tea is much the smaller part of the afternoon's entertainment, but this was not true at the delightful party given yesterday at the Woman's Athletic club by the women of St. James' church. The tea was as delicious and as beautifully served as if it had been a wedding reception instead of a charity affair. The two long tea tables looked as though they had been set for a wedding reception, too, with white cloths and huge centerpieces of white flowers.

Having just seen a stunning wedding, the finale of the fashion show, the 300 guests felt as if they really were at a reception.

A smart audience enjoyed the styles which were displayed by professional models. Flowers were prominent both on the models and the audience. Mrs. James M. Hopkins wore a corsage of raspberry color tulips, matching in color her gloves; her suit and turban were of black. With her were her daughters, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. and Miss Kay Goodman, and their paternal grandmother, Mrs. William O. Goodman.

Miss Betty Armour, Miss Nancy Ryerson; her mother, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson; Miss Mary Gardner, Miss Valeria Harris, young Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, and Miss Goodman were among those who poured.

Some of those who enjoyed the show and the tea were Miss Armour's grandmother, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine; Mrs. Ryerson's mother, Mrs. John F. Ducey of Boston; Mrs. J. W. Canada of Memphis, who was Mrs. Orville Taylor's guest; Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, Mrs. Wentworth P. Mackenzie and her daughter, and Mrs. Arthur Rogers.

Others were Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Hathaway Watson, Mrs. Henry Hooper, Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, Mrs. Charles G. King, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. George A. Ranney and her daughter, Mrs. Gaylord Donnelley, Mrs. Aldis Browne, Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, just back from California; Mrs. Taylor Strawn, Mrs. Duncan Browne, Mrs. Alan Dixon, Miss Lila Woodruff, and the co-chairman of the committee in charge, Mrs. Clarence A. McCarthy, and Mrs. George Wilson.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace A. Bowman of Oak Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian, to Robert William Lade of Milwaukee, formerly of Oak Park.

Lifetime Wave Known to Gus for 15 Years

BY MARCIA WINN.

Gus Condos, the Dizzy Dean of Chicago hairdressing, set out last night to expose what he calls the "crack pot" development in modern hairdressing—the life time wave.

Irene Nilson.

The life time wave, supposed to make straight hair resemble for eternity the waves of the unplumbed sea, is the creation, or at any rate the patent, of Kenneth Christy of Parkers Landing, Pa. But Mr. Condos, speaking with fire, gestures, and an accent that would crack a pecan before some 500 worried members of the Illinois Hairdressers' association at the Hotel Sherman, says it is as old as the art of hairdressing—and only about one-third right.

"Why," he told the group, speaking from the accepted authority of his quarter of a century as a hairdresser, "I myself can put a curl in a horse's tail—with water."

Mr. Condos then settled down to what he says is a simple explanation of the whole matter. He has known it all along; he put it into practice frequently back in 1922-'23 when the short bob and the wind blown bob were in high fashion. BUT, he added, you can't do it with straight hair.

Hair, Mr. Condos said, selecting a nice, nearby head of black [Irene Nilson], comes in three textures or shapes: the round hair, which is straight as a poker, as on the Indian or Chinese; the flat hair, which is very curly or fuzzy, as on the Negro; and the oval hair, which seemingly is straight but has a latent tendency to wave.

"I found that out back in 1922," he said, as with shears, razor, and water he started to work on the nearby head of black hair, "when a woman with long hair came to me and wanted it cut short for the summer.

"As I cut it loosened up and I saw it had a slight, indefinite wave, so I cut along with this. Pretty soon friends of hers came to me, asking for a 'curly haircut,' because that's what she had.

"But," he added, "it's impossible to give a haircut to straight hair and make it curly.

"Now I can put a wave in a horse's tail—with water and proper cutting"—much, much applause—"but not more than 30 per cent of the white race has hair that can be trained to wave.

Many of the people applying to this fellow Christy have been turned down. And why? Can't you read between the lines? Because it is straight hair!

"Now at our Midwest convention here March 4, Christy was here, talking about how he could do this and do that. So one of our vice presidents asked: 'Could you cut your wave in my hair, too?' and he said: 'Sure, absolutely.' He gave him a finger wave and said: 'You see? Your hair is wavy?'

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," and Mr. Condos doubled over in laughter. "That man is here tonight. Mr. Emil Rhode?"

And Mr. Rhode advanced. In one hand he held a picture of his hair as waved in March, but the hair on top of his head was sparse, black, and—very straight.

"Has it got a wave," Mr. Condos asked sadly, "or has it got a wave?"

All this time, however, Mr. Condos had been cutting, and wetting, that head of black hair. Suddenly he stepped back and pushed his model forward. Her hair was short, wavy, almost windblown.

"No one," he said proudly, "no one has any more right to say I can't cut hair curly than to say I can't cut my own legs."

Flowers Trim Felt Cartwheel for Summer

It's No Trick to Be Stylish on Slim Budget

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With so much new summer loot around the town even a hardened fashion sleuth gets excited. So much is tagged with medium and low prices that either slim or plump budgets can make their owners visions of swank this summer.

Gloves as a good starter. The fabrics are the best buys. If you crave mesh and pastel colors together with a bit of feminine embellishment see the powder pink, blue, yellow, or cool whites with the entire back of the hand spattered with tiny pink rosebuds and green leaves. Both short and long lengths have this floral flippancy, and the mesh black numbers are as coquettish as anything you'll ever find.

Less decorative, but quite the smartest of gloves, are the new fabrics in gray white and soft beige, with stunning details of hand work, tucks, fancy stitching, hand run seams, and interestingly cut cuffs. The grays are the big surprise, for the tone is soft, flattering, and easy to wear. The whites also should be popular; they are priced around a dollar and give the greatly desired frisk of white for dark street costumes for summer.

In the lingerie sections you'll find some pin dotted creations for away under $5 for the career girls who yern for summer negligées and nightgowns that can be managed with a meager clothes allowance. The nightgowns come in two styles, one sleeveless with an old-fashioned double fluting around the square cut tailored neckline and arms. The material is white, the pin prick dots in either blue or red.

Other nightgowns [at higher prices] come with short sleeves and a fluted ruffle around the hem and the top. With these come the house coats of the same dotted material in reverse color scheme, the backgrounds either red or blue and the tiny dots in white.

These house coats are cut in the same form revealing streamline as the gowns, have short sleeves and the fluted double ruffle trim. Grand finds no matter how much or little you have to spend.

Fashion photograph . . . The felt cartwheel for summer . . . this model is made of chiffon soft peacock blue felt. The brim dips alluringly over the eyeline and the crown and band are made of beautifully fashioned flowers, foliage, and buds, in rose red, soft yellow, blue, and several shades of green.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The baby panda, executed in soap, will take your mind off your troubles. She's a marvelous tonic for the spirits. The children, of course, are insane about her, but we've yet to see an adult who didn't break into delighted grins at a glimpse of her.

Mei-Mei [soap version] doesn't stand very high or weigh very much, but the creature has charm. She's snow white, but with dead black arms, legs, and ears, and her white face has those beguiling black markings that give Mei-Mei herself such a bewildered expression. She is also clutching a carrot. There have been a lot of attractive soap figures, but there is something about the baby panda that gets us.

It's surprisingly inexpensive, this fantastic little figure, and the quality of the soap is very high; you needn't be one bit afraid to subject your young child to it—or yourself, for that matter. The black markings are achieved with a harmless vegetable coloring that washes off. It's all great fun. Our only feeling would be regret at having to use it up; we'd just like to keep the black and white charmer around.

Mei-Mei comes in a dashing red, black and white box, and stands up without flopping over. If there are any children you're fond of by all means invest in this; they'll love it. Grownups with a panda weakness—and there seem to be millions of 'em—will like it just about as much.

Mei-Mei in soap would make most attractive party favors, whether the party is for youngsters or grownups.

Good Morning!

"Parents take a lot of understanding!"

A sage and undoubtedly true comment proffered by the poor little rich heroine of this picture.

"Beloved Brat" is plainly out to point a moral—and does so, providing pretty fair entertainment the while.

Roberta, the "brat," is brattish because she is lonely, resentful at what she feels is unjust treatment, and too high spirited to take, lying down, what she feels she shouldn't have to take.

Her resourcefulness in outwitting guardians and her determination to get even with hated persecutors land her in the courts and, finally, a school prescribed by a far-sighted judge who is also a friend of her father and mother. The influences of this institution are instrumental in gentling the colt and opening the eyes of parents who had not been purposefully neglectful.

Bonita Granville, the enfant terrible of "These Three," gives a fine performance as the unhappy, rebellious Roberta. Donald Crisp as her father and Natalie Moorhead as her mother do well. Dolores Costello is charming, though a trifle too saccharine as the superintendent of the institution in which a new Roberta is evolved, and other players are satisfactory. You'll get some laughs from a little Negro girl who has a "bit" here and there. The film is laudably short.

See you tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her son, Oliver, and her daughter, Dorothea, resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. Dorothea wants to have her own London flat. Oliver hopes to marry into wealth. Elizabeth goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest. En route she stops overnight in Paris where she meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning to England after years of absence, and is to meet his children in Paris. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative. His daughter, Shirley, is with his wife's relatives. Shirley has become involved in a scandal with an aviator who was engaged to another girl. Her mother's people, so they have written him, can do nothing with her.

INSTALMENT IX.

TRUANTS.

Victoria at last, the luggage office, a taxi to Euston, Shirley took them literally in her stride, Miss Mortimer still plodding behind. Here indeed she was at a double disadvantage, for she was not practiced in leaping from one school train to meet a second arriving somewhere else and snatch an hour with her brother. For five years now the intercourse of the young Leicesters had been confined to such occasions on railway platforms or at station buffets; for nearly twelve months, the girl's school days being over, they had not met at all.

"I say!" cried William emerging from his carriage almost on top of his sister. "How on earth did you pull it off?"

"Jay's tagging behind," she mentioned, "but it doesn't matter. We'll park her. Come along."

"We'd better take William's bag to Victoria and then get some breakfast," she observed as her aunt came up. and Miss Mortimer with a sigh of relief at this prospect followed them to a taxi, William politely sustaining the conversation with her throughout the drive.

Three years younger and already two inches taller than his sister, he owed to Uplands perhaps his natural good manners. He had seen little of his mother's side of the family, for schoolboy noise and schoolboy appetite had been excellent reasons why it was never quite convenient for Shirley to have her brother to stay, though grandmother's nerves were the reasons advanced.

Jay was quite charmed with him and, in her own estimation, by the time they reached Victoria she and William were already fast friends.

"Nowhere else likely to be open yet, so we'd better go in here," said Shirley when the luggage was disposed of, leading the way to the station restaurant.

A fire was burning and Miss Mortimer sank gratefully into a chair beside it, while William pulled up a table and thrust the menu into her hands. Then, before she quite knew how it had happened, they were off of one accord, Shirley flinging her word that they would be back in good time for the train.

She started up, but it was no use, they were already racing to the exit. It was most extraordinary. She was convinced they had not had an opportunity to speak three words behind her back, and the way they had gone without even exchanging a signal or a glance . . . for she had been looking at William.

Miss Mortimer was "parked" indeed, and certain it was a plot, all planned beforehand, with the connivance no doubt of that scandalous young airman.

The fugitives meanwhile, with almost three glorious hours ahead of them, had mounted a bus at random until a sight of Westminster bridge tempted them to get down and explore. They walked along the embankment, pausing to watch the barges on the river stirring to life, and gulls wheeled down to them expectantly, hoping for food.

Further on they caught sight of a coffee stall actually still functioning, and were off to breakfast royally on sausages and bacon garnished by a round of fried bread and cooked before their enchanted eyes.

William, having wealth at the moment, paid the reckoning, and much later having announced a desire to go and see Tower bridge at close quarters when time was running short, hailed a taxi and said they'd have ten bobs' worth. "As near as possible to the bridge and back to Victoria by 10:30."

They had reckoned without the morning trafic in the city and did not in fact reach Victoria until ten minutes before the Continental express was due to leave.

Their late arrival found Miss Mortimer on the verge of tears, and their father's sister, spectacled and calm as usual, strolling beside her.

"All my fault, Aunt Lilian. We have been circumnavigating London and were hung up in the trafic," cried William.

"Shirley! Your face, but darling, you do look funny," cried her Aunt Jay. Shirley during the drive had taken out a lipstick and used it much to William's edification.

Miss Leicester, however, gazed mildly from one truant to the other, and then handed them tickets, money, and their passports which she had had for safekeeping. Their father would meet them at the Gare du Nord, she said, and she supposed they would know him again or that he would know them. In case not, being a practical woman, she gave them the name of his hotel and hurried them into the Pullman.

"Dear me, what luxury!" exclaimed their Aunt Jay in congratulation. "But that child and her lips! I am afraid she doesn't know what she looks like, Miss Leicester."

"Like all the other girls, I imagine," said Miss Leicester as one who saw no reason for excitement.

Shirley Leicester, pacing the upper deck or leaning over the side to watch the swirling waters, listened to William's talk, personal, technical, and merely exclamatory.

"Of course he may put his hoof down and say the exchequer won't stand it. There's always that," said William. "I mean if he'd got it into his head that I ought to get out and earn my keep. . . . When a chap retires, you see, the old income may be a bit on the short side."

"O, I shouldn't worry about that," said his sister quickly.

Yet for a moment she was drowning in dark waters under a spinning sky, the past months spread out before her. . . . Doris Glayde racing past in the little car, a suitcase strapped behind it. . . . Tony Voisin standing beside his plane, the Tea Tray, in the field and remarking: "I say, that being so and the day still young, would you like to go up?" . . . Aunt Hester, Mrs. Glayde, grandmother, Jay, a multitude of hateful voices.

"You lied, once a liar always a liar." . . . "You have broken her heart, my poor Doris." . . . "Where have you been, Shirley?" . . . Followed about, doors opening suddenly, heads nodding, whispers. Notice in The Times down at the bottom, "Marriage will not take place." "And that is your doing. That poor unfortunate girl is quite heartbroken, your aunt says." Letters, letters, letters. "Your father's coming home and he will deal with you." Hammering, excitement, new carpets, walls knocked down, rooms changed. "Andrew is coming home." . . . "He will come to us, of course." . . . "Very young to retire. I know, a great pity, but as things are . . ." "A father's hand . . . Jay, of course, is devoted . . . quite a case. . . . You should see his letters, my dear. . . ."

"So on the whole just as well he's come and I'll know one way or another," said William, whom for once she had not heard, "though as a matter of fact I've got to do some stewing if the exam is ahead."

"Don't worry. You can read in bed, blockhead . . . of course it will be all right."

"Think so?" said William, pleased. "O, good . . . you are probably right."

He was cheered. He believed her. Just as it had always been in spite of these five years.

Young to retire? But he must let William. William mustn't suffer. She'd work and make money to help if there was not enough. She'd point out all he had spent sending her to the beastly relatives. He had no business to be helping outsiders when there was William's career.

Zuppke Paints His Landscapes from Memory

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibit of some twenty paintings by Robert C. Zuppke, University of Illinois football coach, is on view this week in the Colonial Art galleries, Palmer house. The paintings are handled in a broad, dramatic fashion and are full of color and dash.

It is amusing to get Zuppke's own reactions to them and to learn that he paints as a relief from football and that none is painted on the scene. He paints his large landscapes anywhere from a year to ten years after he has visited a place and trusts to his memory and his sense of the picturesque for their veracity.

Take "Rattlesnake Country, Arizona," which is painted in virulent colors and boasts a sky which seems fairly writhing with poisonous rattlers. It impresses you at once as being a good country to avoid. Zuppke says that he tried to paint the impression that was made on him by the remarks of men who have lived there. "It's so gol' darn full of rattlers," said they, "the sky rains 'em, you walk on 'em and you well nigh eat 'em." That's the kind of a picture it is, creeping with rattlers.

"Along the Straits of the Alaskan Coast" is one of the finer paintings, being done in a thoughtful manner, slowly, carefully and in a technique that is pleasurable to the eye. The balance and solidity of the composition are intriguing.

Coach Zuppke says that football and art are closely allied. In both one needs rhythm and balance. He also says he sees no reason for art being long; it takes him a frightfully short time to paint a picture, and when he was out west he found most of the artists talking and not working—he could paint six pictures to their one. And, though this he did not say, these rapid-fire pictures of his are good. Football seems a very fair way in which to serve an apprenticeship to painting.

Include Scalp in Treatment of Acne Blight

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Let's devote another day to the troubled skin, since I am hearing so many complaints on the subject. As said before, this is the time of year when one becomes more than ever conscious of a blemished skin.

We have spoken already of blackhead elimination, of oily skin corrective measures and now let's tackle that bane of many an existence, acne.

Curiously, these three distressing skin ailments are a triumvirate stemming from the same basic causes, namely, faulty elimination, improper diet and improper cleaning. The three conditions are remedied by regular daily elimination, proper diet and soap and water scrubbing followed by cold water ablutions, with the shower as a wonderful aid in reviving the right circulation of blood throughout the whole body surface.

Most cases of acne are infected pimples. And, in this connection, you must think of the scalp, too, in correcting the skin condition. Many cases of acne have their inception in the scalp, believe it or not. The hair symptoms are oiliness, stringiness and a devitalized appearance generally. Kill two birds with the one stone, then. Get after the scalp and hair and you can't do better in getting after it than getting after it with a good hairbrush. You may need a hair tonic and you will want to wash the hair frequently. Once a week is not too often.

I speak, naturally, of the budding acne cases, not the long established ones and dour looking skins. By all means, put yourself in expert hands for treatment of the latter. Save on cosmetics and silk stockings and indulge in other temporary abstinences. Nothing matters until that skin is clear.

Nelson of North Park college, the coordinator, will attend.

Tell Child in Advance of a New Situation

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

All unwittingly even the best of us who are mothers make mistakes. Frequently we make them in trying to spare our child some immediate unhappiness or disappointment, not realizing that in that way we may be storing up for them a more lasting or deep-seated trouble.

Frequently we do this with our teen age boys or girls when, because we are reluctant to deny them anything, we give them harmful freedom in late hours, or kinds of pleasure they are not mature enough to digest. Frequently we make the sort of mistake I am now thinking of with our children of tender age.

If your small child has ahead of him any unusual experience, it is wise to try to prepare him for it—though not necessarily too far ahead. If he is to have a tonsil operation, it is simple enough to acquaint him with the procedure—not the pain, which he will not feel, but with other parts of the preparations at the hospital. Two mothers I know of acted the whole thing out as a sort of game, with great success when the time came for the reality.

But it is about leaving your child I am most concerned. If you must go away and stay to have your baby or an operation, explain it to your little boy or girl. Or if you are simply going away on a visit for the first time, do not slip away or pretend, just because it means less fuss and avoids tears, but talk it over in advance. These experiences are much more momentous to a child than we adults realize and often leave deep impressions.

If you have made such a mistake, however, be prepared for it to take time to erase the fear.

Mr. Quest is having a tea at his gallery in Tower court Friday afternoon to open an exhibition of paintings by Helga Haugan Dean, who as Mrs. William Dean is well known socially in Chicago. Mrs. Dean has invited Mrs. Harold Pynchon, Mrs. William M. McGovern, Mrs. Edward K. Hardy, Mrs. Walter Strong, Mrs. Warner Baird, Mrs. Wallace Wakem, and several others to pour. Mrs. Dean and Mr. Quest are giving a tea on Saturday for artists.

Decoration Class to Visit Apartments.

Several of Chicago's most stunning apartments will be opened today to members of the Art institute's interior decoration lecture class. The group will meet the leader, Dr. Dudley Crafts Watson, in Fullerton hall at the institute at 11:30 and will proceed by motor coach to the Tavern club, where luncheon will be served in the History of Love room, in which the murals were painted by Edgar Miller.

The apartments that will be visited are Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick's at 209 Lake Shore drive, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Willett's penthouse atop the Civic Opera building, and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Logan's at 1209 North State street. The group will have tea at the Chicago Woman's Athletic club.

Mrs. Archibald Freer, Mrs. Wentworth G. Field, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, and Mrs. Charles Thuis are among those who are giving luncheon parties today at the Arts club following the presentation of "The Brownings Go to Italy," an operetta composed by Mrs. Freer. The affair is an open meeting of the Italy America society.

Also at the Arts club today will be a luncheon the American Friends of China will give for Julian Arnold, American commercial attaché in Shanghai. Mr. Arnold will bring recent news from China to the Friends of China and their friends.

Exhibition Tennis At Exmoor Club.

Exhibition tennis matches will be held at the Exmoor Country club on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The players will be Robert L. Riggs, second ranking United States player, and William and Chester Murphy, who hold first and second places, respectively, in the Western Tennis association; John Hennessey, former Davis cup player, and Marvin Wachman, captain of the Northwestern university tennis team.

"To welcome new members, greet old members, and have a bite to eat at 12 o'clock," Mrs. John L. Kellogg will open her home at 2952 Lake Shore drive next Monday morning at 11 o'clock for a meeting of the box committee of the Chicago City Opera company. Mrs. Kellogg is co-chairman with Mrs. Jacob Baur, who now is in England, of the committee.

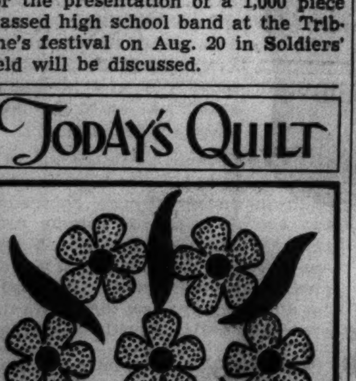
TODAY'S QUILT



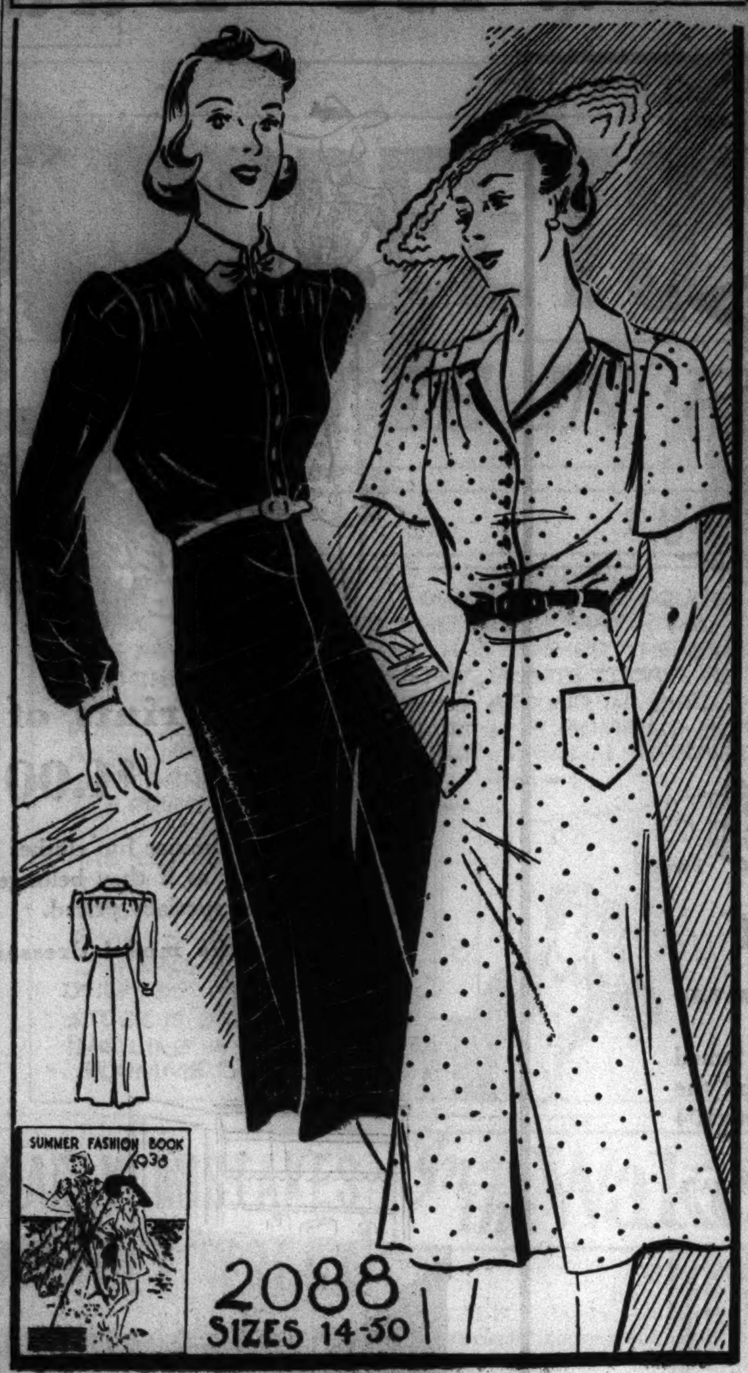
Snow in July.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Lacelike elaborateness lifts this block out of the ordinary run of applique designs. The tiny flowers and delicate leaves create a dainty picture. One can only conjecture about the mystifying title and the origin of the block is equally obscure. However, it is definitly known to have been made as early as 1878 in the middle west. Attention to detail is required for the successful execution of this block, and a whole coverlet is composed of applique squares set together with four inch bands of material between blocks and surrounded by an eight and a half inch border and a half inch bias binding. Either printed or plain materials may be selected for this design, depending upon the room in which it is to be used.

Shirtwaist in New Version



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The shirtwaist dress, perennial and much beloved favorite with busy women, appears in our pattern offering today in a new version, one with plenty of crisp smartness. Sketched at the left is the model as it probably will be preferred by younger women. There is a high neckline with a rather stand-up collar and a bow. Stripes make up effectively, and plaids also deserve your consideration. Either silks or cottons are suitable for this tailored model, which has shirring under the shoulder yoke to lend fullness to the bodice, and a well fitted skirt, the slimness of which is broken by an inverted plait to assure width for walking comfort.

Older women and persons with rather mature figures will like the version sketched at the right. Its neckline is V, and the collar is rever. Two pockets may be added if you wish them. All types of cottons and wash silks are suitable, but too bright shades and rather gay stripes should be avoided if your silhouette is somewhat overweight.

Style No. 2088 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement.

Zendt Recital a Happy Little Music Surprise

BY CECIL SMITH.

Some of the pleasantest musical experiences of the season are encountered at modest recitals preceded by no fanfare of publicity, where simplicity, sincerity, and competence replace the ostentation and affectation of some more pretentious events.

Such an occasion was the recital last night in the Cordon club lounge by Marie Sidenius Zendt, Chicago lyric soprano, who broke a professional silence of several months at this time. While other singers often tremble at the approach of maturity, Mrs. Zendt, possessed of a formula many must envy, keeps her voice warm, fresh, and radiantly lyrical. The ease and purity of her tone production and delivery are truly exemplary.

Songs by Chicago composers occupied a prominent place upon the program, with Una Howell Cook, Felix Borowski, and Herbert Hyde represented. Mr. Borowski's "Love and Memory," which the distinguished musicologist and coach claims to have forgotten all about, is too good a song to forget any longer. As with everything else she sang, Mrs. Zendt sang it with humanness and affecting depth of feeling. Charles Lurvey accompanied with splendid supporting musicianship.

Toward the end of the program Mary Cameron played a group of humorous piano pieces with better technique than she admits she possesses, introducing each piece with many a humorous sally. She and Mrs. Zendt together closed the program with the pianist's own witty "Music Critics' Hymn of Hate," written in 1920 to satirize the Sunday afternoon marathon of critics scrambling from concert to concert.

Over at Kimball hall at the same hour the Carl Craven Ladies' chorus, the name of whose director is indicated in the name of the group, sang tuneful music. Assisting artists were Goodwin Sammel, 12 year old pianist, and Allene Cunningham, 16 year old coloratura soprano. Looking, acting, and sounding nearer to 14 than 16, little Miss Cunningham showed us a voice of pretty quality.

Hamill Quits as President of Orchestra

Charles H. Hamill, who for the last fifteen years has been president of the Orchestral association, controling body of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, retired yesterday. He was elected honorary president and honorary trustee. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., a member of the association since 1930, was named president. The annual meeting was held in the English room of the Blackstone hotel.

Other officers elected for the coming year: Albert A. Sprague, Charles H. Swift, and Arthur G. Cable, vice presidents; Chalkley J. Hambleton, secretary; Henry E. Voegeli, treasurer. Elected trustees for three years were Cyrus H. Adams, Mr. Cable, Alfred T. Carton, Mr. Swift, and Francis M. Knight. J. Sanford Otis was elected trustee for one year to succeed Mr. Hamill.

Mr. Hamill has been a member of the Orchestral association since 1905. That year saw the death of his father, Charles D. Hamill, who was one of the five charter members. The present Mr. Hamill's term as president of the association, running from 1923 to the present, included the orchestra's crucial depression years.

Mr. Hamill is 70 years old and a lawyer.

These Dishes Bring Picnic to the Dinette

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Spring fever assails not only school children, romantic young couples, and golf players, but housewives and business girls as well.

A bit of picnic atmosphere is brought into this short cut menu by potato salad [although it's hot, not chilled according to true picnic style] by cold, sliced ham and by deviled egg stuffed tomatoes. The dessert is one which could go to a picnic, too, although filling and pastry cases should travel separately to the spot. However, this is not an outdoor picnic, but an indoor springtime supper, planned for the cook who objects to fussing over a meal.

SHORT CUT WARM WEATHER DINNER

Hot Potato Salad Cold Sliced Ham
Buttered Fresh Green or Wax Beans
Tomato Stuffed with Deviled Egg,
Thousand Island Dressing
Cinnamon Raising Bread
Strawberry-Banana Tarts

Hot Potato Salad.

[Serves Four.]

- 4 medium potatoes
- 4 strips bacon
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 4 tablespoons chopped green onions
- 4 tablespoons hot bacon fat
- 4 tablespoons mild vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt [less if potatoes are well salted]
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Cook the potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. It is best to cook them whole and in their jackets if the time allows for it. Peel and slice hot potatoes into the top of a double boiler over hot water. Add bacon which has been fried until crisp, crumbling it over the potatoes. Add chopped parsley and onion. Mix bacon fat, vinegar, salt, papper, and sugar, and heat to the boiling point. Pour over potatoes. The potatoes may be kept covered in the double boiler until the rest of the meal is ready.

Two eggs and four fairly small tomatoes will be needed for the cold salad. Hard cook the eggs, cool them under running cold water, and devil them. Peel the tomatoes and cut them in sixths toward the stem end, leaving the sections attached at the bottom. Spread the sections apart, sprinkle lightly with salt, and place a deviled egg half in the center. Chill until ready to serve. Serve on watercress topped with thousand island dressing.

BANANA STRAWBERRY TARTS.

Make regular pie pastry and fit it into muffin pans, or over the bottoms of the pans. Bake at 425 degrees and cool. When serving fill each tart shell with sliced strawberries and bananas, which have been sweetened, and top with a spoonful of whipped cream. Or fold the fruit mixture into th whipped cream and fill the shells. Garnish the top of each serving with a whole strawberry.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

[On Monday I began the description of the Culbertson system for five suit bridge. This is a continuation.]

No trump bids and no trump final contracts: No trump contracts are relatively undesirable at five-suit bridge, because the value of the widow card is much greater [one and a half to three tricks] at suit contracts. Thus, even a fourteen trick minor suit game and small slam is often easier to fulfill than a mere eleven trick three no trump contract. There will, however, be some occasions when no trump is the best game bid. To determine trick expectancy at no trump use the following rule:

The Culbertson rule of ten [for no trump contracts only]: Count the honor tricks in the combined hands. To this total add 50 per cent [one-half], then add one trick for each card of a suit in excess of four cards. Illustration: Six honor tricks in combined hands and one five-card suit: 6 plus 3 [one-half of total] plus 1 [long card] equals ten tricks [one short of game].

Suit contracts: The widow card under correct manipulation becomes a veritable guillotine that chops the heads off of about two defensive honor tricks in the average deal. Hence, for practical purposes, there are only about eight honor tricks around the table. This leads to the following trick expectancy at suit contracts:

Game in eagles [twelve tricks]: 6½ to 7 honor tricks with a four-card trump suit; 5½ to 6 honor tricks with a five-card trump suit; 5 to 5½ honor tricks with freakish distribution.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 heart
Double	Pass	1 spade	Pass
Pass	Pass

South chose to bid one spade in response to the takeout double, even though his suit was only a three carder. The more orthodox response would have been one no trump, but, as South later explained, he thought it very likely that North had four spades for his double and South figured that he might find it easier to handle the situation with spades as trump than at no trump with a very sketchy heart stopper. I am inclined to agree that South's bid was well calculated, although unconventional.

West opened the heart king, and, when his partner followed with the deuce, laid down the club ace. His idea in playing the ace instead of the king was to fool the declarer, and he then followed up this thought by leading a low club. Declarer, however, had been up against that particular play before and did not go wrong. He knew that West would hardly lead a club from an original holding of the A J x; therefore, while it was probable that the king was in East's hand, it was almost certain that he held the jack and, hence, there was no use in finessing. Declarer put up dummy's queen, and, to his satisfaction, saw East's jack drop. Then, to convert the contract into no trump type play, he drew three rounds of trumps, then threw West on lead with a third club. After much thought West guessed wrong in exiting. He was afraid to give declarer a free diamond finesse by leading diamonds, and, therefore, chose to lay down the heart ace. This established South's queen and resulted in clear sailing for him. He won the heart continuation and led the last club. East, with the only trump, could take it or leave it—it was the only trick he could make. The two spades actually made by declarer resulted in an excellent match-point score.

Predicts State Council Will Improve Laws

BY BETTY BROWNING.

The new legislative council will speed up legislation and will make for better laws, Benjamin S. Adamowski, majority leader of the state house of representatives, predicted yesterday at the seventeenth annual convention of the Illinois League of Women Voters in Winnetka. He spoke at a legislative luncheon.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, league director, praised permanent registration as it was demonstrated at the recent primary. "There was a sudden decrease in the vote in certain wards," she pointed out. "In the 1st ward the vote of sixteen odd thousand in 1936 dwindled to some 7,000 in 1938."

Among the measures approved yesterday were the city manager plan, preferably with a council elected by proportional representation; the calling of a state constitutional convention, and examination and licensing of automobile drivers.

The three day convention closes today with a luncheon at the Indian Hill club, at which Miss Marguerite M. Wells, president of the national league, will speak.

The Housewife

One of the most beautiful wedding gifts is a plant table, a copy of a handsome 18th century English piece. We have seen several of these tables and each was a gem.

They are made large enough so that they will also hold a lamp and a few books or objets d'art. One table had the compartment for plants, a copper trough, set in at the front. Another had two copper receptacles, one at each end of the table. Both had lether instead of wooden tops, the lether, of course, being inlaid in the wood.

The ideal feature about owning a piece of furniture such as this is that you need never worry for fear plants or flowers in pots or vases will mar the mahogany. EDITH WEIGLE.

CHICAGO GREETS EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS TODAY

GUMBERT HOLDS CHICAGO TEAM TO FIVE HITS

Root Goes In; Logan Finishes.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Col. Bill Terry's New York Giants, twice National league champions, apparently don't want anybody disputing their plans for another title. They dusted off the Cubs again yesterday not only with neatness but dispatch, to sweep the two battles staged during their visit. The score was 5 to 1 and all the vanquished had to show for the time spent out in the wintry atmosphere was a skimpy total of five hits off one Harry Gumbert.

The Cubs' hitting, or rather the lack of it, wasn't the only unpleasant feature reeled off before 13,361 customers who braved the breezes because of an idea there might be another of those old time Cub-Giant thrillers. The prospect of a thrill was gone before the first inning was completed. So was Bill Lee, the starting Cub pitcher, leaving the champions with a three run lead which never was endangered.

Lee Faces Eight Batters.

Lee, who in five starts has yet to witness the twenty-seventh putout, lasted long enough this time to test his skill against eight batters. Two of them hit safely. Four of them walked. The two others he retired before the passes carried him out of the picture, leaving Charley Root in the rôle of a rescuer. Root was excellent for a stretch but eventually his 39 years and the Giants' bat caught up with him. He was nailed for two runs in the sixth and the only Giant hits thereafter were impotent items while Bob Logan was southpawing in the last two innings.

Gumbert, during his third winning effort of the season, not only had enough to baffle the Cubs most of the time, but also the assistance of a brilliant defense in which Lou Chiozza came close to being a record breaking busybody by piling up ten assists. He lost a chance to tie the big league mark when he bobbled Demaree's grounder in the fourth.

Root Replaces Lee.

Lee didn't have to wait long to discover he was lacking in deception. Moore opened the battle with a single to right and a pass to Bartell came next. Ripple flied to Galan and the bases were filled when Ott walked. Leiber looked at one pitch before poking a double into right center, Moore and Bartell scoring. Lee shot down McCarthy on strikes and then lost his aim. He passed Chiozza and Danning, the pair of gifts making it necessary for Ott to score. The gifts also caused Lee's banishment. Root fanned Gumbert to conclude the eventful inning.

The Cubs started their half of the first inning as if they intended to get themselves right back into the thick of the argument. It proved only a time consuming gesture. Gumbert began his day's work by passing Hack. McCarthy smothered Herman's grounder. Collins also walked and this was enough to indicate that something would happen. It did. The happening was a double play on Demaree's roller to Chiozza.

Cubs Get a Run.

The hit the Cubs could have put to good use in the first inning came in the second but it meant nothing. Galan singled to left with one out and a double play followed. The next Cub hit wasn't put on exhibition until the fifth. There were two of them then and a run was produced. Jurges singled past Bartell after two were

EARLY MISTAKES NEARLY WRECK ARCARO'S CAREER

BY FRENCH LANE.

Glaring faults of a young jocky:

He doesn't know how to take horses back off the pace.

He has no judgment whatever of pace..

He has no idea when he sees an opening between horses whether it is wide enough to drive through.

He wants to quit riding and become a ribbon counter clerk every time he makes a mistake

Eddie Arcaro.

Eddie Arcaro, right now America's best jocky, who rode Lawrin to victory in the Kentucky Derby, had all those faults when he started his career seven years ago.

Clarence Davison, holder of the first contract ever signed by Arcaro and his parents, told the story about the Italian kid from Newport, Ky., at Aurora yesterday.

"More than a hundred times he came to me and pleaded to be permitted to quit his job and to be allowed to go home," Davison related.

Eddie Made Them All.

It just happened that not one of the horses in Davison's big stable was in action during the afternoon. He sought the rail and the sunshine rather than his box seat near the finish.

"Yes, Eddie made as many mistakes as any young jocky ever has," Davison continued. "And after each mistake he came to me and said 'to hell with this racket; give me back my contract and let me go home.'

"He's a strong headed lad and I marvel now at my ability to have talked him out of wanting to quit the saddle.

"The first thing he learned was how to take a horse back off the pace. Naturally his judgment of pace came after he had ridden in several hundred races. At about the same time he quit driving horses into openings which were too narrow and which were always getting him into a jam.

"The old selling plater, Jack Alexander, had a lot to do with Arcaro becoming a jocky who can earn $50,000 a year. Six years ago a long meeting was held at Tanforan. I had Arcaro and my horses there. My horses could not win. Neither could Arcaro.

One Victory Saves Career.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A chilling temperature of 45 degrees last night lost a match to more than 17,000 golf minded citizens of Chicago who attended the opening of the Tribune's sixth annual free golf school on the four courses of the Chicago park district. The braw breezes failed to nip the enthusiasm of one of the largest crowds in the history of the school, now recognized as the No. 1 plan of group instruction.

The members of the Illinois section of the P. G. A. who constitute the teaching faculty of the school were amazed by the response to the call for students, considering the nature of the weather. The pupils demonstrated their interest not only in their presence, but also by remaining from 30 to 45 minutes after the lesson proper to quiz their instructors.

Teach Stance Tomorrow.

Jackson park, oldest of the city's park courses, led in attendance with more than 5,000 men, women, and children turning out to learn the A B C's of the game. Marquette, ordinarily the smallest classroom of the four, was the surprise of the night, with an estimated attendance of 4,000. North siders who enrolled at the Diversey course numbered 4,000, while a similar class attended the lesson at Columbus park, the teaching scene for the west side, one of the golfing hotbeds of the country.

The major portion of last night's lesson was devoted to the first fundamental of the game—the grip. The second lesson tomorrow night, to be held at the same four courses and starting at the same hour—7 p. m.—will have the stance as its theme. The third and fourth lessons, to be given next Tuesday and Thursday nights, will be devoted to the swing.

Just Bring Golf Club.

If you missed last night's lesson you are invited to attend the remainder of the instructions, for the grip will be summed up in each of the other three. The only requirements are a golf club and your presence at the course most convenient to you at about 15 minutes before 7 o'clock.

The class at Jackson park heard Harry Adams, one of Chicago's ablest tournament swingers, deliver the lecture. Adams, assisted by Manager Jim Loftus of the park, had as his assistants Jim Noonan of Burnham Woods, Matt Matteson of Ridge, Wally Apel and Clyde Greathouse of Ravisloe, Tommy Coyne of Lansing Airport, and Al Megeff. After instruction on the grip and an introduction to the stance, Adams and his colleagues answered questions put to them by their pupils, which kept them busy until after dark.

European Fighters Speed to Chicago and Title Bouts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10.—Europe's amateur boxing champions, the pick of competition which ranged from Naples to Stockholm and from Warsaw to Dublin, are almost at the end of a 5,000 mile trip which has as its objective a victory over Chicago's Golden Gloves winners in the Stadium on May 18.

Richard Vogt.

Five thousand miles is a long way to come to knock the ears off a guy you never have seen and probably never want to see again. But the young men from Germany, Italy, Poland, Ireland, Hungary, and Finland, who comprise the 1938 European All-Star squad would be willing to travel twice as far for a triumph over the most famous team of amateur boxers in the world.

Accompanied by four representatives of the International Boxing federation and a trainer who joined the squad yesterday, the boys left New York at 7:35 tonight aboard the Pennsylvania's Manhattan Limited and are due in Union station at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, Chicago time.

Then They Go to Work.

The reception in Chicago, a greeting from Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and a general interchange of oratorical posies, probably will keep the team off its training stride another day. After that, however, the purpose of the trip to the United States will be impressed upon the athletes again. They are here to fight. They are the best boxers in Europe and are rated by European officials as the strongest group ever brought together.

When they enter the arena a week from tomorrow night, their immediate objective will not be to prove that Europe as a continent produces stronger or more courageous men than the United States. The Germans will be fighting for Germany, the Italians for Italy and so on through the list. National prestige is at stake. At least, that is the way the boys regard it.

The boxers, attired in dark coats and gray trousers, will leave the train tomorrow in the order they will appear in the ring. First will come the flyweights, then the bantamweights and up the weight scale to heavyweights. This is the way they will march through the station:

FLYWEIGHTS—Guido Nardecchia, Italy, and Olli Lehtinen, Finland.

WELTERWEIGHT—Antoni Kolczynski, Poland.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Adolf Baumgarten, Germany.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT—Richard Vogt, Germany.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Herbert Runge, Germany.

LINE OF MARCH TO CITY HALL—East on Jackson boulevard and north on La Salle street.

MAYOR'S RECEPTION—2:15 p. m. in offices of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, City Hall.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

At 1:30 this afternoon, Chicago daylight saving time, when the Manhattan Limited steams into Union station, the ten best boxers in all Europe and the officials of the International Boxing federation will have completed their 5,000 mile journey to Chicago to face Chicago's Golden Glovers in friendly battle in the Stadium one week from tonight.

Once more a new cast of actors will be ready for the seventh international bouts in the series which long since has become the most important in the history of amateur boxing. That no European team ever has whipped Chicago's Golden Glovers serves to heighten interest in these boys who arrive today. They are, by admission of the officials, the finest boxers Europe ever has assembled. They are superior to the team which last year tied Chicago 4 bouts to 4. And these boys will meet a Golden Gloves squad which last March was the first team in the eleven years of intercity competition with New York to win away from home.

Prepare Rousing Welcome.

So much for the caliber of competition. Today Chicago is thinking only of giving its guests a civic welcome they will long remember, a tumultuous reception that promises to surpass all previous greetings. It will be further evidence, if any is needed, that Chicago is the home of sportsmen and that Golden Gloves stands for courage and skill without thought of race, color, or creed.

The old world's champions come from Hungary, Ireland, Germany, Poland, Italy, and Finland. The president of the International federation, Oscar Soderlund, has come from Stockholm. The secretary, Arthur de Kankovszky, has come from Budapest. Other officials are Count Gerardo Leonardi of Milan, and Dr. Franz Metzner of Berlin.

It is natural, of course, that Chicago's organizations and societies, which have cultural and racial backgrounds of these countries, should have front places in today's reception at Union station. There will be hundreds of boys and girls in costumes of these nations and in the garb of American Boy Scouts. There will be bands, among them the Catholic Youth organization band, representing the largest amateur boxing club in Chicago and composed of as cosmopolitan a membership as the team in whose honor they will play.

Seven Consulates Participate.

There will be official delegations from the Order of Sons of Italy, Italo-American National union, St. Philip school, North Side Civic committee, German club, Germania club, Ger-

Foley Defers Talks with Triner on Summer Bouts

Four bouts, one each of ten rounds, eight rounds, six and four, have been arranged for the Marigold Gardens next Monday. Billy Celebron, Rockford fighter, and Harold Brown, west side welterweight, are paired for ten rounds; Tony Zale, Gary middleweight, and Bob La Monte, for eight sessions; Alex Kettles, South Bend heavyweight, and Charley Belanger, for six, and Lou Laurie, Cleveland featherweight, and Eddie Shapiro, for four. . . . Promoter Joe Foley has postponed scheduled conferences this week with Chairman Joe Triner of the state boxing commission and Lou Comiskey, owner of Comiskey park, following the open break between Triner and Commissioner James R. Fitzpatrick. Foley plans to hold two or three major shows in Comiskey park next summer and one of the proposed contestants is Max Baer, whom the chairman has refused to sanction as a fit opponent for Joe Louis.

Pike Fishermen Set Clocks for Sunday Morning

BY BOB BECKER.

With the wall-eyed pike, pickerel [northern pike], and panfish season opening in Wisconsin next Sunday, many Illinois fishermen are making plans to head north to catch their first string of fish for the year. Joining these bait rod enthusiasts will be thousands of trout fishermen because it also is legal to catch trout in Wisconsin on and after May 15. Here are a few tips on possible fishing places in Wisconsin.

CRANDON—The fisherman can use his fly rod and waders one day to go after trout and the next day pick up some wall-eyes close to town. The Pine, a pretty good bet for trout, is just above Crandon. Other streams are within easy driving distance. One of our favorite wall-eyed pike lakes, from which we have taken some nice strings of fish, is Metonga, right at the edge of Crandon. You'll find use for a small motor on Metonga as it's a good sized lake.

LANGLADE COUNTY—Many miles of trout streams in this county. We have used Antigo as our base for some fishing and also stayed on the bank of the Wolf river and made trips from there. The Prairie, Wolf, Lily, and many other streams are in that section of Wisconsin. Also a number of spring holes stocked with trout. The Wolf still is a good bet for a mess of trout . . . a big river which is well stocked. For information on stream conditions, the angler may write to Bill Alft who lives on the bank of the Wolf. Address Langlade, Wis.

WISCONSIN FLOWAGE—This is a shorter trip for fishermen who want some big wall-eyes. [Distance from Chicago about 165 miles.] The damming of the Wisconsin river above Sauk City has created a big flowage, from which the boys get some dandy wall-eyes. Very beautiful country scenically. Camping spots available and boats may be rented. Room for trailers, too. Fishermen should have boats reserved for opening day. We usually have visited this section via the town of Poynette and then west on County Trunk J. Further information on fishing conditions in the flowage may be obtained from George [Buck] Johnson, the conservation warden in Portage. Stamped addressed envelopes should accompany queries.

Arcaro Once Begged Chance to Quit Riding

day's program opened Arcaro asked me again to let him quit and go home.

"I told him he could if he didn't ride a winner that day. The program was just about over. In one of the late races Eddie rode Jack Alexander. Jack was an old horse by that time. He didn't seem to have much of a chance.

"Maybe Arcaro did ride a brilliant race on Lawrin in the Derby. But regardless of how good it was, it could not have compared with the ride he gave Jack Alexander.

"He wiggled through narrow openings and aroused a new ambition in old Jack. He got up to win by a head in the last jump.

"Arcaro never asked me to permit him to quit after that race."

Three years later Davison sold Arcaro's contract to Warren Wright. Later Arcaro went to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

He's a Booster.

Davison, who has made a great reputation by patching up crippled horses, is Arcaro's greatest booster.

"He adds all the ways from five to eight lengths to the race of any horse he rides," he said yesterday.

The Aurora track was fast yesterday, but horses with mud running blood lines were winning all afternoon. A son and daughter of Noah won the first two races. Noah's offspring nearly always are at home in muddy going. Dixie Dora, a daughter of Meridian, won the third race. Meridian's children usually cannot score unless the track is muddy.

POMPOON MEETS ANEROID TODAY IN $20,000 RACE

Baltimore, Md., May 10.—(AP)—Fourteen of the country's best handicap horses will race in the thirty-fifth running of the $20,000 Dixie handicap at Pimlico tomorrow.

Pompoon, J. H. Louchheim's 4 year old bay colt which lost by inches to War Admiral in last year's running of the Preakness, will contest in the Dixie, carrying 118 pounds. He ran third to Stagehand and Seabiscuit in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap and won the San Carlos handicap at the California track.

Aneroid in Field.

Opposing Pompoon will be J. A. Mancuso's Aneroid, victor by a nose over Seabiscuit in the mile and an eighth San Antonio handicap at Santa Anita. Aneroid will carry 120 pounds. The Mancuso star won the $2,500 Gittings handicap here last week.

Burning Star, Shandon farm colt and winner of the $10,000 Philadelphia handicap at Havre de Grace, also will shoulder 120 pounds in the mile and an eighth Dixie.

Top weight of 122 pounds was assigned to Snark, which set the world record for the ⅞ mile in Florida.

These Will Start Too.

Others in the Dixie field are Mosawtre, High Velocity, Masked General, Teufel, Eagle Pass, Busy K, Tatterdemalion, Rex Flag, War Ministrel, and Corinto.

Another preakness candidate, Lucky Omen, gray colt from the Fair Fields stable, fell victim today to coughing and fever and will not run in the Dixie. Nedayr, his stablemate, came down with a similar illness last week after a listless workout against Lucky Omen.

NEW YORK RAIN WELCOME SIGHT TO FRAYED SOX

They Hope for More in Boston Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—The victory hungry Yankees today, for the second successive time, were denied the potential pleasure of fattening up at the expense of our sorely afflicted White Sox. The crippled Chicagoans hobbled on to Boston expecting to engage the Red Sox in matches tomorrow and Thursday, but hoping for weather just as bad as the brand which washed out yesterday's and today's scheduled encounters with the Yanks.

Mr. Dykes and his lads are not cowardy cats. They simply want as many postponements as possible against first division clubs in the hope they will have something approaching their best strength on the field when resultant double-headers roll around. Mr. Dykes and all others who have pondered the situation feel things never will be tougher from the physical viewpoint, what with Luke Appling, Monty Stratton, Joe Kuhel, Jackie Hayes, and John Whitehead out of service entirely and Johnny Rigney and Merritt Cain suffering from twitching nerves.

Need Two Boston Victories.

The Sox must win both games in Boston to break even in their first visit with eastern clubs. They won two out of three in Philadelphia, lost two extra inning thrillers in Washington and were on the short end of the score in the one game played in New York.

Frank Gabler, winner of the last victory accomplished by the Sox, has been invited to pitch against the Red Sox tomorrow.

The Great Gabbo expects many of his friends to be on hand. The Sox got him from the Boston Bees, you know. Gabler is very popular with his Sox mates, that is those who are not in hospitals, and he expects to visit the other half of the team at the several bedsides as soon as he gets an infirmary directory.

Kuhel Comes Home.

Joe Kuhel, latest of the Sox casuals, was shipped to Chicago today. The swelling in his injured right instep had been reduced some and it is believed he will be able to return to duty after the forecast ten day layoff.

It is not known when John Whitehead will feel able to work. Few can remember just what it is that is keeping Large John from working, but it is a severe injury of some sort and not the sore throat which had him out for a week before this other incapacity got him. John has been taking nourishment regularly and is said to be gaining strength.

SENATORS BEAT BROWNS, 8 TO 6; 7TH STRAIGHT

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—Just when it appeared their winning streak might be stopped at six straight, the Senators came from behind to score three runs with two out in the last half of the eighth to edge out the St. Louis Browns today, 8 to 6. The victory gave Washington a sweep of the three-game series and boosted its lead to a full game over the idle Yankees and Indians.

Cincinnati, O., May 10.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, led by Dusty Cooke, who got four hits, routed Philadelphia, 7 to 3, before 1,133 today.

When Root completed the fifth the Giants had nicked him for only three hits. By the time the sixth had ended the total off the veteran had swelled to seven. McCarthy launched this two run setto with a single to center and Chiozza assisted with a single past third. Danning was nice enough to pop to Herman. Gumbert helped his own cause by singling to left, McCarthy scoring and Chiozza going to third. Moore made it four in a row for himself by singling to center, Chiozza scoring. Root then fanned Bartell and Ripple lofted to Collins.

Cubs Get Some Hits.

The seventh was a big inning for the Cubs. They made a couple of hits, raising the total to five. Galan opened with a single to left, his second of the kind for the afternoon. O'Dea beat out a roller which eluded Gumbert and which Chiozza wasn't able to pick up. Lazzeri was sent forth to swing for Jurges and what he did would have been valuable if the wind hadn't been blowing in the wrong direction. Tony clubbed a long fly to left and there was just room enough for Moore to back against the wall and make the catch.

Cavarretta batted for Root and forced O'Dea. Hack then caromed a bounder off McCarthy's arm but it shot straight to Chiozza who threw it back to McCarthy to end the inning.

The Giants threatened Logan in the eighth but he fooled 'em. Herman made a beautiful running pickup of Chiozza's grounder for the first out. Danning singled to right and took third on Gumbert's single to center. This was as far as the rally extended. Logan used strikes to stop Moore's hitting string and employed similar tactics to rid himself of Bartell.

veloped last year's squad for its 4 to 4 tie with Chicago's champions, is pleased with the condition of the team. Although the boys traveled from Berlin to Paris and across the Atlantic amid luxury hard to imagine by boys out of factories and army camps, they lost little or no time from their training routine en route to New York. With the exception of a few hours Friday afternoon, there was practically no rough sea at any time and they worked out daily on the deck or in the gymnasium of the Queen Mary.

Today was another day of sightseeing. This morning the group was taken through lower Manhattan, the tour winding up with a trip to the top of the Empire State building. This afternoon the visitors inspected Radio City, Central park, and other points of interest in upper Manhattan and the Bronx.

Max Advises Germans.

Dr. Franz Metzner, high ranking official of Germany's ministeriat, took the four German members of the team to Max Schmeling's quarters in a midtown hotel after lunch. Schmeling, who on June 22 will fight a Chicago Golden Gloves alumnus, Joe Louis, for the heavyweight title, told his countrymen how to go about whipping the Golden Gloves undergraduates the night of May 18.

As the fighters moved closer to the scene of international combat they began to show more interest in their prospective opponents. Herr Runge, German and European heavyweight champion, who bounced around the Stadium canvas two or three times a year ago before Chicago's Lem Franklin put him away, particularly was anxious this evening to find out whether his foe would be Dan Merritt, the Cleveland colored boy, or Lloyd Montgomery, Arkansas football player. He also made inquiries about their respective punching power.

There is one member of the European squad who every one is willing to wager will win in a hurry. He is Richard Vogt, light heavyweight champion, who has such an impressive string of knockouts that it has become almost impossible to find opponents for him on the continent.

Dick Has Quite a Record.

Vogt has had 135 bouts, 50 of which culminated in knockouts. He finished second to Michelot of France in the 1936 Olympic games. Michelot now is a professional. It appeared a year ago that Vogt's fighting days were over as the result of an injury to his left thumb. He was told by two or three physicians that an operation might result in the loss of a thumb or of having it become stiff for life. Dr. Metzner, who has charge of boxing in Germany, sent him to a widely known surgeon named Prof. Gebhard, who performed an operation that was completely successful.

Vogt has been hitting harder than ever since the operation. Ten of his recent bouts have terminated before the scheduled distance with his opponent stretched on the floor. He knocked out Ruda Kuss, champion of Czechoslovakia, in the second round of the European finals in Berlin to win his way to Chicago. Asked who was the most dangerous opponent he has encountered, Vogt replied, "I shall look for him in Chicago."

eran of the school since his arrival in the Chicago district, was the head man at Columbus park. Lew's exhibition instructors were E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Oak Park, one of the rising pros of the tournament game, and By Chamberlain of Glen Oak. Assisting them were Ren Smith of Oak Park, Dave Cairns of Brookwood, Joe Wallace of Nordic, Herb Johnson and Jack Helms of Butterfield, Charley Penna of Medinah, and Dick Thomas of Riverside. Waldron conducted a question and answer forum for those students who have played golf for years but came to iron out one particular kink in their game.

Anderson at Diversey.

The Diversey students had Jock Anderson of Techny Fields as their lecturer. He was assisted by Harry Hampton of Bonair, who gave a demonstration of shotmaking; Alex Cunningham of north shore, honorary president of the Illinois P. G. A.; Tommy Meehan of Illinois, Bob Law of Indian Hill, and Tod Hardy of the home club. The grip, stance, and knee action in the swing formed the evening's instruction.

Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, one of the founders of the school, was enthusiastic about the attendance at Marquette park. He and his assistant, Chuck Blasgen; Packy Walsh, his brother, and Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley, secretary and treasurer of the Illinois P. G. A., first gave personal instruction to each pupil on the grip. Then followed a half hour of practice swinging. Walsh urged his students to bring a midiron or mashie for tomorrow night's lesson so that the shorter swing for these clubs would enable them to come closer together for the lesson.

Pick Best Pupils.

Following the completion of the fourth lesson on May 19, the P. G. A. teachers will name the best two pupils in each division—men's, women's, boys', and girls'—at their courses. These thirty-two prize students will then enter the graduating exercises of the school to be held at the Diversey course on Sunday afternoon, May 22. The four students ranked best at these finals will be awarded a golf bag and a set of clubs, together with a season ticket to the Chicago open championship to be played at Olympia fields on July 22, 23, and 24.

FIFTEEN TEAMS TO COMPETE IN PISTOL TOURNEY

Fifteen pistol teams will fire for their respective army reserve organizations in the Chicago championship pistol competition sponsored by the Cook county chapter of the Reserve Officers' association in the 202d Coast Artillery armory, Broadway and Thorndale avenue.

Confident U.S. Walker Team Sails for Britain

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's youngest Walker cup team packed tonight and headed for England confident it would retain the cup emblematic of international golf team supremacy and possibly bring back the British amateur championship.

Led by the Veteran Francis Ouimet, non-playing captain, eight of the nation's outstanding amateurs assembled for the Odyssey. They were Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Charlie Yates, Fred Haas, Ray Billow, Charles Kocsis, Reynolds Smith, and Marvin [Bud] Ward. The two alternates, Tommy Tailer and Don Moe, figured they would be just wasting their time under any circumstances and did not go.

Capt. Ouimet was optimistic over the prospects of retaining the cup that never has been taken away from the American team.

Every player excepting Haas was in good condition and even Haas' injury didn't bother his swing. Before he left New Orleans, Freddie was poked in the left cheek by a woman's parasol, an infection developed and an operation was performed to check the poison. Beyond a big patch over the wound, he appeared none the worse for his injury.

The team arrives at Southampton, England, May 16, and will drill at Prestwick, Scotland, until the British amateur, May 23-28, at Troon. All the players will try for the British amateur title.

APPLING EXPECTS TO BE IN LINEUP AGAIN JUNE 15

Atlanta, Ga., May 10.—[Special.]—Luke Appling will leave his home here Sunday for Chicago to have the cast removed from his leg, which was broken in an exhibition game in Los Angeles on March 27. The hard hitting shortstop of the White Sox said Chicago physicians have set May 20 as the date for removing the cast.

"I believe they'll take it off the day I arrive," Appling said, "because my leg feels great."

"Naturally I'll be pretty weak for some time, but I'll be in the lineup by June 15, wait and see."

BROWN SUBMITS TO OPERATION; OUT 3 MONTHS

Clint Brown, relief pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, underwent an operation yesterday in Mercy hospital for the removal of a chipped bone in his salary arm.

"The operation was very successful," Dr. Phil Kreuscher said, "the bone chip being removed without trouble. Brown will remain in the hospital about a week and I think it will be at least three months before he will be able to start pitching again."

Barnsdall Oil.

Investors' Guide: Any data you have on the Barnsdall Oil company will be appreciated.—S. B.

Answer: The Barnsdall Oil company, formerly the Barnsdall corporation, is now primarily a producer of crude oil. The old Barnsdall corporation also engaged in refining and marketing, but these operations were placed in charge of a new concern, the Barnsdall Refining corporation, early in 1935. Barnsdall corporation's name was changed to Barnsdall Oil and a block of Barnsdall Refining common stock was distributed to Barnsdall Oil stockholders. Barnsdall Oil retained notes, income bonds, and preferred stock of the refining company.

Barnsdall Oil has made excellent progress in acquiring new producing properties since confining itself primarily to crude oil production. Most of the properties are located in Oklahoma, Texas, and California, but some are in other states, including Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia. The company's crude oil reserves are said to be in excess of 250,000,000 barrels, double the amount it had at the time producing operations were segregated from refining and marketing.

Net income in the first quarter of this year rose to $923,797, or 41 cents a share, from $591,155, or 26 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. For all of 1937, net income was $1,903,029, or 85 cents a share, compared with $2,262,545, or $1.01 a share, in 1936. Comparisons with previous years are not justified in view of the fact that until May, 1935, the unprofitable refinery and marketing operations were included.

The company had total assets of $25,091,013 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $4,911,353 and current liabilities were $3,445,393. There were 2,250,344 shares of $5 par common stock outstanding at the end of 1937. The stock pays $1 a year.

Pennsylvania 4s of 1943.

Investors' Guide: Please report on the Pennsylvania railroad consolidated mortgage gold 4s of 1943.—Mrs. C. V.

Answer: The Pennsylvania railroad consolidated mortgage gold 4s due in 1943 are secured, along with three other bond issues, by a first mortgage on 1,031 miles of important track, by second and third mortgages on smaller stretches of track, and by a lien on various leaseholds. The road has not covered interest requirements so far this year, but the bonds are still regarded as sound in view of the past earnings record of the Pennsylvania and its financial strength.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Angus Become Pets.

May 10, 1938.

THE docile pure bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle on the experimental farms have become favorite pets among the workers and visitors that make regular trips to the Du Page county and Fox river farms. There are now two herds of the black cattle, one on each farm, being used in the development of a foundation herd of mother cows.

While pure bred Angus cattle are used in the breeding herds, Herefords still are used in the feed lot at the Fox river farm. For many years the farm has followed the practice of buying Hereford feeders from the western and southwestern ranges. Men at the farm are advised by cattlemen that the Herefords are superior animals in the range country because they withstand severe weather conditions—they have the ability to hustle for their own feed, the calves wean well, the cattle herd well, and can travel long distances between grazing ground and water holes on the range.

Become Wild on Range.

Range cattle producers find that the Angus become wild on the range and their legs are too short for travel. But in the corn belt on the average farm they are frequently handled enough to become quiet, friendly animals. The ten pure bred Angus hefers bought recently from Indiana breeders already have become accustomed to their new home and their new caretakers.

Experienced breeders say that when it comes to the raising of beef cattle on farms in the central west both the Angus and Shorthorns are popular. Some farmers have found that the Shorthorn steer often gains more rapidly than the Angus in the feed lot, but the production costs are about the same. Shorthorn cows give more milk and make ideal nurse cows for their calves. The fat Angus steer is often the favorite of central market buyers and judges in the show ring.

Popularity of the Angus among show ring judges is revealed in the 1937 Review and Album of the International Live Stock exposition. Since the International was started in 1900 Augus blood has been in the veins of twenty-three of the show's thirty-six grand champions. Seven of the grand champions were from the Shorthorn breed. The 1937 International grand champion steer was a Shorthorn, Angus having won the honor the four preceding years.

Blue Gray Cattle Test.

The experimental farms got started with the Angus breed because of the blue gray beef cattle test started in 1934 when ten Aberdeen-Angus cows were crossed with a pure bred white Shorthorn bull at the Fox river farm.

"When we had finished the blue gray animal experiment we decided to raise some pure bred stock on the farm, and, having pure bred Angus cows, we naturally went into that breed," explained one of the men at the farm.

The ten original Angus females still are on the Fox river farm and are mated each year to a pure bred Angus bull. The ten hefers recently bought for the Du Page county farm are regarded as a companion herd to the black cattle on the other place.

The men find the new Angus "as gentle as dogs." The hefers are shedding their brownish winter coats and are becoming as sleek as seals. They will be mated in late summer so the calves will be born early next summer.

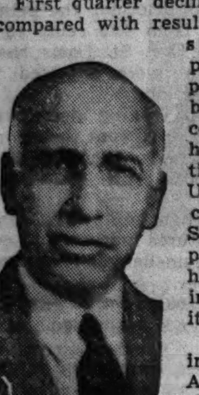
PURE OIL PROFIT DOWN $900,000 FROM YEAR AGO

Greyhound Quarter Net Also Lower.

First quarter declines in earnings, compared with results in the corresponding 1937 period, were reported yesterday by the Pure Oil company, Greyhound corporation, and the United Carbon company. The Standard Oil company of Kansas, however, had an increase in profits.



Henry M. Dawes, president of Pure Oil.

Several firms, including Bendix Aviation corporation and Auburn Automobile company showed net losses for the first three months.

Empire Gas and Fuel company, a subsidiary of Cities Service company, had a slight gain in profits for the quarter ended Feb. 28. Another Cities Service subsidiary, Cities Service Power and Light company, reported a moderate decline in the six months ended March 31.

H. M. Dawes Comments.

Henry M. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, announced that results from the first three months' operations indicated a reduction of about $900,000 from the corresponding 1937 earnings. Because Pure Oil issues no interim statements, the 1937 first quarter profit is not available, but net income for all of last year was $11,403,000.

Dawes said that "materially improved refining operations and increased production in Illinois and other fields were more than offset by the decline in product prices and the decrease in the production allowed by Texas pro-ration authorities.

He pointed out that gasoline sales in the industry this year have been about equal to those of last year, but that the volume and prices for industrial fuel oil were considerably lower.

Although gross operating revenues of the Greyhound corporation increased in the first three months, net income slipped to $185,676, or 5 cents a common share, compared with $312,512, or 11 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1937. The income figures include equity in the undistributed net income or loss of associated companies.

Depreciation Charges Higher.

C. E. Wickman, president, said net earnings of the companies before depreciation were higher in the first quarter of 1938 than for the 1937 period, but that depreciation charges had increased more rapidly than the growth of trafic.

Bendix Aviation corporation's first quarter net loss of $561,605 compared with net profit in the corresponding 1937 period of $887,020.

Auburn Automobile company had a loss of $215,381 in the quarter ended Feb. 28, compared with loss of $392,584 in the corresponding quarter of the preceding year.

Consolidated net income of Armour & Co. of Delaware, subsidiary of Armour of Illinois, amounted to $9,389,387 in the fifty-two weeks ended Jan. 1, 1938, according to a statement filed with the Securities and Exchange commission. No figure for the preceding fifty-two weeks was available, but the company's report for the fiscal year ended Oct. 30, 1937, showed net income of $12,447,019.

International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had gross earnings from telephone and radiotelephone operations, excluding Mexican and Spanish subsidiaries, amounting to $32,749,694 for 1937, compared with $26,931,704 for 1936, and net income from such operations was $8,786,818, compared with $4,999,596 in 1936.

New Directing Heads Chosen by Two Rails

Changes in the directing forces of two well known railroads were announced yesterday after annual meetings of stockholders. Col. J. Taber Loree, son of Leonor F. Loree, prominent railroad official who recently retired to private life, announced at a meeting of the Delaware and Hudson company that he would not be a candidate for reëlection either to the board of managers or as vice president.

Retirement of Col. Loree marks the end of thirty years of control of the railroad by the Loree family. The younger Loree had been associated with his father for twenty-five years and was regarded as his successor.

At the annual meeting of the Missouri Pacific in St. Louis, Mo., four directors withdrew as candidates, including two representatives of the old Van Sweringen interests. Four new directors were elected from cities along the line in conformance with the new policy of getting directors from the territory served by the road.

Nuelle Elected President.

The meeting of the Delaware and Hudson company, which controls the Delaware and Hudson railroad and the Hudson Coal company, was held in New York. E. Roland Harriman, a member of the board of managers, announced that J. H. Nuelle, at one time head of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad, has been elected president of the D. & H. to succeed the elder Loree, who resigned recently on account of ill health.

Nuelle, who is now the president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, will take his new position on May 15.

Harriman, speaking from the floor, said expenses of both the coal company and the railroad were reduced sharply last year and that they have been cut further since then. Harriman told the stockholders that the parent company had reduced its bank loans by $3,500,000 last year to $10,113,500.

New members elected to the board yesterday were Nuelle, Leamy, Thomas L. Ennis, general counsel, and William H. Davies, treasurer.

New Missouri Pacific Directors.

Four new directors elected at the annual meeting of the Missouri Pacific were: Roy M. Farrar, president of the Union National bank, Houston, Tex.; R. Ward McGill, president of the Kansas Milling company, Wichita, Kas.; Walter W. Smith, president, First National bank, St. Louis, Mo., and Harold M. Stratton, president, Stratton Grain company, Milwaukee, Wis. John Sherwin Jr. and George A. Tomlinson, both of Cleveland, O., representing former Van Sweringen interests, were not reëlected. The other two were directors who said they did not have time to attend meetings.

Elbert G. Bennett, Ogden, Utah, and Percy J. Ebbott, New York, both bankers, were elected by stockholders as directors of the Kansas City Southern railway at the annual meeting in Kansas City. William J. Sinek, Chicago, was elected to fill a vacancy.

Chicago Firm Reëlects Directors.

Stockholders of the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities company at the annual stockholders' meeting in Chicago, reëlected all directors.

Arthur Greene, president, replying to a stockholder, said that if earnings of the company are maintained he will recommend continuance of dividend payments at the present rates, but if earnings fall he would suggest that dividends be reduced. Chattel and co-maker loans receivable in April, the first month of the new fiscal year, showed an increase over March 31, he said.

Charges of mismanagement were made at the Interstate Department Stores annual meeting in New York, featuring a contest for control of the company. The attack was led by Charles Aronstam, attorney for the group led by John Stillman, former president. Special criticism was made of the contract with Regan Connally, president, which calls for an annual salary of $30,000 plus 3 per cent on the first $500,000 of profits and 5 per cent on all above that amount.

URGES BIG INSURANCE FIRMS TO ADVERTISE MORE IN NEWSPAPERS

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Clinton Davidson, vice president of Fiduciary Counsel, Inc., today told a luncheon of life insurance supervisors of New York City that big insurance companies could make more money by placing institutional advertising in newspapers rather than magazines. He said:

"Newspaper advertising, when done on a national scale, enables the life insurance agent to make more money than is possible through magazine advertising," he said. "By advertising in newspapers, the life insurance companies can fit their copy to the specific locality and to the pocketbooks of the prospects living in those communities.

"We believe that the life insurance companies have already convinced the American people [in magazine advertisments] that life insurance is a good thing to own. They need to be told in their daily newspapers just how much life insurance will produce various amounts of income for life. Start doing a selling job now on your directorates. They have plowed the fields long enough with magazine copy. It's time to plant the seed in newspapers."

U. S. CONSIDERS VAST NETWORK IN TVA REGION

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—The federal government, through the Tennessee Valley Authority, has under consideration the laying of groundwork for the creation of a vast publicly owned and operated electric power distribution network encompassing the entire state of Tennessee and sizable parts of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and North Carolina, it was learned today.

A reshaping of the administration's power policy through purchase by the TVA, either directly or for municipalities, of the private utilities operating within these areas is projected, thus affording the possibility of a "truce" in the deadlocked utility-TVA controversy by confining federal competition to a specified area.

Active behind-the-scenes discussions have been in progress for several weeks between leading TVA and government officials and the management of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, holding company of the utility properties involved.

C. & O. MEETING BLOCKED; YOUNG LACKS QUORUM

Richmond, Va., May 10.—(AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio railway management, backed by Robert R. Young, failed today to muster a quorum of common stock holders for election of a board of directors and adjourned the meeting until May 19.

Young, owner of the controlling interest in Alleghany corporation, top C. & O. holding company, charged after the meeting that if Earle Bailie, Wall street banker who solicited proxies in opposition to Young, "had brought in the stock we would have elected the directors and gone about our business."

Bailie and fellow members of the "independent stockholders' committee," which is supported by the Guaranty Trust company, J. P. Morgan & Co., and other New York banking interests, did not present proxies they had obtained, but did file revocations of proxies previously given the management committee.

Raise Belgian Bank Rate as Capital Flees

The National Bank of Belgium yesterday increased its discount rate from 2 to 4 per cent in an attempt to halt the outflow of capital caused by turmoil over the new Belgian budget and by uncertainties over the effect on Belgium of the devaluation of the French franc last week.

The Belgian belga gained moderately in foreign exchange dealings after announcement of the new rate and the discount on belgas for future delivery narrowed. Hope was expressed by foreign exchange dealers that action of the bank might prevent devaluation of the belga.

Fear French Competition.

After devaluation of the French franc the fear was expressed in Belgium that industries of that country might face severe competition in the home market from a flood of French goods. Imports from France would be encouraged, it was pointed out, by the cheapening of the French franc, which made French goods cheaper in terms of Belgian money than before devaluation.

In New York the belga closed at 16.83 cents, up 0.01 of a cent. The discount on 30 day belga contracts decreased to 0.64 of a cent from 0.80 of a cent Monday. On 90 day contracts the discount narrowed to 0.88 of a cent from 1.10 cents Monday.

Currency Under Pressure.

Since devaluation of the French franc to 2.79 cents last week, the belga has been under heavy selling pressure in all world markets. Vigorous action of the control fund has prevented a drastic break in the spot belga, the unit used for immediate payment of obligations, but forward rates have declined sharply.

The new 4 per cent rate of the Bank of Belgium is the highest for any European nation having free exchange. The Bank of England has a 2 per cent rate, the Bank of France a 3 per cent rate, the Bank of Switzerland a 1½ per cent rate, and the Netherlands Central Bank a 2 per cent rate. Germany, not on a free exchange basis, has a 4 per cent rate.

Value of Dollar Rises.

The dollar was a shade higher in terms of several other leading European currencies. The British pound closed ¼ of a cent lower at $4.97⅝, the Netherlands guilder 0.02 of a cent lower at 55.35 cents, and the Swiss franc 0.03 of a cent lower at 22.84 cents. The French franc closed unchanged at 2.80 cents.

Foreign exchange dealers reported that repatriation of French capital continued heavy. Stabilization funds operated actively to prevent dislocations caused by movement of money toward France.

Gold imports by the United States during April totaled $71,236,453, compared with $52,947,452 in March and $215,824,506 in April, 1937, the commerce department reported. Gold exports during April were $145,053, compared with $20,065 in March and $13,441 in April, 1937.

April silver imports totaled $15,756,911, against $14,440,409 in March. April exports were $250,052, compared with $190,880 in March.

Bankers' Acceptances Hit New Low as April Ends

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Bankers' acceptances outstanding at the end of April totaled $278,707,940, a new record low, and a decrease of $14,034,375 during April and $116,323,339 below the end of April, 1937.

EXPECT WINTER WHEAT CROP TO BE SECOND BEST

Report Expects 754 Million Bushels.

A winter wheat crop of 754,153,000 bushels, the second largest on record, was in prospect on May 1, according to a department of agriculture crop estimate made public yesterday afternoon. A crop of 825,000,000 bushels was harvested in 1931.

The department added, however, that weather conditions during the next 30 days might change prospects.

"Present surface soil moisture conditions are favorable," the report said, "but extensive measurements indicate a lack of subsoil moisture over a considerable portion of the western great plains area and emphasize the dependence of the crop in these areas upon favorable weather conditions during the next 30 days.

More Moisture Needed.

"The favorable season to date has produced a rank plant development quite generally over the country. Consequently, more moisture than usual will be necessary to mature the crop and the danger of loss from lodging is enhanced."

The official report, which forecast a crop approximately 10,000,000 bushels in excess of the estimates made by Chicago statisticians last week compared with 685,000,000 bushels harvested in 1937 and a 1927-'36 average yield of 546,396,000 bushels.

The indicated yield of winter wheat per acre was estimated at 14.9 bushels, against 14.6 bushels in 1937 and a ten year average of 14.5 bushels. Only 11.6 per cent of the 57,316,000 acres of wheat seeded last fall were abandoned, leaving 50,677,000 acres for harvest and establishing a new record.

Abandoned Acreage Small.

The area abandoned last winter was smallest since 1930-'31, when it was 2,193,000 acres, with 43,332,000 acres harvested.

Utility Holding Firms Create Board to Co-operate with SEC

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—The hostility which clouded early discussions between the Securities and Exchange commission and utility executives on interpretation and administration of the holding company act lifted further today when fourteen utility companies announced formation of a five man committee to conduct future negotiations and expressed willingness to coöperate with the SEC.

James F. Fogarty.

Selection of the negotiating group was revealed in a letter to SEC Chairman William O. Douglas, signed by C. E. Groesbeck, chairman of Electric Bond and Share company, and J. F. Fogarty, president of the North American company.

P. L. Smith on Committee.

The announcement said that as a result of conferences held with the commission in Washington April 20, the utility companies held a meeting. At this meeting, said Groesbeck and Fogarty, as signers of the letter, "we repeated to the executives the desire of the commission to work with the holding companies.

"These executives," the letter continues, "expressed their readiness to review the situation in coöperation with the commission to ascertain to what extent further geographic integration may be effected with advantages to the public and with proper protection for capital now invested in and hereafter required to be raised by the holding companies and their subsidiaries.

"In this connection these executives also expressed their belief that the fundamental principle of diversity of investment, which is represented here by both geographic location of operating properties and character of business served by them, is a very important factor in the raising of additional capital and that such principle should be preserved in the public interest."

Companies Represented.

Represented at the meeting were the American Gas and Electric company, American Water Works and Electric company, Associated Gas and Electric company, Cities Service Power and Light company, Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, Electric Bond and Share company, Engineering Public Service company, Middle West corporation, New England Power association, North American company, Standard Gas and Electric company, United Gas Improvement company, and United Light and Power company.

Shortly after the creation of the new committee had been announced it was said that Douglas conferred with Groesbeck this afternoon, presumably to arrange for future meetings.

LUDLUM STEEL AND ALLEGHENY SEEK MERGER

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 10.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Allegheny Steel company and the Ludlum Steel company soon will be called upon to vote approval of a merger of the two companies, it was learned today.

Active negotiations for consolidation are under way and, while details have not been ironed out, discussions have passed the preliminary stage.

WIDER TREASURY POWERS FAVORED BY SENATE GROUP

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—The senate finance committee approved today a bill which would give the treasury more latitude in financing through long-term bonds instead of treasury bills.

The effect of the legislation would be to remove the $25,000,000,000 restriction on the amount of bonds which may be issued under a total debt limitation of $45,000,000,000. In the past, short-time obligations have made up the remainder of the debt, totaling more than $35,000,000,000.

BROKERS GAIN FAIRER DEAL ON N. Y. EXCHANGE

Freed from Control by Professionals.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Election by the members of the New York Stock exchange of a new management consisting of so-called "progressives" is expected to mark a definite turning point in the affairs of that market. For the first time in many years the exchange will be freed from the domination by professional traders.

The new board of governors represents largely the commission houses, whose partners have long been dissatisfied with the way things have been run on the "big board." This dissatisfaction goes back many years. It has not been the result of the conviction of Richard Whitney, five times president of the exchange, although the Whitney scandal helped point up the issue and made the election a cinch for the discontented groups.

Irked by Professionals.

For years the commission men have felt that the whole brokerage and stock trading business was suffering needlessly from the odium resulting from the indiscretions of the professional trading element.

The commission houses derive their revenues from the commissions they receive for handling purchases and sales of stock for their customers. They are interested primarily in the maintenance of a fair and liquid market. Professional traders seek to profit from the ups and downs of stock prices.

The brokerage house partners have been convinced that a market run by Jewel Food Stores are clean and white—inside and out—every day.

If you are one of those hurried people who eat breakfast with a watch in one hand and a glass of orange juice in the other, slow down. It would be presumptuous to advise you how to run your business or regulate your life, but it doesn't seem so to suggest that you lengthen that life.

In these days of rush and hurry and excitement much has to be crowded into every working day. Sometimes too much—and yet it's hard to find the time to do the things that need to be done. Nature stands abuse but eventually revolts, and sometimes that revolt is insidious and unnoticed. It takes the form of jangled nerves, irritation, irregular heart action, and others even more important than their symptoms.

Slow down. Take a little more time over the breakfast coffee. Start the day with a bit of relaxation instead of a mounting internal pressure. Start the day in the enjoyment of your family and your food and the tension during the rest of the day will be reduced.

If you take more time to eat you will do more work and better work, and live longer to do it. You will also discover the wide variety and assortment of healthful and enticing foods available to you and yours in perfect condition and at modest prices. We at Jewel would be glad to be of service to you in providing those foods which would induce you to linger a bit longer in the enjoyment of the time you give to eating.

You will never know how good Royal Jewel Coffee really is until you use it.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Stock prices closed irregularly lower today when profit taking operations, apparently based on Monday's upswing, sapped the market's early strength. Net changes were modest, however, with favorite issues the chief losers. Volume was 1,044,140 shares, compared with 1,018,150 Monday.

It was considered notable that trading contracted on the setback, with most of the business taking place when prices were on the upgrade. This was particularly true in the first hour, when a flurry of buying delayed the tape.

Utility shares continued active, with North American, Electric Power and Light, and Consolidated Edison making the most frequent appearances. These shares kept their losses to within 1 point.

Industrial leaders moved cautiously. United States Rubber was the most active issue of the day and closed fractionally higher. Other rubbers were mixed. Aviation issues ruled firm for a time, but slipped at the close, with North American Aviation, United Air Lines, and Douglas showing the way. Losses in these three were fractional, while Boeing dropped 1¼ points in smaller volume.

United States Steel common was 1½ points lower in fairly active trading, while Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown dropped fractions to one point. Chrysler was actively supplied in the motors, losing 1⅜ points, with General Motors not far behind.

Oil stocks lost up to 1⅜ points, this decline accruing to Texas corporation.

Merchandising issues were fractionally lower for the most part, although Sears, Roebuck had a loss of 1⅜ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The bond market continued to advance in lively trading today. All sections of the corporate list joined in the rise, but conspicuously out in front were New York City Transit issues and railroad liens.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 4½s closed at 51⅝, up 3⅝, and Interborough Rapid Transit 6s at 18, up 1½. Prospects of unification of Metropolitan subway lines influenced this group.

Leaders in the rail list included New York Central 5s at 56½, up 1½, and Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 at 38½, up 1¾. Some rail issues fell back, however, including Erie 5s of '75 at 13¾, off 1¼.

United States government issues were mostly buoyant, with treasury issues 9-32ds of a point higher to 4-32ds lower.

Chicago Stocks.

Volume leaders, including several utility issues, moved lower on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday. The list as a whole was irregular, with 32 advances, 21 declines and 20 stocks unchanged of the 73 issues traded. The Tribune average of 20 stocks closed yesterday at 8.87, off 0.11.

Yesterday's most active issue, Middle West, slipped ½ to 6¼ on sales of 3,550 shares. Commonwealth Edison, with 3,100 shares traded, dropped ¾, closing at 26¾, and Central and South West finished off ⅛ at 1⅞.

Marshall Field lost ¼ to close at 8 and Borg-Warner was down ⅜ to 21⅝. Compressed Industrial Gases spurted 1⅝ points to 15.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois National bank stock advanced $1.50 a share yesterday to $62.50 bid, $64.50 asked. City National eased $1 to $127 bid, $130 asked. Other loop bank stocks were unchanged from Monday. Chicago Title and Trust company stock declined $1 to $127 bid, $130 asked.

COTTON

Cotton futures prices moved within a limited range of about .05 cent a pound in quiet trading yesterday. A modest advance was made early, in sympathy with Liverpool and in the absence of pressure from abroad. Late in the session the market eased with securities. Closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were unchanged to .04 cent higher and other American markets were .04 cent lower to .03 cent a pound higher. May cotton in New York showed the most weakness because of liquidation by scattered longs.

Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New Orleans, 8.85 cents; New York, 8.65 cents; Houston, 8.55 cents, and Galveston, 8.50 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Bank Examinations.

National banks are subject to examination by three different agencies, the controler of currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and the federal reserve system. All national banks are members of the deposit and reserve systems.

State banks that are members of the insurance and reserve systems also are subject to their examinations as well as that of the state authorities.

Examination by the controler's office is the most comprehensive received by the national banks. This examination also frequently serves for the FDIC and the reserve system, although they may make their own check.

The examiner for the controler's office is interested simply in determining the soundness and liquidity of a bank's loans and investments. The deposit corporation's interest is basically the same, that of protecting depositors and itself against loss. The reserve system is concerned with the broader problem of credit and related matters which may make the viewpoint of its examiners different from that of the controler's office and the deposit corporation.

SEC Charges Reorganization Abuses; Backs Licensing Bill

Wasington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission suggested to congress today that a federal licensing law for corporations would be one effective way of attacking what it described as abuses in voluntary corporate reorganizations and readjustments.

The suggestion was contained in the seventh of eight reports the commission is making on protective and reorganization committees.

As an alternative to licensing, the committee suggested use of the federal taxing power as a means of ending alleged abuses arising from "the migration of corporations to states whose corporation statutes are noteworthy for their liberality to corporate organizers and their disregard of the interests of security holders."

Backs Borah Bill.

Commissioner Jerome Frank, explaining the report at a press conference, said many provisions of the pending Borah-O'Mahoney licensing bill would remedy conditions which the commission criticized.

Under the bill, corporations could not do business in interstate commerce without a license, and the license would be conditioned on observance of federal standards. Frank also spoke well of the Lea bill, another pending measure.

The commission recommended legislation to require "full disclosure in the case of substantially all plans of reorganization, or readjustments, effected without resort to judicial proceedings," and also legislation limiting the right of management to solicit proxies to those cases in which the interests of management "do not conflict with those of the investors."

"Conflict of Interests."

Frank declared the report stressed the conflict of interests between management, stockholders, creditors, and other groups involved in involuntary corporation reorganizations, mergers, consolidations, and sales of corporate assets."

The stragetic position of management in reorganization, he said, means that when a conflict of interests exists, the interest of management prevail.

The report, discussing state control of corporations, said many states engaged in "charter mongering" because of the laxity of their laws. Frank said that he thought Delaware and Maryland could be closed among such states.

Had No Love for Whitney.

Although most of the commission house partners, particularly west of the Alleghanies, had no great love for Richard Whitney, either during his five year tenure of office as president or afterward, none of them appears to have suspected that Whitney was guilty of actual theft. As soon as the Whitney disclosures were made the probability of a thorough housecleaning on the New York Stock exchange became a certainty.

The bitterness of feeling that existed between Whitney and some of the commission house men, even prior to Whitney's defalcation, was brought out recently in the testimony before the Securities and Exchange commission by Bernard E. Smith, partner of the firm of Thomson & McKinnon. Smith testified that Whitney approached him about a week before the Whitney firm failed and asked for a $250,000 loan "on his face." Smith said he replied that he didn't like Whitney's face and that he wouldn't lend him a dime.

More Coöperation Expected.

Because representatives of the groups who won Monday's election have been coöperating rather freely with the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington the bitterness that has long existed between the SEC and the management of the exchange is expected to be softened a good deal.

The new officers are not "progressive" in a political sense, but the group they represent has shown a desire to collaborate with the SEC rather than fight it on every issue, apparently in the belief that there is more to be gained by compromise than by battle.

With the new management in office the relations between the SEC and the New York exchange are expected to be similar to the relations that have existed for the last two years between the Chicago Stock exchange and the SEC.

OUT OF TOWNERS TOP VOTE

New York, May 10.—(AP)—One of the important items of stock exchange reform at stake in Monday's election—representation for out of town firms—received sweeping indorsement as New England and western men monopolized top vote totals, a tabulation of ballots today showed.

The election was to choose 27 members of the new board of governors created by a change in the exchange's constitution, and for the first time to elect a chairman of the board of governors, a newly created post. The tabulation showed Richard Pigeon, of Estabrook & Co., Boston, was high man, getting 922 of the 924 ballots cast.

Paul H. Davis Gets 921.

William McChesney Martin Jr., who was elected chairman of the board and who is a member of the St. Louis firm of A. G. Edwards & Sons, received 913 votes, running 5th on the ticket.

William Cavalier of Wm. Cavalier & Co., San Francisco, was well up with the leaders, with 911 votes.

Far down the list stood Paul Shields, of Shields & Co., and Sidney Weinberg of Goldman Sachs & Co., both New Yorkers and both active in fomenting the revolt against the so-called "old guard."

RISE IN APRIL STORE SALES IS BELOW NORMAL

Department store sales in the United States in April showed less than normal seasonal increase the federal reserve board's monthly report based on 559 stores in 269 cities showed yesterday. The board's seasonally adjusted index slipped in April to 83 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, compared with 85 per cent in March.

Declines of 3 per cent in April and 8 per cent for the first four months, compared with corresponding 1937 sales, were shown for the whole country. The report said the smaller drop in April than in the four months reflected the change in Easter business, which came in April this year and in March in 1937.

In the Chicago [seventh] district April sales were down 13 per cent from a year ago. The Chicago district includes all of Iowa, southern and central Wisconsin, the northern and central areas of Illinois and Indiana, and most of Michigan, including the Detroit area.

UTILITIES POWER TO DROP CLARKE AS A DIRECTOR

Subsidiary Trustees Get Voting Power.

Harley L. Clarke will be dropped from the board of directors of the Utilities Power and Light corporation as the result of orders issued yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly, authorizing the trustees of two subsidiaries to vote stock they control at the long deferred 1937 annual meeting of the parent company which will be held Thursday at Richmond, Va.

Harley L. Clarke.

Clarke, former president of Utilities Power, built the company into a $400,000,000 holding company. Charles True Adams, trustee for the company, which now is being reorganized under Section 77 B of the amended bankruptcy act, recently placed a valuation of between $49,000,000 and $58,000,000 on the company.

Trustee Gets Authorization.

In one order Judge Holly authorized Frederick Marx, trustee for the Webster Securities corporation, to vote the 182,001 shares of Utilities Power & Light Class B stock held by Webster in favor of a new board of directors.

In the other order Judge Holly authorized Charles A. McDonald and Irwin T. Gilruth, trustees for the Public Utilities Securities corporation, to vote the 500,000 shares of class C stock which this subsidiary holds.

As the two subsidiaries control 54 per cent of the Class B stock of the parent company, election of the new directors is practically assured.

The New Directors.

The new directors will be A. L. Jackson, Phillips B. Shaw, and Henry E. Stix, all of New York, Morris E. Feiwell, Chicago attorney, and the three subsidiary trustees, Marx, McDonald, and Gilruth.

Other directors expected to be elected at the meeting include: Harry Reid and George H. Knutson, New York, representing the class A stock, and Austin Gardner and M. L. Sindeband, representing the preferred stockholders.

R. R. Monroe, formerly executive vice president of the parent company and now assistant to the trustee, will not be re-elected as a director.

TWO MYSTERIES: MILLIONS IN GOLD GO 'WRONG' WAY

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Two mysterious gold movements were reported today. From Canada came word that $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 of the metal had been received and stored in the vaults of the Bank of Canada. In as much as Canada normally exports gold, the movement appeared odd. The purpose was kept secret, but it was suggested here that perhaps Britain had decided to store up some gold in Canada, where it would be out of the way of air raids in case of war, and presumably, handy for financing purchases of war materials in the United States.

Another shipment, consisting of forty-five cases, estimated at $3,150,000, came into port here from Sweden—of all places—consigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This shipment was not officially reported and will not affect the monetary gold stocks. Just why Sweden, whose currency is linked to sterling, should send gold here was another mystery.

REFINER CUTS PRICES OF FUEL AND DIESEL OIL

Reductions in fuel and Diesel oil prices were made yesterday by the Standard Oil Company of California, and a cut in crude oil prices was announced by a small Kansas refiner.

Standard of California, in announcing a cut of 10 cents a barrel in fuel and Diesel oils to 90 cents and $1.55 a barrel, respectively, said "these reductions reflect the very serious situation which exists in California owing to production of crude oil far in excess of market demands."

Kanotex Refining company, Arkansas City, Kas., reduced crude oil 25 cents a barrel in Kansas and Oklahoma, effective yesterday.

BRITISH WORKERS' PAY LEVEL RISES 4% IN LAST YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 10.—There was a marked rise in the general level of wage rates during 1937 in Great Britain, statistics just issued tend to show. The number of workers whose rates of pay were increased, and the total amount of the increases were greater than in any year since 1920.

In all industries, including agriculture, for which information is available, the average level of weekly fulltime rates of wages is estimated to have risen during 1937 by more than 4 per cent.

Jewel Tea Sales Volume Holding Above 1937 Figure

The Jewel Tea company yesterday reported continuation of its 1938 gain in volume in the four weeks ended April 23. Sales for the four weeks were $1,824,511, an increase of 2.62 per cent over the figure of $1,777,991 in the corresponding period last year. Sales in the first sixteen weeks of 1938 were $7,319,659, a gain of 5.16 per cent from $6,960,386 in the corresponding part of 1937.

SECOND LARGEST CROP OF WINTER WHEAT FORECAST

Federal Report Estimates 754 Million Bushels.

said the report, were largely responsible for the increase of 28,000,000 bushels in the estimated wheat crop between April 1 and the May 1 returns. Any losses sustained by the severe cold wave early in April in Texas and Oklahoma were more than offset by improvement in other leading states.

A rye crop of 51,755,000 bushels was forecast by the department as the result of its May 1 investigation. This compared with recent private returns averaging 44,000,000 bushels, and with 49,449,000 bushels harvested in 1937 and a 1927-'36 average of 36,454,000 bushels.

Condition of hay lands on May 1 was 84 per cent of normal, or 11 per cent better than a year ago, and 5 per cent higher than the ten year average.

CANADIAN ACREAGE LESS

The Canadian spring wheat acreage to be seeded this year is estimated by the dominion bureau of statistics at 24,106,000 acres, compared with 24,851,000 acres sown in 1937, and 26,646,000 acres in the peak year of 1932. Small reductions are expected in the area seeded to oats and barley.

About 613,000 acres of winter wheat remain for harvest in Ontario, or 106,000 acres less than in 1937. The condition on April 30 of 94 per cent of the long time average is the same as a year ago. The area of winter rye remaining for harvest is 485,000 acres, compared with 700,000 acres last year.

WHEAT FUTURES EASE

Evening up operations for the department of agriculture crop report, which was made public after the close of the grain markets, furnished the bulk of the trading in wheat futures yesterday.

Prices fluctuated in an erratic manner within a range of about 1 cent, advancing moderately early on short covering, but weakening late in the session when speculators started to liquidate their holdings in expectation that the government report would forecast a large winter wheat crop.

Closing trades on wheat were at the low point of the day with net losses of ⅜ to ¾ cent.

Price changes in corn, oats, and rye were largely confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel. Soy beans closed ⅜ to 2 cents lower, the latter on the July delivery.

Corn futures held within a range of ¼ cent a bushel. Hedging sales were relatively small, but this was offset by a lack of export demand.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

New 1938 lows were established in the market for best grades of hogs yesterday. Top sales were off 5 cents, at $8.05, only 20 cents above the lowest since November, 1934. Some medium weights also reached new lows for the year, but all "lard hogs" still are above the bottom of the January trade for such kinds.

Prices for the day average $7.80, or 5 cents under the preceding session and lowest since the middle of January.

Further declines swept the markets for ovine stock. Old sheep dropped to a new low for the season, selling off 15 to 25 cents for the day, and lambs ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

Declines in the cattle alleys were confined mostly to the better grades of steers and yearlings. Cheaper grades of steers selling downward from $8.25, as well as most cows and hefers, went at steady rates, and some were a little stronger.

INVESTING COMPANY OF DAWES FAMILY WILL BE DISSOLVED

Stockholders of Dawes Brothers, Inc., investment company controled by members of the Dawes family, at a meeting in Portland, Me., yesterday formally approved dissolution of the company. None of the Dawes brothers, Gen. Charles Gates, Rufus C., Henry M., and Beman, was at the meeting. H. M. Soper, assistant treasurer, attended to take care of the formalities.

The plan provides for a pro rata distribution of the assets of the company among the stockholders.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of the company, in announcing the plan to dissolve the company last April, said the action was being taken because of the uncertainty "in the investment business and the cost of remaining in it."

A NEW PROCESS DEVELOPED BY COMMUNITY MOTORS

Community Motors has developed a new process for reconditioning cars that is so new—so different—so changed as to revolutionize this industry.

No matter what your previous idea may have been about how a used car should look and run, you have a surprise in store for you when you see a "COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" car.

Space does not permit us to describe this new process to you, but one look at a "COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" car will tell you the complete story.

Before you buy any car, by all means see a "COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" car, as they cost no more and sometimes less than average automobiles.
